Farm Show 2001: Ag Equipment, Breakfast Sandwiches, The Works

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — About 4,000 head of cows, sheep, swine, horses, beef, goats, and rabbits are entered in competition for this year's Farm Show, which features a little of the return to the "good old days."

Remember when Farm Show was the state's premier winter ag equipment showcase event?

This time, the annual gala agribusiness show will include a new farm equipment display in the main exhibit hall in the Farm Show Complex.

Each day of the show, morning and afternoon, the display, sponsored by the major farm equipment manufacturers, will be managed by FFA chapters.

Dennis Grumbine, executive director of the Farm Show, said, "The Farm Show represents the best of Pennsylvania agriculture, and serves as a true showcase of the state's largest industry as well as a place for farmers to purchase their agriculture needs. In addition, the general public gets to experience agriculture hands-on."

FFA members will be on hand in the display area to give equipment presentations and help sales representatives answer questions.

The display will be featured right in the middle of the main exhibition area (see map pages 24-33 of the Special Show Section 1 this issue).

Another first this year will be a breakfast served by the PennAg Poultry Council. While traditionally the Food Court has served luncheon and supper items, this time an egg breakfast sandwich could signal the start of something new.

According to Jim Shirk, PennAg Poultry Council assistant vice president, sandwiches will be served from Saturday through Thursday, 6:30 a.m.-9 a.m., at the poultry stand.

The sandwiches will be egg, cheese, and Canadian bacon; egg, cheese, and sausage; or simply egg and cheese. All are on French toast bread, he said.

The sandwiches will be available for $2 a piece.

The poultry industry stand serves about 20 tons of poultry products during Farm Show week, Shirk noted. They also feature red beet eggs and hard-cooked eggs.

The stand generates about $25,000 during the week, about $5,000 of which is donated to the Pennsylvania FFA Association.

Brenden, Aaron, Brad, and Audrey join Myra, a Farm Show veteran. The Holstein will return this year to compete as a 4-year-old. Last year Brad, 16, and Aaron, 14, spent the full week with their three animals at the show. This year Brenden, 12, will bring his 4-H heifer to compete. See story page B2. Photo by Michelle Ranck

Dedication, Persistence Part Of Farm Show Preparation

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — "It's almost like a sport. When we were younger we did everything — we had animals and did sports — and we got to the time in our lives when we had to decide what we wanted to focus on. This is what we really loved to do," said show ring veteran Joseph Tice, Lebanon.

Tice, 18, and his brother Nate, 16, have dedicated much of their time and focus towards the show ring, and are looking forward to the upcoming competition at Pennsylvania's Farm Show.

The brothers help parents Tom and Debbie Tice operate their veal farm. Veal calves are not the only livestock housed on the farm, however. Hogs, sheep, and a cow-calf herd round out the 30-acre farm.

Joseph, who works on the home farm and buys and sells calves, is looking forward to owning his own veal farm in the future.

The Tices own 10 crossbred, Shorthorn, and Angus cows which they use for breeding their show calves. The family's club lambs come from their 15 crossbred ewes, and six sows produce the homebred litters that are finished out for the fair and Farm Show season.

4-H and FFA involvement launched the brothers' breeding program for show animals.

Nate, a sophomore at Northern Lebanon High School, especially enjoys the challenge of preparing the beef animals for the show ring. "If you're going to win, it takes a lot of dedication," he said. "If you don't do that, you're not even in the hunt."

'A lot of dedication' for Nate means feeding, rinsing and blow drying six animals almost every day. "I usually come home from school and start rinsing and blowing. Then I come in, eat supper, and go back out until 7:30 or 8," he said. "It takes an QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Tobacco growers may have something to smile about — if they don't mind growing a genetically modified tobacco under contract.

A company, Vector Tobacco USA Ltd., from Durham, N.C. conducted a meeting Wednesday evening at the Quarryville Fairgrounds to see how many growers would be interested in growing a genetically modified tobacco.

The company plans to sign up farmers to grow tobacco for specially marketed cigarettes.

The tobacco plant has been modified genetically with an extremely low level of nicotine, according to Rick Coyte, vice president of leaf production for Vector.

"We're looking at various possibilities," said Coyte, who was contacted at a hotel near Lancaster. This week, Coyte and Tim Jackson were trying to line

CATTLE: Compared to last week's closing prices, slaughter steers sold steady to firm. Early in the week the steer market showed signs of weakness but improved by late in the week with several lots of well-finished cattle on offer. This week's receipts were light due to the holiday. Bad weather in the Plains and the Midwest cause delays in the feedlot trade. Cattle traded steady at 76.00-77.00 live last Friday, and 1.00 higher at 121.00-123.00 dressed Thursday. Holstein steers and slaughter heifers traded mostly steady on a light supply. Demand for slaughter cows continue to be very good, trading 1.00-2.00 higher for the week. Slaughter bulls sold 2.00-3.00 higher from last week's closing prices. Supply included 34 percent slaughter steers, 6 percent slaughter heifers, 49 percent cows, 3 percent bulls, with the balance feeders.

CORRECTION

NATIONAL EGG MARKET - AT A GLANCE

In the Eastern region, prices were mostly unchanged to sharply lower. However, in Florida, prices were higher when based on previous week's averages. Elsewhere, prices were unchanged. The market tone was mixed in a full range of steady to weak. Demand varied from area to area, but was mostly moderate to good overall. Supplies of all sizes were adequate to barely adequate. Breaking stock offerings were at least adequate to adequate and demand was light to moderate. Light type hens were sufficient for reduced slaughter requirements.

Delmarva Broiler/Fryer

ATLANTA, GA.
Report Supplied By USDA

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was about moderate and was sufficient in keeping offerings in good balance to well cleared. Plants closing for the holiday and adverse weather conditions in terminal markets had disrupted shipping schedules. Live supplies were moderate; weights were mostly desireable. Processing schedules were moderate to moderately heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were 1 cent higher at 51 to 65 cents. Trade sentiment was fully steady to firm. Parts, both cuts and volumes available varied from closely cleared to fully adequate. ACTUAL SLAUGHTER WEEK ENDING 1⅓0/2000 WAS 9,690,725 4.96 LBS.

Northeast Broiler Fryer Parts Part I

ATLANTA, GA.
Report Supplied By USDA

Trucklot buying interest was mostly light to fair entering the week as dealers cautiously gauged the market and acquired little beyond normal committments. Offerings of breast items were at least adequate, and dark meat parts were more than sufficient. Wings remained the best item as strong demand kept product no more than adequate to closely cleared. Movement into retail channels was very good over the holiday weekend as winter weather spurred active consumer buying activity. The market tone was fully steady on wings, about steady on the balance.

Daily National Grain Market Summary

St. Joseph, MO
Report Supplied By USDA

Daily National Grain Market Summary

Grains bids finished lower due to lack of fresh export sales and favorable news of soybean production in South America. Wheat bids steady to 4 cents lower. Corn 4 to 6 cents lower. Sorghum 8 cents lower. Soybeans 1 to 6 cents lower.

Export inspections for last week were fair for wheat but poor for other grains and soybeans especially year to date figures. Lower soybean meal prices added weakness to bean bids.

Grains inspected for export for week ended 12/28/00: Wheat totaled 21.0, up 6.2 million bushels, corn 15.1, down 25.3, sorghum 1.0, down 3.8, and soybeans 18.9, up 500 thousand bushels compared to a week ago.

Year to Date: Wheat totaled 652.7, down 36.9, corn 616.2, down 72.8, sorghum 63.8, down 6.8, and soybeans 410.9, down 6.0. Crop marketing years begin June 1 for wheat and September 1 for corn, sorghum, and soybeans.

EXPORT SALES: PURCHASER COMMODITY TONNAGE DELIVERY DATE Nothing new to report.

THESE MAY NOT BE THE ONLY EXPORT SALES THAT HAVE TRANSPIRED, BUT THEY ARE THE ONLY SALES THAT COULD BE CONFIRMED BY USDA GRAIN MARKET NEWS.

QUICK-START

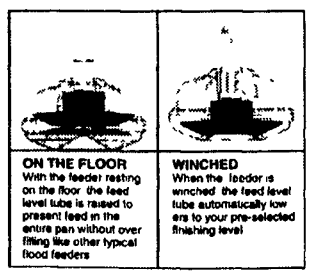
Start chicks with the feeder resting on the floor and the feed pan entirely filled The Pax QUICK-START™ pan provides easy access to plenty of fresh feed – with no accumulation of stale feed in the drop tube – attracting even the smallest chicks to begin feeding right away



ON THE FLOOR
With the feeder resting on the floor the feed level tube is raised to present feed in the entire pan without over filling like other typical flood feeders
WINCHED

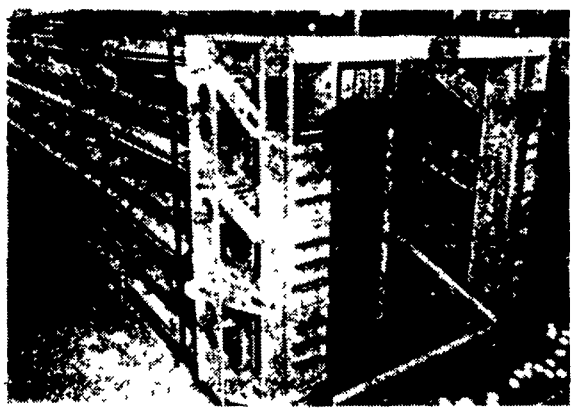
SIDE BELT MECHANICAL EGG COLLECTION SYSTEM

Mechanical Nest
- Side belt design allows front access for egg collection in the event of a power failure
- Hinged closeout lid to restrict access
- Ventilated partitions allow fresh air flow through each nest
- Anti-roost guard with folded edges on all nests

Collection Table
- Choice of 1/2 or 3/4 HP motor
- Heavy steel construction - galvanized and powder painted
- Easy-to-reach variable speed belt control
- Pinch roll drive with cast iron bearings - designed for easy maintenance and servicing



Multi-Deck
Layer Cage System
Available in 2,3,4,5,6,7 & 8 decks

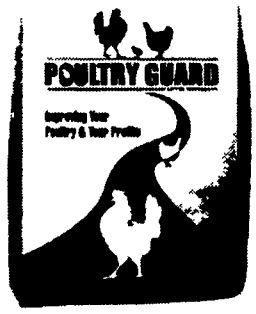
POULTRY GUARD™
LITTER AMENDMENT

New Poultry Guard™ Litter Amendment is a unique activated clay that delivers consistent ammonia control without the handling inconvenience associated with other poultry litter treatments.

Unlike these other treatments, Poultry Guard Litter Amendment is easy and convenient to apply and needs no incorporation or activation Fewer application variables mean more consistent performance In addition, Poultry Guard can be applied up to five days before bird set, whenever it's convenient for the grower



Using Poultry Guard Litter Amendment Is As Simple As...

Apply
Simply spread over poultry litter.
- No incorporation
- No moisture activation
- No complicated instructions for heating and ventilation in conjunction with application

Bird Set
Poultry Guard can be applied when it's most convenient, up to five days before bird set.
- No application timing headaches between clean out and bird set
- No last minute application after equipment has been lowered

Control Ammonia
Poultry Guard will deliver immediate and long-term ammonia control and give birds a healthier growing environment.
- No more dangerously high levels of ammonia to stunt growth

You be the judge! We are confident this litter amendment will improve your poultry and your profits.

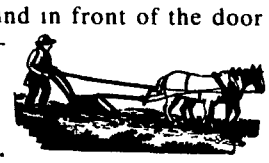
The OLD FARMER'S ALMANAC THIS WEEK WITH

JANUARY 8–14, 2001

FULL WOLF MOON, JANUARY 9

MONDAY, MONDAY

According to Scottish custom, the first Monday of the New Year was called Handsel Monday. It was a time to bestow gifts on children and servants. The handsel custom continues today in the form of presenting housewarming gifts to bring good luck to new beginnings. The second Monday of 2001, January 8, is Plough Monday, the day when the men of olden England were supposed to get back to their work. In some villages, however, the day was spent dragging a plough through town, collecting money for the "plough-light," which was kept burning in the local church; homes that refused to give alms had the ground in front of the door ploughed up. Music and dancing followed by a feast of beef and ale was traditional.



Well begun is half done.

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Store unused trash bags in the bottom of the wastebasket. When you take out the full bag, a replacement will be handy.

SESAME SCALLOPS

2 tablespoons canola or olive oil
1 garlic clove, minced
3 tablespoons julienned fresh ginger
4 scallions, julienned
1/2 red bell pepper, julienned
1 pound fresh scallops, trimmed
2 tablespoons toasted sesame seeds*
1 tablespoon sesame oil
1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley or cilantro

Heat olive oil in a skillet or wok. Stir-fry garlic, ginger, scallions, and pepper for 1 or 2 minutes, then add scallops, and heat for another minute. (*Toast sesame seeds over high heat in a dry skillet for a couple of minutes.) Add sesame oil, then toasted sesame seeds. Serve immediately, garnished with fresh parsley or cilantro.

Makes 4 servings.

OPINION

See You At The Show(s)

Can you believe it? The year 2000 is past with its Y2K anticipation and the New Year 2001 is already several days old. The coldest winter since 1989 is in progress with the last 16 days reported below normal in temperature. And we have also had snow earlier than usual. The good old days of January are back.

But when you talk about the New Year and winter weather in an editorial, you know it must be about Farm Show time.

This year we have two farm shows to attend. The showcase of agriculture with 9,000 entries in 33 departments is again scheduled in Harrisburg at the Farm Show Complex. This traditional trek to the capitol city for farmers is scheduled to run from Saturday, Jan. 6 to the following Thursday, Jan. 11. Not only do you have more than 325 commercial exhibitors and 11 commodity associations participating, you have family living, youth, and agricultural learning center exhibits. And don't forget the animals — 651 beef cattle, 529 dairy animals, 323 dairy goats, 148 horses, 800 poultry exhibits, 690 rabbits, 984 sheep, and 714 swine.

Of course, Gov. Ridge is scheduled to take his annual tour and preside over the official opening of the show on Saturday. And the youth livestock auction will again be a part of the final day's events.

The Keystone Farm Show at the York Fairgrounds runs concurrently from Tuesday, Jan. 9 to Thursday, Jan. 11. Here the farm community, as in past years, is invited to gather and view the commercial exhibits of agribusiness without the interference of the general public. While the public relations aspect from farm to consumer is missing, farmers can view the products and services of more than 300 commercial exhibitors.

This is the first year both shows run the same week. So you will need to decide which one to visit. Lancaster Farming has a booth at both of them. So either way we'll see you at the show. Or maybe you will also decide to go to both of them. In this case, we will hope to see you twice.

To Enjoy Pennsylvania Farm Show

The Farm Show opens Jan. 6 and runs to Jan. 11 at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg. The show includes commercial and educational exhibits, livestock shows, numerous family living and agricultural products, demonstrations, and many contests.

No Farm Show would be complete without a visit to the food court to taste Pennsylvania's finest food products.

While at the Farm Show, be sure to stop by at the Penn State booth located in the main exhibit hall. This year's booth will feature Ask the Experts about home horticulture, food safety, crop production, soil management, and accessing information over the Internet. Also there will be sections highlighting forest resources, integrated pest management, and West Nile Virus. Plan now to attend this year's Farm Show and enjoy all it has to offer.

To Prepare For Winter Storms

The recent winter storm warnings remind us we are now in the heart of the winter storm season.

A fast-moving winter storm may mean high winds, snow, icy precipitation, and falling trees. These conditions can cause unpredictable interruptions to your electrical service. Some precautions you should take include:

- Test your standby generator on a weekly basis. Make sure you have a full fuel source on hand.
- Keep a battery-powered radio, flashlight, and plenty of fresh batteries on hand and where you can find them in the dark.
- Avoid the use of candles. Mishandled or unattended candles could cause a fire when all public safety resources are strained.
- Fill a tub, several large bottles, or pots with water. Your water supply could stop if your home uses a well and pump. Additionally, power outages could affect municipal water treatment and pumping facilities.
- A fully loaded freezer can keep food cold for 36 to 48 hours if the door remains closed. Refrigerated foods spoil faster and may only be safe if used within a few hours. If you have any questions, call the USDA Meat and Poultry Hotline at (800) 535-4555.

To Keep Calves And Heifers Healthy

Calves and heifers experience more disease during the winter than any other time. It is important to take precautions to keep animals healthy and growing, according to Dr. Jud Heinrichs, Penn State professor of dairy science extension.

Changeable weather, cold temperatures, and dampness all conspire to make winters tough for calves. In addition, barns are closed up. With marginal ventilation, dampness, toxic gases, and disease organisms build up. All respiratory infections are reported more frequently during the winter. Diarrhea diseases also are more frequent and more severe.

Some tips to keep animals healthy are:

- Use maternity pens for calving cows only, not dry or sick cows. Do not keep cows in these pens any longer than necessary to minimize excess manure buildup. Keep the pens clean and well bedded with long stem bedding.
- Provide adequate ventilation in maternity and young stock facilities to reduce moisture and buildup of toxic gases. Avoid drafts. Ensure early, high quality colostrum intake.
- Feed three quarts of colostrum as soon as possible after birth, then feed a minimum of four quarts within the first eight hours of life.
- Plan and implement a herd vaccination program with your veterinarian. Check young stock twice daily for early signs of illness. Seek veterinary help for early diagnosis and prompt treatment of sick calves. Herd replacements are too valuable to get anything but first-rate care.

QUITTING WHILE HE'S AHEAD?

Background Scripture:
Luke 4:14-30.
Devotional Reading:
Isaiah 61.

It was a good sermon — up to a point. The preacher began with a stirring passage from Isaiah: "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, because he has anointed me to preach good news to the poor" (Isaiah 61:1,2; Lk 4:18). He excited them when he proclaimed, "Today this scripture has been fulfilled in your hearing" (4:21). Imagine that — a portion of prophecy fulfilled this very day in their presence!

Had he quit at just this point, he would have been ahead because the people in the synagogue were bowled over by this native son. They were amazed at the "gracious words which proceeded out of his mouth" and they couldn't help asking, "Is not this Joseph's son?" They did not expect to hear this from one who had originated in their midst.

But he did not stop right there and, continuing onward, he instantaneously changed their admiration to fury. One moment they were praising him; the next, they wanted to lynch him. Once that point had been reached, there was no turning back.

Hometown People

So, what was that point upon which Jesus passed from warm acclamation to harsh condemnation? It was when he made it clear that the prophecy which he was fulfilling that day was not a hometown-boy-makes-good event, but a warning that as Israelites they did not have God in their pockets. Hometown people want the hometown boy or girl to make them feel pride and gratification. But Jesus' appearance in his was not to gain personal popularity, but to proclaim the radical good news of God — "good news to the poor . . . release to the captives . . . liberty (to) those who are oppressed."

What they wanted was for him to speak of the resurgence of the throne of David, the restoration of the Kingdom of Israel, and the overthrow of their Roman occupiers. What they looked for was comfort for the middle class, not liberation for the underlings of their society. They wanted respectable words, not a call to change their world. They wanted him to remind them how special they were in God's eyes. Instead, he painfully reminded them that God's grace is with the very ones whom they regarded as their spiritual inferiors: the poor, the prisoners, and victims of oppression.

As they saw it, this was good news to the "wrong" people. But Jesus reminded them that often that's the way it is with God. In a time of famine, Elijah the prophet was sent to Zarephath, a lowly widow of Sidon. Although there were probably thousands of lepers in Israel, Elisha was sent to cleanse the leprosy of a despised foreigner, Naaman the Syrian. What Jesus said to them seemed a deliberate effort to insult them.

Fighting Words

The teachings and preachings of Jesus, however, are never intended to insult us, to stir us to anger — although that is often what happens. An old preacher once told me that, if over the years my sermons didn't upset some of my people some of the time, then I wasn't preaching the gospel of Christ all of the time. The good news is intended not to make us angry, but to make us humble.

From time to time we all need to be humbled in Christ's presence. Beholding his absolute goodness in the scriptures and in the lives of others is meant to call us to repentance and transformation.

Secular judges sometimes speak of what they will or will not "tolerate in my courtroom," and I want to remind that judge that this is not his or her courtroom, but the court of the people. Similarly, let us not speak and act positively of "my church." The church does not belong to me because I am its minister, nor to a single family who make substantial financial contributions, nor to a group of "old-timers" who grew up in it.

The church belongs to Christ, as we do, too. In fact, Christ does not belong to us; it is the other way around. He includes within his embrace lots of "others" whom we would exclude. But we cannot embrace the good news of Jesus Christ without embracing as well the poor, the captives, the sick and the oppressed. Jesus never quits when and where we think he should.

First-Time Five-Acre Corn Contest Entry Yields Top Spot

High yields of 218.3 bushels of dry shell corn per acre earned Robert More, Montgomery, a first-place spot in the 1999 Five-Acre Corn contest and second in the National Corn Grower's Association contest for Pennsylvania.

MONTGOMERY (Lycoming Co.) — For many farmers, the 1999 corn crop yields spelled disaster, but for the corn crop planted by Robert More, Montgomery, the rains came at critical times, giving him an excellent crop.

In fact, More's yields were almost twice as high as others' corn yields in surrounding areas.

His high yields of 218.3 bushels of dry shell corn per acre earned him a first-place spot in the 1999 Five-Acre Corn contest and second in the National Corn Grower's Association (NCGA) contest for Pennsylvania.

"The farmer wants to farm, but also he wants to receive a return on his investment. He's not received that for a number of years. When I look forward, I don't see anything different happening. I have a daughter and a son, and I don't see them being involved in this business."
Robert More

"When you're talking about rain showers, one area can get just a trace and another area can get a half of an inch," said More. "That half an inch at the most critical time can make considerable bushels of corn difference."

Although More has been farming for 35 years, this is the first time he entered the contest.

Currently he has slightly more than 300 acres in production, growing two-thirds corn and one-third soybeans.

"When I graduated from high school in the early 60s, my father and I worked together," More said. "At that time, we just farmed the home farm, which was about 90 acres."

NOT TOO LATE TO PLANT RYE COVER CROP

Mark Goodson
York County

I adapted the following article from "Managing Cover Crops Profitably," second edition, 1998, Sustainable Agriculture Network, Beltsville, Md.

Rye, the cool season annual cereal grain, is inexpensive and easy to establish. It is the hardiest of the cereal grains and can be planted later in the fall than other cover crops.

Benefits growers can count on from planting rye include:

- Considerable dry matter production
- An extensive soil-holding root system
- Significant reduction of nitrate leaching
- Exceptional weed suppression
- A moisture-holding snow trap over winter

Management Strategies Essential When Planting Rootworm-, Corn Borer-Resistant Varieties

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANDISVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — New transgenic corn varieties with rootworm control are available to growers on a limited basis now, and will continue to grow.

But just like varieties with the Bt gene to control European corn borer (ECB), some kind of resistance management will also have to be in place, according to a crop entomology specialist.

Dennis Calvin, Penn State entomologist, spoke about evolving strategies to deal with the new transgenic corn, some with "stackable" genes that have traits to fight corn rootworm (CRW) and ECB.

Calvin spoke to about 70 crop consultants and agriproduct representatives in mid-July during the Penn State-sponsored Field Crop Pest Management Field Day at the Landisville Research Center.

About 1 percent of the corn in the U.S. planted this year had CRW control characteristics, noted Calvin. For 2001, that number is certain to grow.

Those strategies for dealing

Agribusiness At The Farm Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co) - In what Farm Show officials are calling "a first for the industry," a special new farm equipment display will be featured at the 2,001 Pennsylvania Farm Show This display sponsored by all the major farm equipment manufacturers will be staged in the center of the main exhibit hall in the farm show complex with members of several FFA chapters on had each day to give presentations about each piece of equipment

"I am pleased to announce that all of the major farm equipment manufacturers will be represented at the 2001 Pennsylvania Farm Show," said Dennis Grumbine, executive director "The Farm Show represents the best of Pennsylvania Agriculture, and serves as a true showcase of the state's largest industry as well as a place for farmers to purchase their agriculture needs In addition, the general public gets to experience agriculture hands on."

In addition to regular exhibit space, the new special farm equipment display will feature farm machinery that is used for soil preparation, planting and seeding, grain harvesting, silage harvesting, tractors, and material handling

FFA members will be on hand at the display to give presentations about the equipment and help sales representatives answer questions about the featured equipment The participating FFA chapters are· West Snyder FFA, Newport FFA, Manheim Central FFA, Upper Dauphin FFA, Mifflinburg FFA, McConnellsburg FFA, Solanco FFA, Dover Area FFA, Greenwood FFA, Middleburg FFA, and Cumberland Valley FFA. Presentations will begin at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. each day.

The machinery dealers who are participating in this special event are Binkley & Hurst Brothers Inc , Hoober Inc., M. M Weaver & Sons, Triple H Farms, Valley Ag & Turf, and Wenger's of Myerstown.

The Pennsylvania Farm Show will be held from January 6 to 11, 2,001, with one of the largest indoor agricultural event in America. The Farm Show complex has 16 acres under roof, and more than $300,000 in premiums will be offered this year to competitive exhibits in all types of farm livestock, youth, commodity and horticulture exhibits More than 500,000 people usually attend the five-day annual event.

Agriculture Department To Sponsor Website Agriculture Exhibit

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — On behalf of Gov. Tom Ridge, Agriculture Secretary Samuel Hayes announced that the Department of Agriculture's exhibit at the 85th Pennsylvania Farm Show features a Website agriculture display to showcase how the power of the Internet can help farmers compete in the new economy of the 21st century.

"To help move Pennsylvania agriculture into the 21st century, we need to use 21st century technology," Hayes said. "The Internet is a valuable tool — as important as farm machinery and new production methods — that farmers can use to access information on a vast array of topics, ranging from animal and plant nutrition, farm finances, genetics, farm-management programs, commodity prices, and online purchases.

"We are bringing Website agriculture to our 2001 Farm Show exhibit."

Hayes said the display — at the Agriculture Department's exhibit in the Main Exhibit Hall — would enable farmers and Farm Show visitors to access agriculture-related Websites and learn more about agricultural-related information on the Internet.

Future Farmers of America members from the Solanco, Manheim Central, Upper Dauphin Area, Cumberland, West Snyder, Dover Area, Newport, Greenwood, Middleburg, and McConnellsburg chapters will be on hand each day to help visitors access the agricultural Websites.

Hayes said the Agricultural Department exhibit will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day of the Farm Show.

Lehmann Joins Association

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Chris and Sherry Lehmann of Springboro have recently joined the American International Charolais Association (AICA), the most progressive purebred beef cattle association working with commercial cattle producers, according to Dr. Bill V. Able, executive vice-president of the international organization with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo.

The AICA is the official beef cattle registry of the Charolais breed, with more than 5,500 active adult and junior members. The association maintains the pedigree, performance and carcass information on individual animals for its members.

These computerized records are used to calculate the most accurate and up-to-date EPDs to promote the use of Charolais genetics to all profit minded purebred and commercial cattle producers.

For more information about the Charolais breed, call (816) 464-5977 or visit the AICA website at www.charolaisusa.com. The AICA is the official breed registry for Charolais and Charbray cattle in the United States.

Syracuse Dairy Farmers Hold Annual Meeting

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Syracuse Dairy Farmers Cooperative recently held their annual meeting at Tassone's Restaurant in Baldwinsville, NY. Stephen Crego, president, introduced guests Leslie Ball, sanitarian for Byrne Dairy, and James Patsos, CEO of United Ag Services.

Ms. Ball discussed the upcoming USPH quality rating and the Byrne Dairy Newsletter. She was instrumental in getting the newsletter started. Future newsletters will contain information to help the dairy farmers maintain their high quality standards. There will also be a message from Bill Byrne, president of Byrne Dairy, on market conditions and outlook.

James Patsos discussed current market conditions. An oversupply of milk nationally is depressing milk prices. Fortunately, consumer demand for dairy products continues to improve each year. In the Northeast, the milk is in short supply. However, the pressure of competition from Midwest and Western manufacturers holds down the ability of Northeast manufacturers to raise prices.

At the close of the meeting, Stephen Crego of Baldwinsville was re-elected president; Duane Eibert of Marcellus, vice-president; and Paul Johnson of Baldwinsville, secretary/treasurer.

Dairy farmers that may be interested in Syracuse Dairy Farmers market should contact Stephen Crego at (315) 635-5439.

Scenic Mountain Co-op Pays Dividends

At the recent annual meeting of Scenic Mountain Milk Producers, members received their annual patronage dividend checks. LaVerne McCarty, co-op manager, stated that he was pleased with the co-op's success. For the second year in a row, they were able to return to their members patronage dividend checks that nearly equaled twice what the member paid in dues and the co-op does not require equity investment from their members.

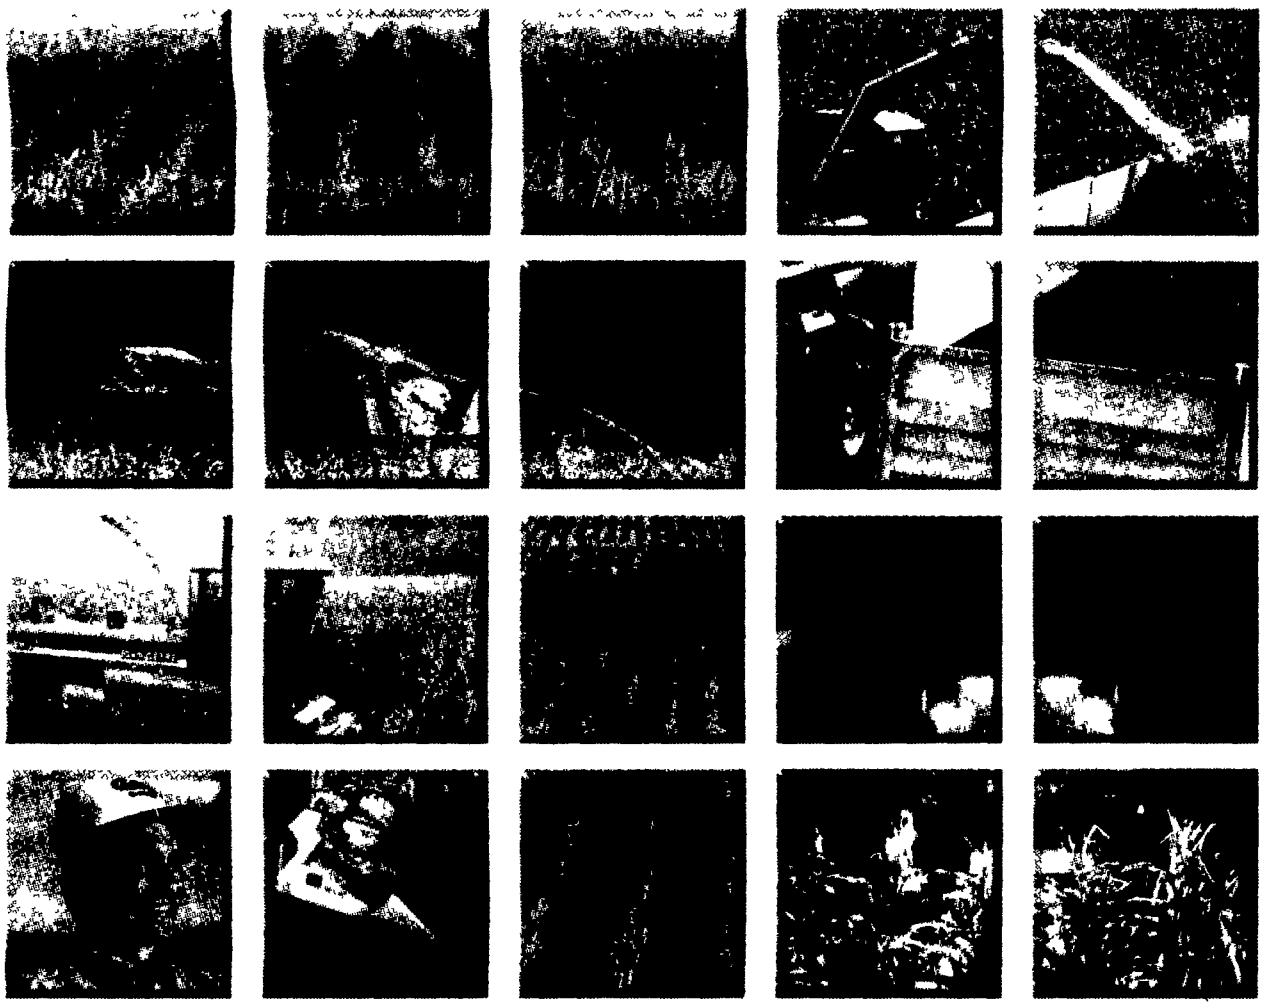
Scenic Mountain Milk Producers Cooperative members are primarily located in Sullivan and Bradford counties in Pennsylvania. Their members market their milk with the help of United Ag Services. Their members have an excellent program that improves their income above the market administrator price.

James Patsos of United Ag Services presented this year's quality awards to Duane and Betty Reibson, Forksville, and Robert and Anna Marie Cole, Ulster. Each year United Ag Services presents certificates and monetary awards to the top quality producers for the preceding year to each of its member cooperatives.

During the business meeting, officers were elected for the coming year. Steven Hovan, Rome, was elected president; Robert Cole, Ulster, vice president; and Judy Oliver, Meshoppen, secretary/treasurer. LaVerne McCarty urged the members to tell their neighbor dairy farmers about Scenic Mountain's premium program and their three times a month payment schedule. The co-op could use a few additional quality producers to meet their market demands. McCarty can be reached by calling (570) 924-4668.

Interested dairy farmers can also contact United Ag Services 1-(800)-326-4251. United Ag Services is a federation of dairy cooperatives. Their goal is to improve the dairy farmers bottom line. United provides a variety of services to dairy cooperatives and agricultural organizations, as well as individual dairy farmers. These services include marketing, accounting, and producer and employee payroll. United is located at 12 North Park Street, Seneca Falls, NY 13148.

Excellent quality plus high tonnage.



Quality is every bit as important as quantity when you're making silage. That's why so many livestock operations count on Garst® 24X hybrid corn. Its big, blocky ears offer the tonnage you need for silage, and its high grain protein content delivers the quality. For high performance that meets your toughest standards, it's gotta be Garst/AgriPro®! Ask about these other excellent corn forage hybrids, too: 8362, 8222IT and 9829IT.

Farm Bureau Members To Gather In Orlando

PARK RIDGE, Ill. — An expected 5,000 Farm Bureau members from across the nation soon will be converging on Orlando, Fla., for the American Farm Bureau Federation's (AFBF) 82nd convention and annual meeting, Jan. 7-10.

During the meeting, farmers and ranchers from the 50 states and Puerto Rico will discuss agricultural issues, review the latest equipment exhibits, choose leaders, and set policies to guide AFBF throughout 2001.

Highlights include AFBF President Bob Stallman's address to assembled Farm Bureau members during Monday's (Jan. 8) general session. The speech will mark the Texas rice and cattle producer's first AFBF annual meeting address to members since his election as AFBF president last year.

In line with this year's convention theme, "Farm Bureau's Focus is Agriculture's Future," Daniel Burrus, one of the world's leading technology forecasters, will follow Stallman with a speech regarding the scope of technology affecting agriculture in tomorrow's world. Burrus, the founder and CEO of a research and consulting firm that specializes in global innovations in science and technology, has been called one of America's "top three business gurus" by The New York Times.

The convention kicks into high gear on Sunday, Jan. 7, starting with the Morning Devotion Service. The event features Dr. Jay Strack, a noted communicator, author and minister from Orlando, and "The Floridians" gospel group.

AFBF's annual awards program will highlight the opening-day schedule on Sunday. In addition to organizational awards, former Chicago Bear's linebacker and Pro Football Hall-of-Famer Mike Singletary will address Farm Bureau members. Singletary was one of football's fiercest and most feared inside linebackers during his 12-year career. He has channeled his energy from the football field into becoming one of the nation's most sought-after speakers.

On Monday evening, Farm Bureau members will be entertained by the '60s musical trio The Lettermen, who have sold 20 million records and performed 7,000 concerts.

The Lettermen will fill in for the musical revue "Up With People," who announced this month they would be disbanding.

In addition, the convention also will include the Farm Bureau Showcase trade show, Young Farmer and Rancher contests, and a full slate of commodity outlook and agricultural issue conferences.

An issue conference that will draw considerable attention Monday afternoon is titled "Preparing for the Next Farm Bill." That conference, chaired by AFBF President Stallman, will include as speakers Missouri Farm Bureau President Charlie Kruse; Indiana Farm Bureau Vice President Don Villwock; Paul Drazek, a farm policy specialist from DBT Associates and former AFBF staff member; and Bruce Babcock of Iowa State University.

Tuesday marks the beginning of the annual meeting of voting delegates. There will be 391 farmer and rancher delegates from the 50 states and Puerto Rico who will adopt farmer-written resolutions to set AFBF's official policy positions for 2001. The 82nd annual meeting wraps up on Wednesday after the conclusion of the annual meeting of the voting delegates.

By Bus Or By Feedlot, Farm Show Family Works As One

SANDY BRADLEY
Mercer Co. Correspondent

GROVE CITY (Mercer Co.) — The term "family farm" takes on new meaning when two generations, husbands and wives together, work as one toward a common goal.

For the Rains family, Austin and Dorothy together with son Dale and daughter-in-law, Brenda, this holds true on the farm as well as off.

When the four family members are not operating their Mercer County school bus business in which they own and manage 10 buses, they are raising and showing their collective herd of more than 80 registered Angus cows. The entire operation takes place near Mercer on three separate parcels: the 55-acre farm occupied by Dale and Brenda, which has about 25 acres in crop; a 35-acre homestead occupied by Austin and Dorothy; and a rented location, the 150-acre Munnell Run Farm, which is owned by the county and referred to locally as the old county home farm.

The rented location comprises most of the Rains' pasture, said Brenda, but also includes crop ground. Between the three locations, the family raises enough corn, hay, and oats — all that they need — to feed their herd throughout the year.

Though most of the operation is somewhat typical for a family-owned farm, one aspect is a little less usual; unlike many farms in which land and business pass from father to son, all of the Rains' farming history ties to Dorothy, Dale's mother.

"Dorothy was a Woods," Brenda explained. "They've been raising Angus for more than 80 years, and so this has come about through them."

As a result, the couple of 10 years now lives on part of what originally belonged to John Woods, Dale's maternal grandfather. Ironically, Brenda said, it is Dorothy who might refer to farming as an expensive hobby — and though the Rains' collectively own the cows as well as the school bus business, Dorothy also earns money by driving a school van owned by the Mercer school district.

On the farm, while Dale and Brenda handle many of the day-to-day ongoing chores, in summer months all four family members help with crops. During the Farm Show and other exhibitions, Brenda, Dale and Austin do the traveling while Dorothy stays home to handle the feeding.

Although Dale Rains has attended the Farm Show since childhood, this year's event will mark more than consecutive trips to Harrisburg, where he will show two March heifer calves, an April bull calf, a January bull calf, a March junior yearling, and a February junior yearling.

In past trips to the Farm Show, the Rainses have shown two supreme champion females and three grand champion Angus bulls. Last year they were named premier breeder.

Dale, Brenda, and Austin Rains pose with cows Ellie, held by Brenda, a February yearling who attended last year's Farm Show, and Gayla, a March heifer.

As one of about 10 Angus breeders in Mercer County, said Brenda, there is also a good chance that several cows either purchased or bred from their line will also be shown at this year's Farm Show — one from Bethlehem, near the New Jersey line, and a couple of others from York County.

As well as being rewarding, said Brenda, attending the show makes good business sense as far as advertising and selling cows. "That's basically why we go," she said. "We can usually sell one or two heifers right out of the string there. Last year, two of the bulls got sold through the Farm Show. It increases publicity and it makes people aware.

"But there is definitely a social aspect to it, too" she said. "It's very enjoyable to see the people: It's good in terms of trying to educate the public. It's a lot of rapport — to promote beef cattle and the farming industry to a nonagriculture public. But then you certainly wouldn't go through everything you had to to get ready if the competition wasn't the fun of it, too."

Nichols Family To Show Award-Winning Angus At Farm Show

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

TYRONE (Huntingdon Co.) — "There are three things that have to get out of bed that morning — the person, the cow, and the judge. If they all line up, you're okay," said veteran Angus breeder and showman Donnie Nichols of Water Street near Tyrone.

Donnie, his wife, Karen, and sons John, 18, and Will, 12, represent the third and fourth generations to live and raise Angus cattle at Grand View Farm. They raise 35 registered Angus on 200 acres and show their award-winning Angus steers and heifers at local, regional, and national shows.

For the Farm Show this year, John will be showing two heifers and one bull, and Will plans to show a heifer and a bull. Although they've been showing Angus heifers at the Farm Show for many years, they showed steers for the first time last year.

"Except for the year I broke my arm, this will be the fourth year I've shown at the Farm Show," Will said. "I like seeing what's new at the Farm Show. I like seeing the people I know and even a few people from school."

This will be John's sixth year showing at the Farm Show. "The Farm Show gives me experience showing cows. I like figuring out the new styles of fitting. I like seeing most of my friends from the association," John said. John serves as treasurer and Will as director of the Pennsylvania Junior Angus Association. John received the Outstanding Junior Member Award in 1998.

The Farm Show represents the first show of the year for the Nichols. The open breed show takes place Monday, and the 4-H and FFA junior and steer shows take place Wednesday, followed by the steer sale Thursday.

"We're just amazed at how many steers went to Hoss's Steak and Sea House last year," Karen said. "They bought both John's and Will's steers last year and John's grand champion at the Huntington County Fair."

In March, the Nichols family will travel to the Pennsylvania Beef Expo in State College. They'll show at the Huntingdon County 4-H Beef Club preview show in May. In June, they'll take cattle to the Eastern Regional Junior Angus show this year in Tupelo, Miss., to compete against nearly 700 cattle. John earned first place in his steer class at a previous Eastern Regional show.

In July, they'll travel to the National Angus Show in Denver, Colo., a show that draws about 1,700 entries. August will find them back home showing at the Huntingdon County Fair, where John has, in the past, earned four grand champion and two reserve champion honors.

Berks Ag Conference Looks To The Future

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

WYOMISSING (Berks Co.) — Advancements in agriculture are critical to the success of agriculture here in Berks County, and a forum to chart that future is on the horizon.

Scheduled Friday and Saturday, Jan. 12-13, the conference will center on the issues critical to the future of agriculture in the county.

The conference, "Charting the Future of Berks County Agriculture: Farming and Food Processing In the 21st Century," begins with a dinner Jan. 12 at 6:30 p.m. at the Inn at Reading in Wyomissing.

Conference sessions begin in the Perkins Student Union Building at the Berks-Lehigh Valley College of Penn State, Spring Township, Jan. 13.

One speaker is Ronald S. Kensinger, Penn State associate professor of nutrition hysiology and associate director of the Intercollege Graduate Program In Nutrition.

Kensinger's topic will be "21st Century Foods: Biotechnology and Genetic Engineering."

According to Kensinger, we have been using biotechnology "for literally centuries," he said. But recombinant technology, or genetically engineered advancements, have only been with us in recent years.

For instance, a substance called rennin (also called "chymosin") is an enzyme used in cheese-making. The material was discovered in a calf's stomach, which causes milk to curdle.

Cheese, made from the casein proteins in milk, used to be made from taking calf stomachs, grinding them up, and, following a lengthy, wasteful process, the rennin was obtained.

Now, the genetically identified bovine gene is simply extracted and placed in bacteria to make the material needed for cheese-making.

Kensinger is looking at the direct human benefits that genetically modified organisms, or GMOs, have provided. He will look at the Roundup Ready crops, including corns, and the Bt gene in crops, why those crops were developed, and the potential concerns.

Those concerns are "hot issues today," said Kensinger. Though the benefits of those crops are an "easy sale" to farmers, the public remains largely ignorant.

"There is a lot of ignorance out there," said Kensinger. "People understand less about science and agriculture."

For Bt corns, there are tens of thousands of genes in the mix. The companies changed one of them, essentially allowing the corn plant to retain 99.9 percent of the genes, thus ensuring "desirable qualities of the plant" are not lost, according to Kensinger.

Kensinger will review the evolution of technological breakthroughs and give changing farm practices a "historical perspective," he said.

Also speaking during the sessions will be John Lord, professor of food marketing at St. Joseph's University. Philadelphia.

Lord will present a topic dealing with understanding food consumers and "mining the opportunities," he said.

Lord noted that the public understands little about biotech and what's going on with GMO issues.

Lord noted it's important to provide the link from food production to how companies use marketing strategies to produce, position, package, and distribute the final food product.

The speech will be similar to the one given during sessions promoted by the Institute of Food Technology (IFT). Lord said he speaks at five or six presentations per year at the request of the IFT.

Lord speaks at several ag conferences as well. He spoke in March during the 2000 Pennsylvania Grazing and Forage Conference in Grantville.

The conference, developed by the Berks County Board of Commissioners, also includes sessions on future markets, workforce availability, land availability and use issues, consumer demographics and market trends, food safety, financial issues, agriculture laws and regulations, processor needs, and the future of agriculture in Pennsylvania. Sessions begin at 8 a.m. and continue through 12:30 p.m.

The market value of Berks agriculture products sold generates $247 million on an annual basis.

2001 Farm Show To Feature Horticultural Research

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Agriculture Secretary Sam Hayes announced the 85th Pennsylvania Farm Show will feature a "high tunnel" research exhibit to demonstrate the latest agriculture-production technology to increase grower profitability with minimal capital expense.

"Pennsylvania Produce is 'Simply Delicious' and always in high demand, in Pennsylvania and around the globe," Hayes said. "High tunnel usage has the potential to increase a farmer's profitability by extending their growing season.

"In comparison to the more traditional produce production regions of the South, Pennsylvania has a relatively short growing season. As the demand for locally grown vegetables and fruit increases, Pennsylvania growers are seeking ways to provide these fresh foods in a timely manner to meet consumer needs."

Sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture in cooperation with Penn State, the research is used to modify the environment and other management factors to enhance crop yield, growth, and quality in a profitable manner. "High tunnels" elevate the air and ground temperature within the structure a few degrees each day over a period of several weeks. Crops such as tomatoes, peppers, potatoes, cut flowers, and small fruits are under trial.

Hayes said the high tunnel exhibit will be on display in Exhibition Room B of the Farm Show Complex. The exhibit will feature Pennsylvania produce and self-watering grow boxes. The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture has arranged for Penn State Cooperative Extension agents, specialists and master gardeners to answer questions about the commercial production of vegetables and small fruits using the high tunnel method. The high tunnel research is part of the Agriculture Department's vegetable and fruit-marketing program known as "Pennsylvania Produce — Simply Delicious."

Angus Program Offered For Producers

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — The American Angus Association and Certified Angus Beef (CAB) LLC will host a special program for commercial producers during the 2001 Cattle Industry Annual Convention and Trade Show, set for Feb. 1-4 in San Antonio, Texas.

"Improving Genetics Through Angus Technology" is the theme for the program, which will feature speakers from the American Angus Association commercial relations department and the CAB supply development division. The event is set for Friday, Feb. 2, from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Marriott Rivercenter Hotel.

The American Angus Association and Certified Angus Beef Program are continuously working on programs and services that give commercial producers the edge in beef production.

Farm Business Management School With Dr. David Kohl

In order to remain successful in today's business world, farmers and agri-business managers must adapt to the future changes in the agriculture industry. The Lancaster Chamber's 8th Annual Farm Business Management School promises to be an intensive all day seminar that will provide you with the latest insights from Dr. David Kohl, Virginia Tech. The Farm School will take place on January 31 at Leola Family Restaurant. A program designed for FFA and 4-H students will be held on February 1.

Dr. David Kohl is a dynamic and nationally recognized Professor of Agricultural Finance and Small Business Management at Virginia Tech Dr. Kohl has conducted more than 2,400 workshops and seminars for agricultural groups across the country. He has received 11 major teaching awards and eight major extension and public service awards from Virginia Tech and Cornell University. Dr. Kohl will be coming off a worldwide tour to give you and your business his perspectives concerning global competition, future farm programs, and a host of other interesting topics.

The first day of the Farm School will take place on January 31 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. This intensive school is an excellent opportunity for farmers and agri-business managers looking to strengthen their businesses and learn about the latest trends in the marketplace Dr. Kohl will focus on topics including the following: global competition and it's affect on our local farm economy; benchmarking your farm or business with others in the industry; gaining the most from alliances; establishing a successful advisory board, and exploring alternative investments The limited class size and the chance for managers to bring their own personal questions makes this a unique opportunity to find answers to agriculture's tough business questions. A continental breakfast, lunch and all class materials will be provided during this all day school.

Special Breakfast Meetings

Special breakfast meetings with Dr. Kohl will be held on both January 31 & February 1 from 7:00 to 9:00 a.m. each morning at Leola Family Restaurant. The January 31 breakfast will serve as an opportunity for ag lenders and finance managers to focus one-on-one with Dr. Kohl on agri-finance issues. Dr. Kohl serves as facilitator of the United States Farm Financial Standards Task Force and is one of the leaders in establishing guidelines for the standardized reporting and analysis of agricultural producers' financial information on a national and international basis. The February 1 breakfast will be an opportunity for all past Farm School alumni to have a personalized discussion with Dr. Kohl.

The second day of the Farm School will be an FFA & 4-H student seminar, "Exploring the Dynamic World of Agriculture" which will be held on February 1 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. with Dr. Kohl Each of Lancaster's FFA High School Chapters, along with a group of 4-H students, is invited to attend this educational seminar to hear first hand about careers in agriculture. Dr. Kohl has taught more than 7,300 students at Virginia Tech and Cornell University. He will share with the students a perspective about careers in agriculture and agri-businesses, small business, entering a family business, and how to invest and use credit wisely. Dr. Kohl promises to keep this seminar exciting and help build the career goals of Lancaster County's future leaders.

Be sure to attend the 2001 Farm Business Management School and hear from one of the nation's leading experts in the agriculture industry, Dr. David Kohl. The following is a complete schedule of this 2-day event, which will take place at Leola Family Restaurant

January 31: 7:00 to 9:00 a.m. - Agri-finance Breakfast; 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. - Farm Business Management School.

February 1: 7:00 to 9:00 a.m - Farm School Alumni Breakfast; 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. - Exploring the Dynamic World of Agriculture FFA and 4-H student seminar.

The deadline for registration is January 24, 2001. For more information or to register today, please contact Brent Landis at The Lancaster Chamber at 717-397-3531, ext. 134 or e-mail blandis@lcci.com.

Average Farm Feed Costs for Handy Reference

Tobacco Champion Result Of Uniform, Reddish-Copper Leaf

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — For the third year in a row, Garrett R. Neff picked up champion Maryland 609 smoking tobacco Wednesday afternoon here at the Lancaster County Tobacco Show.

Garrett, 18, son of Dianne and Gary Neff, Millersville, grew the Maryland tobacco on about a half acre of land.

Neff attributes the champion to uniform color. Obtaining that uniformity of a "reddish copper plant color," he said, with leaves as smooth as silk and free of holes, sunburn, blue mold, and blemishes, is key.

"That's what Lancaster Leaf wants," said Neff. "They want more quality than quantity."

Garrett's been trying for years, he said, to get champion with Pa. 41 wrapper tobacco. He even planted two acres of 41 without a contest winner.

It seems the "less you have, the more you tend to it," Neff said, resulting in better quality tobacco.

Garrett noted that growing a quality tobacco starts with location. Having an open place where you can watch it for pests, a sunny, open area away from trees, can provide improved leaf quality control.

Neff, a senior at Penn Manor, obtained transplants from Eric Probst. Neff said he planted them at the end of May with a mechanical transplanter with help from his family.

The tobacco was tractor-cultivated. Neff's spray program was intensive for control of blue mold and to treat for aphids and worms.

Harvest was in late August.

Neff uses an antique sizing box, two feet long on the side, which allows him to sort and select for the best plants. He selects to make sure no plants have defects, such as holes, blemishes, or sunburn.

A selection of about 60 leaves is narrowed down to about 30. The leaves going to the contest have no discoloring or holes, "with an even, flowing color," he said.

Garrett won grand champion from the Vo Ag middle leaf class. This is the sixth year of the competition for him. Garrett said he had best of show with the Maryland tobacco at last year's Farm Show.

Winner of the Pa. 41 type tobacco went to Raymond Burkholder, Washington Boro.

Burkholder said he won grand champion Pa. 41 in 1999 and has been competing for 30 years. He grows seven acres of the tobacco.

This year was good in terms of rainfall but bad during curing time in September. He said there was too much humidity, which caused "shed burn."

He grows the seven acres on land from his nephew, Jim Breneman.

Burkholder said he raises his own seed and transplants. The plant is a narrow-leaf Type 41, which he planted the past year on June 10. Burkholder sprays for weeds, blue mold, and insects. Harvest began Aug. 15. Stripping was the first week of November.

He picks the best leaves, with oil to give them stretch, with no holes from insect damage. He said he likes the color to be "reddish brown."

There was a total of 30 entries from 16 exhibitors, down from last year's 18 exhibitors and 46 entries.

The county show is a prelude to the state Farm Show tobacco judging event, scheduled Friday, Jan. 5, at 9 a.m. at the Farm Show Complex North East Upper Section.

up greenhouses to grow the proprietary tobacco plant in several locations.

The company is not looking for any specific number of growers or acreage. At the meeting Wednesday evening, they were trying to determine interest and commitment by growers in this area.

"We think the state of Pennsylvania is a good candidate to produce our tobacco," said Coyte. "Tobacco growers need some continuity . . . as far as price."

Field contracts would be established to determine how much the farmer would grow. There are some requirements, such as setback distances away from non-genetically modified tobacco, Coyte noted.

By reducing nicotine, the plant reduces the amount of nitrosamine, or cancer- causing substances, it carries.

A typical leaf of Maryland 609 tobacco, said Coyte, is about 3.5 percent nicotine content by dry weight. The genetically modified tobacco has one-tenth the percentage of nicotine in it.

Several "focus groups," said Coyte, have been supplied cigarettes with the modified tobacco.

According to Larry Weaver, New Holland, the acceptance to the lower nicotine cigarette has been good "but it's not for everybody," he said.

Vector, though, realized the need for a "healthier cigarette," according to Weaver.

A Vector contract sign-up session is scheduled Wednesday, Jan. 10, from 1 p.m.-4 p.m. at the Hoffman Building at the Solanco Fairgrounds in Quarryville.

Or growers can sign up at Trileaf Tobacco Company Inc. receiving station, Larry Weaver's Farm on Spruce Road in New Holland, from Monday to Friday, 9 a.m.- 4 p.m. Growers can call Weaver at (717) 354-7477.

Rick Coyte can be reached at (919) 683-8864.

Revenue Crop Protection Available In Six Pa. Counties

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Diversified farmers in six Pennsylvania counties are now eligible for an innovative whole farm insurance revenue insurance pilot program called the Adjusted Gross Revenue Crop Insurance Program.

This new crop insurance is available in Berks, Carbon, Lackawanna, Lehigh, Monroe, and Northampton counties for the 2001 insurance year, according to John Berry, agricultural marketing agent.

"The whole farm insurance should work well for Pennsylvania's family farms that grow multiple crops. Many of these diversified producers have few options under traditional crop insurance programs," said Berry.

The adjusted gross revenue insurance plan provides insurance based on the lesser of the individual producer's previous five-year average Schedule F tax information or the expected revenue for the insurance year. This single insurance product covers all agricultural commodities produced by the policyholder. Expanding the whole farm pilot program will provide more experience in insuring whole farm income throughout the U.S.

A listing of crop insurance agents is available at local Farm Service Agency offices and USDA Service Centers. Sales closing date for AGR is Jan. 31, 2001.

The Adjusted Gross Revenue (AGR) insurance plan is a non-traditional whole farm risk management tool. The AGR concept uses a producer's historic Schedule F tax form information as a base to provide a level of guaranteed revenue.

AGR:

- Provides an insurance safety net for multiple agricultural commodities in one insurance product.
- Establishes a common denominator for commodity production cash receipts.
- Makes simple and straightforward use of income tax forms.
- Reinforces program creditability by using Internal Revenue Service tax forms and regulations.

The AGR product provides the producer protection against low farm revenue due to unavoidable causes. Covered farm revenue is income from agricultural commodities reported on the Schedule F tax form, including incidental amounts of income from animals and animal products and aquaculture reared in a controlled environment. Incidental livestock income represents the crop production value fed to livestock.

AGR protection is calculated by multiplying the approved gross revenue times the percent coverage level and payment rate selected by the producer. The approved gross revenue is the smaller of the average of the producer's prior five years of Schedule F tax information. The average gross revenue can be adjusted for expanded operations or expected revenue for the insurance year.

For example, a producer with a $100,000 approved gross revenue who chose 80/75 coverage would have $60,000 protection ($100,000 x 80 percent coverage x 75 percent payment).

Loss payments are triggered when the adjusted gross income for the insured year is less than the loss inception point. The loss inception point is calculated by multiplying the approved gross revenue by the chosen percent coverage (65, 75, or 80). Once a loss is triggered, the payment rate is 75 percent of the revenue shortfall. Loss payment for this example would trigger when the income for the insurance year is below $80,000 ($100,000 x 80 percent coverage).

Producer eligibility requirements include:

- Filed five consecutive years of Schedule F tax forms. For 2000, the 1994-1998 tax years.
- Produces eligible commodities.
- U.S. citizen or resident.
- Files calendar year farm tax return.
- No more than 50 percent of allowable income is earned from purchase and resale of agricultural commodities.
- No more than 35 percent of allowable income is from animals and animal products.
- Must have Multi Peril Crop Insurance (MPCI) when more than 50 percent of allowable income is from insurance crops.

This summary is for general illustration only. Please contact a private insurance agent to learn more details about AGR and other crop insurance products.

Chesapeake Bay States Sign Animal Waste Transport Agreement

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania have signed an agreement to voluntarily monitor the use of animal waste transferred between the three Chesapeake Bay Program states. The proper use of manure and other nutrient sources is one of the leading goals to curb agricultural impacts to the Chesapeake Bay and its tributaries.

"The transport of animal waste for fertilizer or other uses takes on added importance as we continue efforts to restore water quality in the Bay and the rivers that feed it," said David G. Brickley, director of the Virginia Department of Conservation and Recreation. "This memorandum of understanding helps to ensure these wastes are used to effectively add nutrients to croplands, and not to nearby waters."

Brickley chaired the Chesapeake Bay Program Task Force that drafted the MOU.

Nonpoint source pollution, including the runoff of animal waste, is the leading source of the over abundance of nitrogen and phosphorus entering the Bay and its tributaries. Too much of these nutrients in the water lead to a shortage of oxygen, which negatively impacts living resources and their habitats in the Bay watershed.

"Our past success in nutrient management planning has increased the need to find alternatives for manure," said Maryland's MOU signatory Dr. Henry A. Virts, Maryland Agriculture Secretary.

"Transport to farms where manure can provide a direct benefit is proving feasible. As with most Bay Program initiatives, voluntary cooperative action is the key to coordinating these transportation efforts."

The MOU is the result of a directive signed by the Chesapeake Executive Council which is comprised of the governors of the three states, the District of Columbia Mayor, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Administrator and the Chesapeake Bay Commission Chairman.

"All three states have successful programs working with farmers to properly use animal wastes and other fertilizers," said Virginia Secretary of Natural Resources John Paul Woodley, Jr. "For example, each state developed new processes that recycle animal waste into energy and valuable commercial fertilizer products. This MOU strengthens these programs and better coordinates them with all Bay states." Woodley signed the agreement for Virginia.

The new MOU calls for:

- State programs overseeing animal waste for land application to ensure proper rates and timings of applications regardless of destination.
- All transport incentive programs must adhere to the nutrient management practices of the receiving state as a condition of receiving the incentive, or may call for additional requirements as part of a contractual agreement.
- States to annually share summary data on the quantity and destination of animal waste transferred out of state as the result of a transport incentive program.

The MOU also creates a Chesapeake Bay Program Animal Waste Distribution and Use Technology Task Force.

"We see this task force as a key to future cooperative efforts," said Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Samuel E. Hayes, Jr. "This group will not only work to promote cooperation but to share technological progress and discuss emerging issues as well."

For more information about the Interstate Animal Waste Distribution Memorandum of Understanding, visit the Chesapeake Bay Program website at http://www.chesapeakebay.net/press.htm.

The Chesapeake Bay Program is restoring the Bay watershed through a partnership among the District of Columbia, State of Maryland, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Commonwealth of Virginia, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency representing the federal government, the Chesapeake Bay Commission, and participating citizen advisory groups.

'Stating It In A Letter' Proved Profitable For Fairbairn 4-H'ers

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

COATESVILLE (Chester Co.) — When you want to really accomplish something big, write a letter.

Caitlin Fairbairn, Lisnageer Farm, did just that before the Chester County 4-H Roundup last summer.

In the hopes of getting business to bid, Caitlin, 12, took the time to write, in longhand, a letter to Jay Heim, HSC Contracting, Exton, to purchase her steer.

Heim, of Glenn Oak Farms, Glenmoore, was so impressed that he arrived at the sale and bid $2.25 a pound.

It's those "life skills" that 4-H teaches — writing and speaking to people, looking at costs of creating and marketing items — that was indelibly impressed on the children of Bill and Cheryl Fairbairn.

Caitlin's brother Ryan, 11, wrote a letter in the summer of 1999 to Jim Herr, Herr's Potato Chips, Nottingham. Herr noted to Ryan's dad, Bill, that he was so impressed with the letter that, at roundup, he bid $1.45 a pound for Ryan's steer.

Both Ryan and Caitlin will be taking some hogs this year to the state Farm Show.

Writing a letter is something of a challenge for Ryan. It took him a good 10-15 minutes per page for the Herr letter. For Caitlin's Heim letter, the time was easily spent, and she enjoyed composing it.

Both children sent "thank you" cards out too, noted their mom, Cheryl Fairbairn, who also serves as Chester County livestock agent. Each card had a letter — "C" for her daughter Caitlin and "R" for son Ryan — inscribed on the paper.

Each child will be taking a Blue Butt and purebred Duroc to the Farm Show. The hogs were obtained from Rick Pfautz, Lititz.

Caitlin noted that, originally, the Blue Butt was named "Jimmy" since it was somewhat small, she said. "It seemed like a Jimmy," she noted. Originally it was to be a freezer pig, but "it got nice and big."

So she "renicknamed" the hog "Frederick."

Why Frederick?

The hog "sounded big," Caitlyn said. "It looked like a Frederick."

Ryan noted he and his sister have been showing heifers at the Unionville and Goshen Fairs, in addition to Keystone International Livestock Expo (KILE). This was the first year they took heifers to KILE.

Ryan's hog, a purebred Duroc, is bright red, so he nicknamed it "Mayflower." The other is called "Red Rose." (Its prior name was "Deep Rose," because Ryan and Caitlin like to change names with their hogs.) The hog was named in honor of the ship Columbus sailed on to discover America.

Ryan, in the sixth grade at Coatesville Area Catholic Elementary School, said his first year in 4-H, in 1997, he showed "Jimmy."

Caitlin, in the seventh grade at the junior high portion of the same school, won grand champion her first year of showing at the roundup (then in New Holland) in 1996 with a spotted Blue Butt named "Pinky."

"I thought pigs were pink at that age," she said.

Caitlin and Ryan walk their hogs, when possible, about a half mile each day. They are also careful and "secretive," said their father, Bill, about their feed programs.

The feed is obtained from Gerard Nissley, Morgantown, a "big supporter of pigs at the roundup," noted Cheryl.

Every year, the Fairbairn farm is host to 4-H hog projects. Each year the number of housed 4-H projects increases, from seven the first year in 1998 to 18 last year. 4-H members clean the pens, feed the pigs, and other tasks as part of their 4-H projects.

Also, Cheryl noted that the 4-H members must also look over invoices after the sale, see what the pigs sold for, and "do the finances," she said, to determine if the hog was profitable.

Last year, Ryan made the Farm Show sale with a fourth place and sold the hog for $400, noted Bill.

Cheryl noted the excellent support by many businesses in the county at roundup.

Caitlin has been taking gymnastics lessons since she was three years old at AJS Pancott, West Chester. She puts in four hours after school four days a week, including Saturday, to train for meets.

Ryan, a Boy Scout, has been swimming for about 5-6 years. The team was once called the Rock Lobsters. It's affiliated with the Brandywine-Coatesville YMCA.

Ryan has been a lector at St. Cecilia Catholic Church, Coatesville, where he also serves as altar server. He lectors every year at the Children's Mass on Christmas Eve. He's also a member of the school track team as a long-distance runner.

Caitlin enjoys riding her 25-year-old Arabian mare, Zena, named in honor of the TV warrior princess. Caitlin enjoyed riding her pony, Dixie, until it was donated to a friend, Laura Howe.

Ryan said going to the Farm Show is special because "we have a lot of friends there and it's really exciting to see them."

Cheryl noted the family arrives Sunday and stays until Thursday. They must leave Farm Show Thursday night so Caitlin can catch a flight out of Philadelphia to compete in a gymnastics meet in San Francisco during the weekend.

This year, the junior swine show has been moved from its traditional Tuesday morning date to Monday morning. The junior lamb show is scheduled Tuesday morning and the steers, Wednesday.

The Fairbairn's Lisnageer Farm is home to 75 Angus brood cows and 200 acres of hay. They also keep a small Montadale sheep flock with four ewes.

For the Farm Show, one important stop is crucial for the Fairbairns during Farm Show. It's something the family looks forward to and cherishes. The family visits the Cracker Barrel Restaurant, near Prospect Road.

"It's a family thing," according to Caitlin. "And it's a time during the week we can be as a family, together."

Make Dairy Your Final Answer At Farm Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Ring in the new millennium at the 2001 Farm Show, Saturday, Jan. 6 through Thursday, Jan. 11, here at the Farm Show Complex.

The Keystone State's dairy promotion programs, the American Dairy Association/Dairy Council Middle Atlantic, the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program (PDPP), and the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Mid East have joined forces to cast light on the state's top-ranked agriculture industry.

"Pennsylvania has more than 9,900 dairy farms that produce 1.36 billion gallons of milk each year," said Debra Summerall, spokesperson for PDPP. "What better place to showcase the importance and versatility of dairy than at Pennsylvania's premier agricultural gathering, the Pennsylvania Farm Show."

Dairy farmers are invited to visit the dairy promotion booth on the main exhibit floor, booth numbers 339, 348 and 349, near the McClay Street entrance of the Farm Show building. The booth has a fresh look this year as it cashes in on the popular game show, "Who Wants to Be a Millionaire?" and asks visitor "Who Wants to Be a Moollionaire?"

The trivia game will be played every hour on the hour and will allow contestants to win different levels of "got milk?®" prizes, given their final answer is correct. An interactive dairy nutrition game will also be available throughout the week.

Farmers are also reminded to bring their postcard to the promotion booth to receive a free "got milk?®" license plate.

Milk, cheese, butter and ice cream can all be found, in some form, at the Farm Show.

"The butter sculpture is a favorite for many patrons," said Summerall. "This year we are excited to showcase a large sculpture than in years past. The new 10-foot long cooler will allow us to have a more intricate and artistic sculpture for the new millennium."

Land O'Lakes has donated more than 700 pounds of butter for the display and sculptor Edward Shank of Middletown will again turn dairy's golden product into a work of art.

The addition of the new cooler has allowed dairy promotion to get more bang for its buck as a new cheese display will be featured in the Food Court at Farm Show.

"The cheese display will fill in the product gap we have heard farmers comment on," Summerall said. "The new display will showcase cheeses made in Pennsylvania from our dairy farmers milk, and will remind consumers of the wonderful variety of cheeses available in the marketplace for their enjoyment."

Cheese lovers won't want to miss the creative cheese-carving contest, set for 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., Sunday, Jan. 7, in the Family Living Area. Consumer finalists will demonstrate their creative side as they whittle away at a five-pound block of cheese, donated by Mahoning Swiss Cheese of Smicksburg.

"Pennsylvanians love cheese and cheese is good for them," Summerall said. "A one-ounce serving of cheese is packed with calcium and eight other essential vitamins and minerals."

And who could forget the popular milk mustache? Farm Show visitors will have a chance to don their own milk mustache Monday, Jan. 8, from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Family Living Center at the Farm Show building. Photos can be purchased for $1 with proceeds benefiting the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services.

Glickman Announces $13 Million For Rural Business, Community Development Efforts

WASHINGTON, D.C. — U.S. Agriculture Secretary Dan Glickman recently awarded $13.2 million in USDA loan and grant funds for 31 rural business and community development efforts in 19 states.

The funds will leverage private and other public funding to establish local business revolving loan funds and expand access to local health and community facilities.

"Many rural businesses have not been able to participate in our strong national economy due to the lack of available capital, expertise, or services," said Glickman. "Through the combined efforts of USDA and local leaders, we will help open additional new markets for rural businesses, and ensure that future rural entrepreneurs can access much needed capital."

USDA announced that $6.6 million in USDA Intermediary Relending Program loan funds will be used to establish or expand locally controlled business revolving loan programs. The remaining $6.6 million in Rural Economic Development Loan and Grant Program funds will be used to expand or create businesses in rural areas and develop health and community facilities.

Agriculture Secretary To Present Lambs To Selected 4-H/FFA Members

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — At the 85th Annual Pennsylvania Farm Show, Agriculture Secretary Sam Hayes purchased two registered Dorset ewe lambs. He will present them to 4-H or FFA members exhibiting at the upcoming Junior Sheep Show.

"Pennsylvania youth represent the future of our agriculture industry. 4-H and FFA livestock projects provide opportunities for Pennsylvania youth to experience the responsibilities of ownership and the need to produce food, fiber, and shelter for our democracy. Through these projects, 4-H and FFA members are able to learn the technical aspects of production agriculture, develop an understanding about the business side of agriculture, invest in their education through money earned, learn good showmanship, and have some 'good times,' too," said Hayes.

This livestock project was undertaken by the secretary of agriculture in cooperation with Nix Besser Farm. The two Dorset ewe lambs are twins out of a grand champion ewe and reserve champion ram at the Pennsylvania Farm Show, both bred and owned by Nix Besser Farm. These high quality lambs will help 4-H or FFA members to support their 4-H and FFA projects.

The lambs will be on display at the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture Exhibit throughout the Farm Show. Presentation of the registered ewe lambs will be made by the secretary of agriculture to the 4-H or FFA members during the 2001 Junior Livestock Sale Thursday, Jan. 11.

Eligible 4-H and FFA members are required to write a 300-word essay on "Why Would a 4-H or FFA Member Consider a Career in Agriculture?" and are exhibiting their sheep in the Junior Sheep Show.

The PDA exhibit will be located at the Farm Show in the Main Exhibit Hall and will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Jan. 6-10 and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Jan. 11.

Tobacco Referendum Set

YORK (York Co.) — County tobacco growers have a chance to vote whether or not to establish allotments for Type 41 (cigar filler) tobacco.

Eligible producers are those who engaged in production of tobacco during any of the crop years 1996 through 2000.

There is no allotment limitation on this crop since growers in Pennsylvania and other states have voted "no" in previous referenda.

Interested York County tobacco producers can contact the York County FSA office at (717) 755-2966 ext. #2 and request an acreage report card. These cards must be completed and returned to the county office prior to Jan. 12. Growers who return this card will receive a ballot on which to indicate their allotment preference.

Prospects For Livestock In 2001

H. Louis Moore
Ag Economist, Penn State

The size of the corn and soybean crops has been revised downward since the initial crop report in August, but the harvest will still be a bin buster. The corn crop, initially estimated at 10.4 billion bushels, is now estimated at a record 10.2 billion bushels. The previous record corn crop was in 1994 when the harvest reached 10.04 billion bushels.

Since August the soybean crop has been revised downward each month. Currently, the harvest is expected to be 2.82 billion bushels. The previous record crop of 2.74 billion bushels was set in 1998. Soybean production has risen sharply in the last decade. Corn and soybean acreage are nearly equal, whereas acreage planted to barley, oats, and wheat has fallen substantially.

Record grain production will put stress on storage facilities partially because the harvest for the last four years has been near record while exports have declined. This adds to carryover supplies each year. Carryover is not expected to grow much in the next year asdomestic use of corn for livestock feed will be a record high while the export market is growing. The corn carryover by September 2001 will be about 1.8 billion bushels.

Grain prices will remain weak in the year ahead, giving another boost to our expanding livestock industry in the U.S. Cheap feed generally results in expansion in livestock and meat production.

This expansion has been particularly evident in the beef industry. At the beginning of each of the past four years, beef supplies have been predicted to fall based on a slightly smaller supply of animals expected to go into feedlots.

The numbers entering feedlots have increased while slaughter weights increased, resulting in more total beef. At the beginning of 2000, the production of beef for the year was projected to be 24.9 billion pounds, down about 1.3 billion pounds from 1999. Actual beef production for 2000 is now expected to reach 26.9 billion pounds, up nearly 300 million pounds from the previous year. Projections for 2001 call for beef production to drop to 25.6 billion pounds. Based on this projection, fed beef prices are expected to increase one to five cents per pound in 2001. If supplies increase, fed cattle prices may not increase over the levels of this year.

Pork output fell slightly in the current year but will increase in 2001. Production in 2000 is about 18.9 billion pounds and is expected to increase to 19.4 billion next year, slightly higher than the previous record production of 1999. The price of hogs during the current year will average $.43 to $.45 per pound. The price in 2001 will average two to three cents less than this year, with most of the drop coming in the second half of the year. Because feed is very cheap, hog production will continue to be profitable for most producers through 2001.

Veal and lamb production and consumption continue to decline in the U.S. Next year, veal production at about 208 million pounds will be down 18 million pounds from this year. Lamb production will continue its long-term decline, reaching 220 million pounds, down 8 million pounds from this year. Per capita consumption of lamb and veal and the U.S. now averages only one pound per year for each of these meats.

> There is little evidence to indicate we are moving toward a vegetarian diet.

Broilers are competition with red meats. Over the 1990-2000 period, beef production has increased about four billion pounds. Pork output has increased about 3.5 billion pounds. Beef production increased 20 percent during this decade, and pork increased 23 percent. In 1990 broiler production was about four billion pounds less than beef and three billion pounds more than pork.

Broiler production grew from 18.6 billion pounds in 1990 to 30.3 billion pounds in 2000, an increase of 11.7 billion pounds or 63 percent. Broiler exports grew from 1.2 billion pounds in 1990 to 5.3 billion pounds in 2000, while domestic consumption was increasing too. Per capita broiler consumption will total about 78 pounds this year, up eight pounds from a decade ago.

The ten-year economic boom has helped the nation's meat industry. This year each person will consume about 221 pounds of meat, up 11 pounds from a decade earlier. There is little evidence to indicate we are moving toward a vegetarian diet.

Farm Show Preparation

hour to an hour and a half to dry one.

"This is the busiest time of the year with Farm Show steers plus summer show steers. Right now I have six cattle that are getting geared up to be shown."

The payoff is the coat grows better and is conditioned. Keeping the animals clean, on wood chips, and the fans going on them during the day keeps the animals cool and promotes hair growth.

"If you don't want to do it (show animals competitively), you're not going to go out and rinse calves every day," said Nate, who said that show ring preparation and exhibition teaches responsibility.

Simply handling the animals every day makes the them more manageable during show time. "It helps working with them to get them halter broke. It gets them used to you when you're with them every day," said Nate. "Whenever you go anywhere with them, then they're calmer."

Nate likens working with animals at home to completing homework. "It's like a big test. If you don't do your homework, you're going to fail the test."

"It makes a big difference," said Joseph. "When you go to fit them, they're not going to be kicking at you or fighting to get away."

The steers' feeding program is another facet of show ring preparation. Nate's Shorthorn is "a little soft, so we changed the feed around and he gets walked one mile every day." he said. Nate plans to take a steer, heifer, and pig to the Farm Show.

Preparation for the lambs includes an exercise program on the ramp three times a week, according to Joseph. "The first time they're not sure what's going on, but it's easier after that," he said. This year Joseph plans to take a steer, Angus heifer, crossbred lamb, and crossbred hog to the fair.

Besides exercising the lambs, Joseph also routinely works with the lambs for show ring preparation. "I teach them to set their feet right, to brace into me so they will flex their top and legs," he said.

"It doesn't take too much as long as they're not too stubborn," said Nate.

"It's a matter of getting them to stand still for a certain amount of time," said Joseph.

The Tices mix their own feed for the hogs and keep a careful eye on the hogs' weight. The hogs will also be clipped just before the show.

The brothers will also move the hogs periodically before the show so they get used to handling, since managing hogs in the large Farm Show ring and maneuvering the animals through the crowd proves to be a challenge, according to the Tices.

Besides readying the animals, Farm Show preparation also entails an all-out, behind-the-scenes effort. "People don't think about all the work that goes into the display," said Joseph, "Like the dividers between the stalls or the signs to hang up."

"Packing is the hardest part," said Nate. "I get nervous about what I forgot right before we're ready to leave."

He recalled the time when the Tices were headed to Eastern Nationals in Maryland. He packed the trailer but forgot his clothes, which prompted a quick phone call to another Lebanon resident, who also unfortunately forgot the clothes the next day. "I had to make an emergency shopping trip for clothes and a toothbrush," said Nate.

Years of experience have been an important teacher for the brothers. Said Nate, "When I think I have a really good chance I get nervous, but it's not good for you or your animal when you get nervous. Just slow down and take your time."

Besides the Farm Show, the brothers exhibit their animals at shows encompassing the local Lebanon County Fair to the Pennsylvania Beef Expo, the Tri-State Classic, Delaware's Jackpot Show, KILE, and Eastern Nationals.

Besides the classes to exhibit their animals, the brothers also compete in showmanship contests at the Farm Show. "It's real intense competition," said Joseph. "It's chance to prove yourself for the whole state."

They also travel to other shows, where they learn invaluable fitting and showmanship techniques. "I learned the most from watching older people who knew what they were doing," said Nate.

Said Joseph, "That's where you pick up the little things that set you apart."

Farmers Spearheading Local Tax Reform Campaigns

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — Pennsylvania Farm Bureau is alerting taxpayers around the state that farmers in their area are spearheading local petition signing campaigns aimed at reducing local property taxes.

As of Jan. 1st, residents who have not had a chance to vote on homestead property tax relief in their school district can petition their school board to appoint a special Tax Study Committee to look at the option.

Act 50 of 1998 gave school district two years to take action on their own about investigating whether nuisance taxes could be eliminated and property taxes lowered through an increase in the earned income tax. So far, only five out of Pennsylvania's 501 school districts have put the homestead tax reduction question on local ballots. Property tax relief was approved in three districts.

Farm Bureau believes the property tax is an unfair way to fund school districts and is working for local tax reform throughout the state. Tax burdens should be based on a person's ability to pay. Now, for the first time, taxpayers have the chance to do something about high property taxes through Homestead tax reform.

Under the Homestead legislation, school districts could increase their rate of earned income taxes up to 1.5 percent. The additional revenue would be used to eliminate nuisance taxes such as per capita and occupational taxes, and to lower property taxes through homestead and farmstead exclusions:

The amount of tax relief possible will vary from school district to district. The first step is to get a Tax Study Committee appointed by the school board to look at the possibilities. That's where Farm Bureau's petition signing campaign comes in.

To mandate the appointment of a Tax Study Committee, registered voters equal in number to at least two percent of the vote turnout in the last gubernatorial election in the school district must sign the petition. Once in place, the Tax Study Committee must examine the numbers to see if enough extra tax receipts could be raised through increases in local earned income taxes to enable local nuisance taxes to be eliminated and property taxes to be reduced. If the Tax Study Committee finds out that Homestead Tax Reform would work and recommends its adoption, the school board must put it before the voters in a referendum. If they refuse, another petition signed by five percent of voters can force the issue on the ballot.

Since Act 50 limits the alternatives for tax reform to adjustments in the earned income tax, the amount of tax relief possible will vary from school district to school district. If a local Tax Study Committee finds that the Homestead Property Tax relief law would not be effective in bringing about meaningful property tax reductions, their state legislators need to hear about it. That way lawmakers can be informed of the need to enact further local tax reform measures in the General Assembly.

USDA Reviewing Tossed Out Ballots In Pork Referendum

ARLINGTON, Va. — USDA officials are reviewing more than 2,000 invalidated ballots in the pork industry checkoff referendum to determine whether to continue the program. The department said it will announce the result of the vote by the first week in January.

According to the American Meat Institute, last October, ballots were cast on whether to retain the current mandatory checkoff on all market hogs sold. Missing information on registration and certificate forms were the initial reason for invalidating the ballots.

Local Farm Service Agency offices will review the ballots based on new USDA instructions, the department said recently.

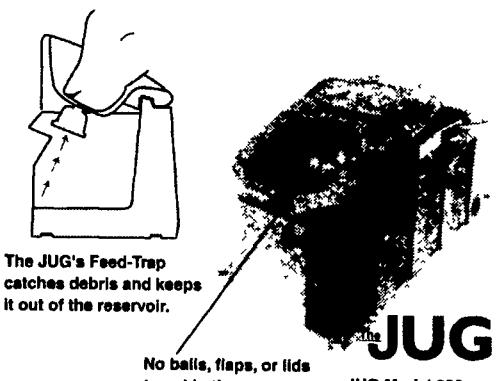
The JUG Livestock Waterer Cleans Itself - so you don't have to!



The JUG's Feed-Trap catches debris and keeps it out of the reservoir.
No balls, flaps, or lids to get in the way
JUG
JUG Model 202
1-hole and 4-hole models also available

The JUG'S self-cleaning design
The JUG'S Feed-Trap™ design prevents feed and other debris from entering the reservoir tank. Each time the animal drinks, any debris in the Feed-Trap is removed. The tank stays clean!

No Algae - No slime
Since the JUG's reservoir is light-tight, no algae will grow in it. That means no slime build-up.

Clean Water = productivity
You know that animals will drink more when the water is clean. And more water consumption yields more productivity.

Tough, long-lasting construction
The JUG is made of tough, roto-molded plastic. It stands up to abuse dished out by livestock. It won't chip and pit like concrete.

To Cull Or Not To Cull

—Bradley J. Hilty
Senior Extension Associate
Information Management

Dairy Alliance

I once heard a noted dairy business consultant comment that the answer to high milk prices is to add more cows and the answer to low milk prices is add more cows.

Although his comments were made somewhat in jest, this thinking does have some merit. The reasoning is as follows: in a period of high milk prices, adding cows increases overall profits of an already profitable dairy; in a period of low milk prices, adding cows can spread the fixed costs of the business over greater units of production, thus decreasing the total cost of production, increasing net profits and improving cash flow.

Both lines of thinking are based on the premise that adding cows on an individual farm will not lower the price of milk. However, when many farms react to prices, low or high, in such a manner, supply is affected. If not offset by an increase in demand, prices will decline.

In light of the current dairy business environment, much attention has been given to a different approach to dealing with low milk prices. The theory is that if each dairy operation would cull two extra cows, supply would decrease to a level more in line with demand, which would result in higher prices.

Some Markets Unavailable Because Of Early Press Deadlines

The concept behind this theory is that every operation has two cows that are not making any money for the business. Whether this reasoning is correct can only be determined on an individual basis by closely examining the costs incurred by the low producing cows in a particular herd.

In periods of low prices, many dairymen are reluctant to dry off or sell animals because it will decrease volume. They see the decrease in volume resulting in lower gross profits (i.e. less money to pay the bills, mortgage and owner draws). Although this is true, in many instances the corresponding decrease in expenses will more than offset the decrease in milk income, resulting in higher net profits (i.e. money to pay the mortgage and owner draws.)

Culling decisions should seldom be made on the production results of a single test. There are many reasons for culling animals. These reasons are separated into voluntary and involuntary categories.

Some involuntary reasons include culling cows due to: being crippled (poor feet and legs), persistent mastitis problems, non-breeders, and disease or death. Voluntary culling reasons include selling animals for breeding stock or selling lower producing animals to make room for a higher producing replacement animal.

The Dairy Herd Improvement Associations have developed a list of multiple culling criteria, which can be used to make culling decisions. Those criteria include:

1. Animals open 250 days and not yet confirmed pregnant.
2. Animals bred four times or more.
3. Animals with an average Linear SCC of 6.0 or greater.
4. Animals producing less than 80 percent of the mature equivalent average for the herd.

These criteria can be used when evaluating the herd for making culling decisions. If an animal falls into more than one category, it is a good candidate for taking a bus ride to the packing plant. If used on a consistent basis. unprofitable animals will be removed from the herd in timely fashion.

However, on most farms finding candidates for the cull list is not a problem. With an average cull rate of 35 percent or more, most of which are involuntary, the number of voluntary culls are held to a minimum. As a result, dairymen are often milking cows that are not paying their way. Determining the level of production at which cows are no longer profitable is a key step in determining whether they should be left in the milking string, dried off or sold.

At the very least, a cow must cover the variable costs associated with having her in the milking string. Those expenses include feed, labor, electric, supplies and BST, if it is being used on the dairy. Many of the other expenses on the farm are fixed and will not change whether the dairyman milks the cow in question or not. If an animal is covering her variable costs of production, plus contributing money toward the fixed costs of the dairy, she should probably not be culled, unless space is limited and a replacement capable of generating greater profits is available.

If such an animal is culled, the fixed cost she was covering will be transferred to the remaining cows, thus increasing the total cost of production for milk produced by those animals.

I have developed a simple worksheet to help determine the production level at which an animal is no longer profitable. For those of you with computers, an Excel spreadsheet is available.

When calculating feed expenses, one should assign a reasonable market value to the raised feeds. Only milking labor is calculated, as feeding and husbandry labor hours are fixed and will not change greatly if one or two animals are culled.

Other expenses are calculated using an average annual cost per animal. BST costs are calculated based on cost of a dose and administration interval. Both the worksheet and computer program are very simple to use. They are very basic in nature, examining only the level of production at which a cow is no longer profitable.

There is a more complex computer program, Cow Value, which analyzes culling decisions based on a number of factors, including, reproductive economics, milk quality and production levels. This program is included with DairyComp 305. It calculates the value of the cows in a herd and determines which animals have the lowest potential for future earnings. Cows with the lowest value are the first candidates for the cull list.

Whether you choose to use a simple tool such as those discussed above or a more complex tool like Cow Value, analyzing your herd to determine which cows are losing money will pay large rewards in the form of improved net profits. If, as a result of the process, supply is reduced and milk price increases, the rewards will be even greater.

"The Farm Show is the nation's leading indoor agricultural showcase," noted Sam Hayes Jr., Pennsylvania secretary of agriculture, in his Welcome on the Farm Show Website. "It proudly recognizes the dedication of Pennsylvania's 60,000 farm families, and offers visitors the chance to learn more about the ever- changing face of agriculture.

"The Farm Show provides an excellent venue for Pennsylvanians to see the latest in agricultural technologies and to learn more about Pennsylvania agriculture's time-honored traditions," Hayes said. 'This year's Farm Show is better than ever!'

New to this year's Farm Show will be an enlarged butter sculpture, a new cheese sculpture, a large machinery display, a "Website Agriculture" display at the Department of Agriculture's exhibit, and a "high tunnel" display, featuring agricultural research for commercial vegetable and small fruit growers, sponsored by the agriculture department.

Late November, Gov. Ridge and Hayes announced the largest-ever state investment in agriculture — about $90 million — that will "allow the state's farm families and agribusiness to compete and thrive in the new economy of the 21st century," Hayes noted.

The commitment includes $66 million to expand and refurbish the Farm Show Complex and about $24 million for a new livestock evaluation facility and an upgraded veterinary training facility.

The show features record premiums of $300,648. It also includes 561 beef cattle entries, more than 325 companies in the commercial exhibits area, 529 dairy cattle entries, 323 dairy goats, more than 115 demonstrations in the Family Living and Agricultural Learning Center, and 148 horse, 800 poultry, 690 rabbit, 984 sheep, and 714 swine entries.

More stories about Farm Show and the families attending are included in this issue of Lancaster Farming.

Labor Management Key Topic At Ag Business Institute

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.) — Penn State Cooperative Extension of Adams County has organized a one-day Agricultural Business Institute, a full-day program open to all agricultural business, but especially to dairy and fruit businesses, Jan. 17 here at the new Agriculture and Natural Resources Center.

Labor management and managing an agricultural business in challenging economic times will be the key topics of the program. The day will begin with registration at 7:30 a.m. with coffee and donuts and will be followed by a joint program between dairy and fruit growers. This joint session will address issues that are important to both dairy and fruit producers. In addition, it will give dairy producers and fruit growers a chance to interact and share ideas between one another. The afternoon sessions consist of specialized workshops that are focused in dairy and fruit production.

The joint morning session will begin with a discussion about professional employment organization (PEOs). A PEO is an organization that will provide labor management services. They primarily take the responsibility of the legal paperwork that businesses need to complete. They also can provide other services such as payroll, on-site training, workers' compensation claims, and many aspects of managing employees.

This type of service can be cost effective for dairy and fruit business. It can allow them to focus on managing the primary aspects of their businesses, producing milk or fruit.

James Cornelius will lead a presentation and discussion about strategic planning for dairy and fruit businesses. In particular, he will focus on strategic planning during challenging economic times.

Roland Freund, farm management agent with Penn State Cooperative Extension, Cumberland County, will lead a discussion on the importance of doing dairy farm analysis and how it can lead to improved production and profitability.

Registration fee for the four-day sessions is $25 for each participant, including lunch. To register, contact the Adams County Extension Office, 670 Old Harrisburg Road, Gettysburg, PA 17325, (888) 472-0261 or (717) 334-6271, fax (717) 334-0166.

Bradford Extension To Conduct 4-H Leader Forum

TOWANDA (Bradford Co.) — Bradford County Extension is conducting a 4-H Leaders' forum Saturday, Jan. 20 at the Towanda Middle School.

Anyone interested in working with youth as a 4-H volunteer is welcome to attend.

The purpose of this forum is to educate, enthuse, and energize 4-H leaders in preparation for the 2001 project year. Sign-in will be from 9 a.m.-9:30 a.m., followed by three workshop sessions.

Workshop topics are horse health, floral arranging, pet care, photography, saddles and safety, dairy reproductive health, and fantastic food projects.

The workshops are designed to give "hands-on" knowledge leaders can use in their clubs. Lunch will be served at noon.

During lunch, leaders will get updates on upcoming 4-H events, and Jim Meehan will discuss child safety and health issues. In the afternoon, Jessica Attardo of Bradford County Probation will give the keynote address on recognizing drug abuse. The forum concludes at 2:30 p.m.

There is no charge for the Leader Forum. To register, call the cooperative extension office at (570) 265-2896 by Jan. 12.

Hoover Family Begins Farm Show Career

Brenden, Aaron, Brad, and Audrey join Myra, a Farm Show veteran from last year. The Holstein will return this year to compete as a 4-year-old.

MICHELLE RANCK
Lancaster Farming Staff

LEBANON (Lebanon Co.) — Farm Show. The gathering of throngs of people, agricultural and agribusiness displays, good food, bad weather, and, of course, myriads of livestock competitions.

The Hoover family is excited to be a part of it.

Last year Brad, 16, and Aaron, 14, spent the full week with their three animals at the show. This coming year Brenden, 12, will raise that number to four as he brings this year's 4-H heifer, "Inkie," to compete. They have been 4-H members since they were eight, giving them the necessary fitting and showmanship knowledge.

Even though dairy farming runs in the Hoover family tree from Reid, the attraction to the show ring may come from Diane, who showed Ayrshires almost every year along with most of her family. Last year was the first year the Hoover boys competed in Harrisburg.

"We thought they were old enough. It is something they're doing and we don't have to be there all the time," said Diane. "There were other young kids from the county with their cattle, and they had them together, so they could help each other."

"They're big enough that we could still run the farm and not be there," said Reid. "They showed they could take care of things and be responsible."

Along with Reid's brother, the family crops 500 acres of corn, alfalfa, and soybeans. Reid grew up on the farm, which has been in the family since 1963. After moving away for a short time, Reid brought his family back to the home farm, where they have lived for 14 years.

The Farm Show, according to Reid, is a unique public relations opportunity. "There are a lot of people there that aren't farmers, and we wanted the boys to keep things clean and neat, to be polite."

"It's your advertising, your image," said Diane.

Four-year-old Holstein, Myra, stationed on the end of a row, had her own public relations campaign as she had a lot of pictures taken of her, according to Brad.

Even though last year marked the Hoovers' inaugural year at the Farm Show, packing was not an insurmountable challenge because they had helped friends the previous year, "so we knew what to pack," said Aaron.

Brad also gained experience this year in Madison, Wis., at the World Dairy Expo — expertise he's eager to test in Harrisburg. Brad was able to spend a week in Madison fitting cows, an educational experience he hopes to translate to his own animals this year.

Sister Audrey, 9, may also be headed for the show ring in future years. She exhibited a calf when she was seven. "We're not sure who showed whom," said Diane. Besides helping to feed the calves, Audrey takes care of the family's 16 chickens.

Calf feeding rotates among Hoover siblings according to football and basketball seasons, and who is playing what sport, according to Diane.

The animals the Hoovers showed at the Farm Show were homebred. Reid, who is especially interested in the breeding aspect of dairy farming, enjoys the challenge of breeding for a quality calf. "We like seeing if we can breed something that can compete with the others," said Diane.

"We enjoy milking cows, but breeding just adds flavor and a challenge," said Reid. "Genetics is interesting to me, to see how you can improve."

The show ring adds interest to dairy farming for the younger generation, according to Reid. "As parents, we like to see that," he said, noting the decrease in the number of farmers and the increase in the average age of farmers.

"Showing teaches preparation and work, if you're first or last," said Reid. "You have to be dedicated and willing to work hard. You just can't go up there and not prepare for it. You have to work with them before the Farm Show. It teaches responsibility, not just on the farm, but in anything."

"Showing teaches winning and losing graciously," said Diane.

Besides taking advantage of the array of famous Farm Show food, the Hoovers enjoyed meeting a lot of new people and learning more about fitting during their week at the show.

One unforgettable experience, said Aaron, came in the middle of the night, when the brothers were abruptly awakened by a horse as it put a large hoof through their plastic showbox, leaving a large hole which still remains.

"I was sleeping right on the other side," said Aaron.

A typical day at the Farm Show includes clipping the animals, which takes the most time, according to Brad, at 4 a.m. to 6 a.m. before the crowds arrive. Lines begin to form even in the early morning hours as exhibitors hurry to wash their animals during the quieter time of the day. Keeping the animals clean, said Brad, also keeps the Hoovers busy during the week.

The Hoovers transport the load of food, clothing, beds, sleeping bags, fitting equipment, plus food and bedding for the animals needed for the week away from home. Even with all this material, however, exhibitors may not use a stall or the aisles for storage space. Exhibitors are assigned specific spots in the barn, but may request to be next to another exhibitor.

"For their first year showing we had really good weather," said Diane, who is crossing her fingers for a repeat this year, despite the long track record of a snowy Farm Show week. "Large amounts of snow would make it dificult to get feed up there." Diane not only provided the animals but also her boys with ample supplies of food during the week.

"There's a lot of preparation before you get there," said Brad. The family puts their heifers on a special ration of protein to grow the animals out, plus hay to fill them out.

"Or we work the weight off of them," said Aaron.

This extra time and attention to the Farm Show animals is freely given. "They (the Hoover family) would say I baby them," said Brad. "I probably spend more time with the show cows than the other cows."

The Farm Show provides exhibitors with a bag of peanut hulls upon arrival. The family takes their own straw, hay, and silage mix to supplement the hulls for bedding.

They will also place a call to the veterinarian to make sure their animals have the proper vaccinations and shots before making the trip.

Since schoolwork and regular farm work takes up much of their time, the Hoovers look to Christmas vacation as the key time of preparation.

"Each time we take them out we practice setting them," said Aaron. He is looking forward to the gaining more show ring experience.

Seeing other top cows and comparing them to his own animals is one aspect of the show that Brad is looking forward to.

Brad and Aaron learned firsthand about the difficulty of moving their animals through the crowds, "especially when you have one that's flighty," said Aaron.

Even though preparation may take large amounts of time and thought, the Farm Show experience is worth the trouble, say the Hoovers.

"It's not all work," said Brad. "We also had a lot of fun."

OMESTEAD OTES

Brenden and Audrey, along with help from Aaron, take care of feeding the farm's calves. The Hoovers milk 130 registered Holsteins.

Reid, Diane, Brenden, 12; Audrey, 9; Brad, 16; and Aaron, 14, operate a Lebanon County dairy farm. This year the family purchased their biggest Christmas tree yet, according to Diane.

On Being a Farm Wife (and other hazards)

Joyce Bupp

Lovely daisies of white, pink and yellow. Bright sunflowers, glowing orange and rusty-red. Perky blue salvia stems, held daintily above deep green foliage. Butterflies flitting over cherry red zinnias.

No weeds. No bending, stretching, digging, pulling. No sweat.

Dreaming?

You betcha.

Dreaming with a stack of seed catalogs growing higher by the day, deliveries of cheery wishful thinking tucked in among the avalanche of tax forms, monthly bills, and endless come-ons from credit card companies.

These annual paperback publications dangle hope and optimism on the umpteenth night in a row that I waddle into the milkhouse, padded with so many layers of puffy clothes that I resemble the Pillsbury doughboy decked out in quilted plaid flannel. I grumble to The Farmer that I am positive I NEVER want to live in Alaska.

Snuggled under a warm Afghan, the woodstove crackling, and cup of hot chocolate in hand, I can study and sketch layouts and make lists and wish about the gardening season. Which is not really all that far away, if we can peek around those obscene, single-digit thermometer readings to look for it.

Along with catalogs from several favorite old standby seed firms have come some interesting and unusual ones. Like one specializing in seeds for gardening gourmet-cooks, with pages and pages of paragraphs offering an amazing array of nutritious salad-makings.

Some of these edibles would have been unheard of to many of us years ago. Listed under "radicchio," for instance, are not one, but eight, varieties of this "green," most of them colored red-and-white, but a few actually green.

For those not into radicchio, how about something from seven pages of lettuce varieties? There's classic head-lettuce, semi-cos heads, butterheads, loose-heads, convoluted heads, no heads, curly-edged, frizzy-edged, jagged edged, tender pink, pale lime, burgundy, red, frosty green and bronze-hued, ranging from early, early spring, to late, late fall harvesting. None claim to be January-tolerant. Sorry.

Several seed mixes for mesclun, that mix of tiny baby greens which retails for about $8 per pound, are available. One included — get this — dandelion seeds. (Your neighbors will be so thrilled.) For "sprouters," there are seed assortments including a sprouts sandwich mix, sprouting stir fry mix, even sprouting broccoli, described as being mildly spicy but reported to be 100 times more potent as an anti-cancer, anti-oxidant agent than ordinary heads of broccoli.

We are tomato lovers, so a catalog specializing in only tomatoes really grabbed my interest. Tomatoes for cold climates and others for Southern hot spots. Tomatoes that mature quickly and tomatoes that would be frosted before they ever turn color here just north of the Mason-Dixon line.

Heirloom tomatoes, from assorted colors of the popular Brandywine series originating from our own Amish countryside to favorites from halfway around the world. One from Eastern Europe, named Stupice, puzzled me over the unusual name — which probably means delicious or wonderful in another language. There are tomatoes so tiny it takes a handful to make a mouthful, and tomatoes hyped to be so large you might need help to harvest 'em. The kind the groundhogs like to take one big bite out of and ruin. Red tomatoes, yellow tomatoes, white, "black" (a deep maroon), orange, striped, peach-colored, even tomatoes that are green when they're ripe.

"How do you know when a green tomato is ripe?" wonders The Farmer.

Warmed by the snugly Afghan, the hot chocolate and the promise of gardening heaven, I succumb to the tempting siren song of the catalogs, beckoning me to flee (if only in my dreams) from the demons of low-digit temperatures.

As mid-winter escape excursions go, it's a heck of a lot cheaper than a cruise.

Farming Series To Air On WITF-TV

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — With 7.7 million acres of farmland and approximately 50,000 farms, Pennsylvania encompasses a rich mosaic of American agriculture. "Farming From The Heart" presents a cross section of Pennsylvania's farms to examine innovative, unique, and traditional operations, and offers a personal look into an industry that many take for granted.

The series will air on WITF-TV Sundays, Jan. 7 and 14 at 6 p.m.

The programs chronicle the state's dairy, fish, elk, lamb, poultry, cattle, fruit, vegetable and mushroom farms. Twenty-six farmers in 16 counties provide a glimpse of life on the farm, and speak candidly about the joys and hardships of farming — from the art and science of growing world-class mushrooms, to a couple who names their breeding bulls after Civil War generals, to a tour of the country's "oldest continuously operated family farm."

"Farming From The Heart" was produced by WPSX-TV, the public television station in State College.

Make It With Oats

Whole grains shine nutritionally because many of the naturally occurring nutrients and health-enhancing nutrients and substances in grains are located in the germ and bran layers.

Grains can be divided into two categories — whole grains and milled grains.

Whole grains are made up of three layers: the germ (innermost layer), ehe endosperm (middle layer) and the bran (outer layer). Milled grains in contrast have had its bran and germ removed.

Whole grains contain disease fighting elements — fiber, antioxidants, phytochemicals, and phytoestrogens.

About 50-80 percent of the minerals in grain, including copper, zinc, and magnesium are found in the bran, which makes whole grains rather than milled grains more desirable for health purposes.

But the goodness of whole-grain food goes beyond bran. Whole grains contain hundreds of nutrients and potential disease-fight substances, which may work alone, but more likely to work together to yield the beneficial effects researchers are just beginning to understand.

Oats are a good source of soluble fiber, which is known to help lower blood cholesterol levels and help keep blood sugar levels in control. Old-fashioned and quick oats can easily be incorporated into many of your recipes to give that added nutrition boost.

Try these recipes for a great start toward total nutrition in the year 2001.

PRIZE-WINNING MEAT LOAF

1½ pounds lean ground beef
1 cup tomato juice or tomato sauce
¼ cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
1 egg or 2 egg whites, lightly beaten
¼ cup chopped onion
½ teaspoon salt (optional)
¼ teaspoon pepper

Heat oven to 350 degrees. In large bowl, combine all ingredients; mix lightly but thoroughly. Press meat loaf mixture into 8x4-inch loaf pan.

Bake one hour until meat loaf is to medium doneness and center is no longer pink. Let meat loaf stand 5 minutes; drain off any juices before slicing. 8 servings.

Variations: Add one of the following to meat loaf ingredients:

- ½ cup chopped green or red bell pepper
- 2½-ounce jar sliced mushrooms, drained
- ⅓ cup grated parmesan cheese
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley or cilantro

Toppings (optional):

- After removing meat loaf from oven and draining, sprinkle with 1 cup shredded cheese. Let stand 5 minutes before serving.
- Spoon prepared spaghetti sauce, pizza sauce, barbecue sauce or salsa over each serving.

CREAMY MAPLE CRANBERRY OATMEAL

3½ cups skim or lowfat milk
¼ teaspoon salt (optional)
2 cups quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
½ cup dried cranberries
⅓ cup maple-flavored syrup, regular or light
¼ cup toasted wheat germ

In medium saucepan, bring milk and salt to a gentle boil. Watch carefully. Stir in oats, cranberries, and maple syrup. Return to a boil; reduce heat to medium. Cook one minute for quick oats, 5 minutes for old-fashioned oats or until most of milk is absorbed, stirring occasionally. Let stand until desired consistency. Stir in wheat germ.

Spoon oatmeal into four cereal bowls. Drizzle with additional syrup, if desired. Serve with milk or yogurt, if desired.

NOT-SO-SINFUL BROWNIES

¼ cup vegetable oil
3 squares (3 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
1¼ cups granulated sugar
½ cup applesauce
4 egg whites or 2 eggs, lightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
1 cup all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt (optional)
Powdered sugar (optional)

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Lightly spray bottom only of 13x9-inch baking pan with no-stick cooking spray. In large saucepan, combine oil and chocolate. Heat over low heat, stirring frequently, until chocolate is melted. Remove from heat; cool slightly. Add sugar and applesauce; mix well. Stir in egg whites and vanilla; mix well. Add combined oats, flour, baking powder, and salt; mix well. Spread evenly in prepared pan. Bake 22-25 minutes or until center is almost set and edges pull away from sides of pan. Do not over bake. Cool completely. Sprinkle with powdered sugar just before serving, if desired. Cut into bars. Store loosely covered. 24 bars.

STUFFED MINI MEAT LOAVES

½ cup frozen chopped broccoli, thawed
½ cup shredded cheddar or Co-Jack cheese
1 pound lean ground beef
½ cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
½ cup ready-to-serve beef broth, divided
1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
½ to ¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup catsup (optional)

In small bowl, combine broccoli and cheese; set aside.

In medium bowl, combine ground beef, oats, ¼ cup broth, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper; mix lightly but thoroughly. Shape meat loaf mixture into four ½-inch thick patties (approximately 4-inch diameter). Place an equal amount of filling in center of each patty; bring up edges to enclose filling, shaping to form oval loaf.

Heat medium nonstick skillet over medium heat until hot. Place meat loaves in skillet; brown 3 minutes on each side. Add remaining ¼ cup broth; reduce heat to medium-low. Cover; simmer 12-14 minutes or until meat is no longer pink.

To serve, top each meat loaf with one tablespoon catsup, if desired. Serves 4.

Oat History

According to information from Onhealth.com, oat straw, or "Avena sativa" in Latin, is the above ground part of a plant more often associated with the commercial product milled from its seed.

The cultivation of oatmeal dates back to at least 2000 B.C.E. Oats are native to warm Mediterranean regions of the world. In Europe, the oat plant is used for much more than its yield of grain.

Extracts and tinctures prepared from the oat straw and the plant's immature, milky seed are readily available. These formulas are used as a nervous system restorative, to assist convalescence, and to strengthen a weakened constitution.

Italian Pesto Oat Rolls combine eye appeal with taste and nutrition.

Featured Recipe

Italian Pesto Oat Rolls won the $2,000 first prize in the muffins/bread category of the seventh annual Quaker Oatmeal "Bake It Better With Oats" Recipe Contest.

Italian Pesto Oat Rolls are the perfect accompaniment for soups, salads, and pastas. This made-from-scratch yeast roll blends Old World flavor and the wonderful hearty texture of oats with contemporary convenience.

For more recipes using oats, write to The Oat Expert, 225 W. Washington, Suite 1440, Chicago, IL 60606.

ITALIAN PESTO OAT ROLLS

1¾ to 2½ cups all-purpose flour
1 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
½ cup fresh shredded Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons sugar
¼-ounce package quick-rising yeast
1¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon fennel seeds, coarsely crushed (optional)
¾ cup water
2 tablespoons olive oil
¼ cup refrigerated pesto sauce
Lightly spray baking sheet with no-stick cooking spray.

In large mixing bowl, combine 1¾ cups flour, oats, cheese, sugar, yeast, salt and fennel seeds; mix well. Heat water and oil until very warm. Add to flour mixture. By hand, gradually stir until dry ingredients are moistened. Stir in additional flour to make a soft dough that pulls away from sides of bowl.

Knead dough on lightly floured surface 5 minutes or until smooth and elastic, lightly sprinkling work surface and hands with additional flour if dough is sticky.

Roll dough into 10-inch circle. Cut into 12 wedges. Spread about 1 teaspoon pesto across each wedge. Roll up tightly from wide end. Place rolls seam side down on baking sheet; gently push ends down. Cover with damp cloth. Let rolls rise in warm place 30 minutes.

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Bake rolls 20-22 minutes or until light golden brown. Serve warm. 1 dozen.

If desired, after rolls have risen, brush tops lightly with olive oil and sprinkle with oats.

For bread machines: Add 1¾ cup flour, the oats, cheese, sugar, 2¼ teaspoons bread machine yeast or quick-rising yeast, salt, fennel, water (at room temperature) and olive oil to bread machine pan in order recommended by manufacturer. Select dough/manual cycle. When cycle is complete, remove dough from machine to a lightly floured surface. If necessary, knead in enough additional flour to make dough easy to handle. Proceed as directed above.

QUESTION — Since October is Popcorn Popping Month, N. Kring, Somerset County, would like a recipe for kettle corn, which is a sweetened, salted popcorn sold at county fairs and festivals.

QUESTION — A reader requested an old recipe for clear bean soup made with fresh pork.

ANSWER — A Dauphin reader enjoyed the article, "Dietz Prepares Food With Deception," which appeared in the Nov. 11th issue, and requested more recipes that include "odd" or surprising ingredients. Thanks to Maggie Keeler, Charlestown, W.V., for sending several recipes containing surprise ingredients. She writes that she takes such things as the Chocolate Sauerkraut Cake to church potlucks, but she never tells anyone what the "surprise" is until after they have tasted it. Maggie writes that she has collected many dessert recipes featuring everything from beets, lettuce, and sweet potatoes to garlic. She promises to send more recipes containing unusual ingredients after the holidays.

Catsup Cake

2 cups flour
½ cup sugar
⅓ cup cocoa
1½ teaspoon baking soda
1½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
½ cup catsup
½ cup shortening
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs

Combine flour, sugar, cocoa, baking soda, baking powder, cinnamon, and salt in a large mixer bowl. Stir in milk, catsup, and shortening; beat on low until combined. Add vanilla and eggs; beat on medium for 2 minutes. Bake in 13x9-inch baking pan for 35 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool and frost with chocolate frosting.

Chocolate Mayonnaise Cake

3 cups unsifted flour
1½ cups sugar
⅓ cup cocoa
2¼ teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons baking soda
1½ cups real mayonnaise
1½ cups water
1½ teaspoons vanilla

Sift dry ingredients together into a large bowl. Gradually stir in mayonnaise, water, and vanilla until well blended. Pour into two greased and wax paper-lined 9-inch cake pans. Bake layers at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool and frost.

Note: Cake contains no additional eggs or oil other than what is in the mayonnaise and stays moist.

Sauerkraut Apple Cake

2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon grated nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
½ cup packed brown sugar
4 eggs
1 cup vegetable oil
16-ounce can sauerkraut, drained, rinsed
1 peeled, cored, finely chopped apple
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts or pecans

Frosting:

8-ounces softened cream cheese
½ cup softened butter
1 pound powdered sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 tablespoon grated orange zest
⅛ teaspoon salt

Combine flour, baking powder and baking soda, cinnamon, nutmeg, and salt; set aside. Combine the sugars in another bowl; whisk in the eggs and oil until well blended. Mix in kraut, apple, and nuts. Stir in dry ingredients just until moistened. Put into greased and floured 13x9-inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool completely before frosting. Serve cake at room temperature. To make the frosting, beat cream cheese and butter together. Add the powdered sugar gradually, then vanilla, cinnamon, orange zest, and salt. Beat until well blended; spread on cooled cake. Refrigerate cake or icing will become too soft, but bring to room temperature to serve. Makes 12 servings.

ANSWER — Audrey Renno, Hamburg, wanted a recipe for Pepper Pot Soup made with tripe instead of with beef. Thanks to Donna Montagner, Kempton, for sending a recipe for tripe, an old Italian recipe that her husband's mother brought with her (by memory) in the 1920s.

Tripa

Cut unpressed tripe into inch-long pieces about ½-inch wide. Saute in olive oil and butter enough to coat bottom of pot. Add:

Salt and pepper, to taste
3 tablespoons parsley
2 teaspoons tomato paste
In spice ball or small sack, combine:
Garlic clove
2 tablespoons whole cloves
3 pieces cinnamon stick (½-inch long)

Simmer slowly for three hours, adding boiling chicken broth.

ANSWER — For the readers who requested gluten-free recipes, here are several from Maggie Keeler, Charlestown, Va. She also recommends the following sources for more information, recipes, and gluten-free baking products:

Wheat-Free Sighs

3 egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup sugar
¼ cup almonds, chopped
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel

Combine egg whites with cream of tartar. Beat until foamy. Add sugar gradually; beat mixture until stiff. Fold in almonds and lemon peel. Drop mixture by spoonfuls onto an ungreased baking sheet. Bake at 325 degrees for 25 minutes. Makes about 2½ dozen.

Scotch Teas

1 cup butter
2 cups brown sugar
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 cups old-fashioned oats

Melt butter and brown sugar in a heavy skillet. Take off heat; stir in baking powder and salt. Mix in oats. Put in a greased 9x13-inch baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes. Cool thoroughly before cutting into squares.

Oatmeal Crumb Bars

4 cups quick oats
1½ cups chopped walnuts
1 cup packed brown sugar
1 cup shredded coconut
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup melted butter
¾ cup orange marmalade

Combine all ingredients; mix well. Press into a greased 15x10-inch jelly-roll pan. Bake at 400 degree oven for 18-20 minutes. Cool before cutting. Makes 4 dozen.

ANSWER — Carol Fulkroad, Millersburg, wants a recipe for frozen yogurt, which can be made in a 1½-quart ice cream freezer. Thanks to Dorothy Stoms, Deerfield, N.J., for sending a recipe.

Basic Vanilla Frozen Yogurt

20-ounces plain yogurt
½ cup sugar
1 envelope unflavored gelatin softened in ¼ cup water
Dash salt
½ cup evaporated milk
2 teaspoons vanilla

Scald evaporated milk over low heat, stirring occasionally to avoid the skin formation over the top of the milk. Add sugar, salt, and softened gelatin. Stir until thoroughly dissolved and mixture is completely smooth. Cool, add yogurt and vanilla. Mix well. Chill thoroughly in refrigerator for two hours or longer. Pour into can and freeze. Makes 2 quarts.

Fruit Ice Cream: Vanilla recipes may be varied with the addition of either good ripe peaches, bananas, strawberries, or other fruits or flavors desired. Use one cup fruit per quart ice cream.

Family Living Focus

You have just completed a holiday of "cheerful giving" and now the post-holiday "blues" are setting in because the credit statements are now arriving and may continue to do so through March (remember those advertisements of "spend now and don't worry about a payment until February or March"). Now you're wondering how to pay everything along with all the other monthly bills that you have.

A recent TV advertisement that ran frequently over the holidays stated, "talk to us about a low-cost home equity loan to consolidate your bills." It listed an 800 number to contact that there would be no investigation of past credit history and you could get your loan immediately.

If you thought about this solution for even a fleeting moment, think again. First of all, most loans of this sort charge a high interest rate. Can you afford to add more fees in addition to fees that you're already paying on the use of credit? Here's an example to think about: If a person owed $2,000 on a credit card and they were not making any additional charges, it would take them 11 years to pay off the debt at 18% interest and a minimum monthly payment of $20. Perhaps you already have some credit cards that you're only making the minimum payment — do you want to add your home to this list?

The more important question to ask is — can I afford to hock my house to pay for all of this? During my counseling with families, I find people who have more than one "second mortgage" on their home because they have consolidated one or two time. Many individuals don't realize that if there is default on a second or third mortgage, the home can be lost, even if the first mortgage is paid up to date. That's why I refer to it as "hocking the house."

Instead of jumping into the advertisement's suggested solution, consider some other alternatives first:

- Take a long look at your present spending habits — are there some behaviors that you can change immediately in order to have some "extra" money to apply to your bills?
- Can you focus on some credit cards where you owe a small amount and eliminate them so you can concentrate on the larger picture?
- Most importantly, if you choose to consolidate, can you actually cut up and eliminate the cards that you have been using. Yes, I said, cut them up and return them to the creditor. That way you won't be tempted to keep using them while you're trying to pay off the existing debt.
- Set up a budget or financial plan that will help you direct your spending in the New Year and pledge to only use credit if you can pay it off within the grace period.

You may be thinking that this financial solution to debt is easier said than done. Believe me, you can eliminate debt with careful spending, careful planning, commitment, and by keeping your home safe.

Please consider very carefully mortgaging your home to pay off existing and newly-attained credit bills. Take the step very seriously. You may not have another chance.

Consider the following danger signals of too much debt and proceed with caution:

- Credit is used as cash, not debt.
- Debts are greater than the assets.
- Money is owed to more than seven creditors.
- Impulsive or compulsive spender.
- Spouses are dishonest with each other about the use of credit.
- Don't know the amount of monthly living expenses.
- Don't know total debt.
- Expected increase in income is already committed to paying off debts.
- Extra income such as overtime or moonlighting is used to make ends meet.
- More than 20 percent of take-home income is committed to credit payments other than the home mortgage (the original home mortgage not the second or third).
- Cannot pay for regular living expenses or credit payments and taking out a loan, withdraw savings, skipping payments, or paying only the minimum amount due in charge accounts to cope.

As you can see, the use of credit should not be entered into lightly. Stop and do some serious considering before consolidating with your home as collateral. If you need further information to help you "Take Control of Your Money," contact your local cooperative extension office for the five part series.

Garden Company Launches 125th Anniversary At Flower Show

WARMINSTER (Bucks Co.) — W. Atlee Burpee & Co. celebrates its 125th anniversary year with a major exhibit at the Philadelphia Flower Show highlighting the company's green thumb achievements over the last 125 years.

As a special treat, visitors will have a chance to chat with "W. Atlee Burpee," an impersonator, dressed in 19th century style portraying the company's founder and a "Great Gardener of the World."

Started in 1876 by an 18-year-old with a passion for animals and plants, W. Atlee Burpee grew his company in 25 years to become the largest seed company in the United States. Using timeless business practices based on innovation and customer satisfaction, W. Atlee Burpee & Co. continues to thrive today supplying Americans with quality seeds and plants.

Visitors to the exhibit will see towering eight-foot "American County Fair" displays of Burpee vegetable and flowers. Iceberg lettuce, Big Boy tomatoes and white marigolds — all Burpee winning innovations — will be exhibited and labeled in lush beds throughout the exhibit. To herald the coming gardening season, visitors will get a sneak peek at Burpee's showcase of flowers and vegetables for 2001, including a much-overlooked garden perennial, which blooms during the winter.

Vintage seed equipment, rarely available for public viewing, will also be on display.

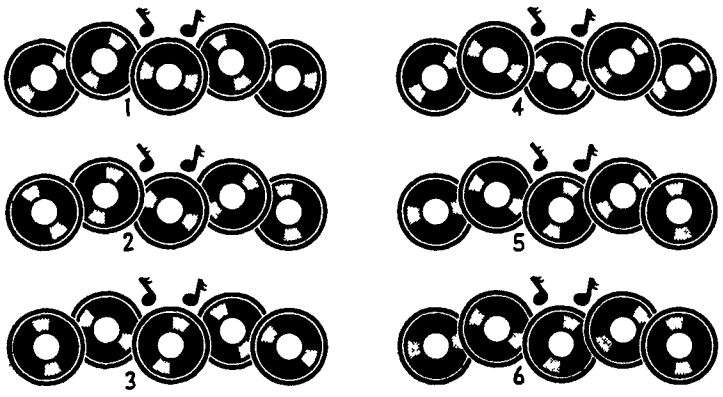
FIND THE TWINS

WHICH TWO ARE EXACTLY ALIKE?



ANSWER FIVE AND SIX

Saying— Thank You

- Use holiday thank you cards or postcards You can buy or make them
- One way to make thank-you cards or notes is by using old holiday cards Cut pictures from the front of cards and paste them on plain paper Write your thank you note, fold it and mail it in an envelope
- Make a list of everyone who gave you a gift Be sure to list what gift(s) you received beside each of the names
- Add something about the gift For instance, if someone gave you money, tell how you plan to spend it
- Don't be dishonest about your gift but think about the positives of it If your aunt gave you socks instead of a toy, tell her how you can really use the socks
- Add something about your holiday For instance, tell where you ate Christmas dinner or how you and your cousins played the dreidel game

Just remember, a thank-you note will make the person who receives it feel great and it will make you feel good, too

There are many ways to celebrate a New Year. As time goes by, we change our way of celebrating it.

As a youth, I spent one night driving to Bethlehem, Pennsylvania to see the lights with young church friends. That night I actually arrived home as my father was on his way to the barn. He did not explode or even say a word — surprise, surprise. After all, I was in my twenties.

Later, after I was married, we joined a square dance group. These people became our close friends. For 50 years, we got together on Saturday nights and danced despite the fact that we were bone tired to start. But, after the evening was over, we felt better than when we started as music can do wonders.

Years later, we lived through our children's activities. And, as one year slid into another year, we did not mark it in any particular way. Oh sure, we thought of ways to improve ourselves, but often these resolutions did not last long.

Today, we look back at the past year and are thankful for our blessings. It has been a good growing year, and we were blessed with a bountiful harvest. Our health has been good, and we now have a new grandson who was born in September. If next year is as good, we will have no complaints.

At this season of year, our house is full of blooming plants. The amaryllis has three large red blooms. The impatiens have pink blossoms, and I was given the largest poinsettia that I have ever seen. It was a beautiful decoration over the Christmas season. Even the red geraniums are a cheerful sight.

Retail Grocery Prices Drop Slightly In Fourth Quarter Survey

PARK RIDGE, Ill. — American consumers enjoyed a slight decrease in retail prices at the supermarket during the fourth quarter of 2000, according to the American Farm Bureau Federation's (AFBF's) Marketbasket Survey.

The latest informal survey shows a 12-cent decrease in 16 selected grocery items from this year's third quarter.

Shoppers paid $33.48 for the 16 items during the fourth quarter. That was a drop from last quarter's $33.60, which marked the highest average since the survey's inception in 1989. This quarter's average is just $4.98 higher than the inaugural average of $28.50, recorded the first quarter of 1989.

The total average recorded for this year's fourth quarter report was 26 cents higher than the report for the fourth quarter of 1999 ($33.22).

Of the 16 items on the survey, nine fell in price. A 32-ounce bottle of corn oil experienced the largest decrease, falling 22 cents to $2.14. Other decreases included a 5-pound bag of flour, $1.24, down 16 cents; bacon, $2.62, down 15 cents a pound; vegetable oil, $2.04 per 32-ounce jar, down 12 cents; mayonnaise, $2.86, down 4 cents per 32-ounce jar; ground chuck, $1.86, down 4 cents per pound; cereal, $2.84 per 10-ounce box, down 3 cents; white bread, $1.16 per 20-ounce loaf, down 3 cents; and apples, 91 cents a pound, down 2 cents.

Seven items on the survey increased in price, led by a pound of cheddar cheese, which increased 26 cents to $3.41. Other increases included sirloin, $2.80 per pound, up 15 cents; pork chops, $3.18 per pound, up 13 cents; a dozen eggs, $1.04, up 7 cents; whole fryers, $1.02 per pound, up 5 cents; whole milk, $2.74 per gallon, up 2 cents; and potatoes, $1.62 per 5-pound bag, up 1 cent.

AFBF, the nation's largest farm organization, conducts its informal quarterly Marketbasket Survey to help track retail food price trends to ensure they are in line with prices received by the nation's farmers and ranchers. While retail grocery store prices have increased for the most part during the past year, the farmers' and ranchers' share has actually dropped. According to the Agriculture Department, the farm value of each food dollar spent in the U.S. is approximately 20 cents. Off-farm labor at 39 cents is the largest component of the consumers' food dollar.

No Mad Cows Here

How can we be sure "mad cow disease" isn't in the United States?

Mad cow disease, or bovine spongiform encephalopathy (BSE), gets a lot of press because there are so many unknowns about how it spreads, and because of the devastating effects of its human form, a form of Creutzfeldt-Jakob disease. The fatal neurological disease is often painful, and often includes delusions or hallucinations as part of its development.

Classical Creutzfeldt-Jakob disease (CJD) occurs at a rate of 1 or 2 cases per million people throughout the world, including the United States. However, in 1997, a new variant of CJD (vCJD) was found to be the same strain as BSE, and it's affecting much younger people than classical CJD. It's believed that people contracted this new variant by eating meat from BSE-infected animals.

Related diseases, such as scrapie in sheep and goats, appear to come from different strains of the protease-resistant protein, or "prion" — the agent responsible for the disease. Scientists are unsure about the exact nature of the prion, but it's very small and heat-resistant.

The vast majority of cases of vCJD have occurred in Great Britain, where more than 80 people have died from the disease. Most BSE cases have also occurred in Great Britain, where more than 175,000 head of cattle were diagnosed from late 1986 through mid-1999. At its peak in January 1993, almost 1,000 new cases were reported weekly. Today, only about 60 new cases are reported weekly.

No cases of BSE or vCJD have ever been identified in the United States, but it's not because we're not looking. In fact, scientists from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service routinely examine animals at high risk for the disease — those with neurologic conditions seen at food processing plants and veterinary diagnostic laboratories. The brains of about 10,000 cows have been tested since 1990, and none have tested positive for BSE.

Besides this and other surveillance efforts, the United States has banned the importation of any live ruminants (cows, sheep, goats and some other exotic animals) and their tissues from any country with confirmed cases of BSE. Also, in 1997 the government prohibited the use of by-products made from ruminants from being used in any ruminant feed. (It's believed British cattle got BSE by eating feed with rendered protein that was infected.)

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — Quality ingredients are crucial to the success of producing great desserts, according to Patricia Coberly, a participant in the "Greatest Cocoa Cake Contest" coming up at the Farm Show. The event is sponsored by the Hershey Foods Corporation.

In August, Coberly became eligible for the challenge after her extravagant entry was pronounced a winner by judges at the Somerset County Fair in Meyersdale. It brought $180 at an auction on opening Sunday of fair week.

Byron Glessner, president of the fair board of directors, ran up the bids to own the confection, himself. Later, people stopping by the fair office were granted the privilege of sampling its goodness.

Besides the name brand cocoa, Coberly declares she won't use any but name brand sugar, because she has found it works beautifully when combined with the other ingredients.

A couple of years ago, since she was obligated to be at the fair all week, anyway, Coberly felt she should contribute something to the fair bake sale. The necessity of hanging around the grounds was owing to the animal projects of her daughter April and son Norman, members of the White Oak 4-H Club.

The idea of the committee donating the proceeds of the auction to a local organization that helps people in need appealed to Coberly. As far as she was concerned, here was an opportunity to do something of twofold value.

"I do think its a good thing to donate to charity," she says.

The recipe she is using this year is popular with the relatives. The cake's appearance and flavor, no doubt, render it fit for a king, but the time involved making it has shown Coberly the dessert is one to reserve for special occasions.

It isn't that she minds fooling with the delicate aspects evident in the finished product, but, the time involved to bring it all together requires most of a day. The connoisseur of cakes some years ago, concocted a wedding cake for her own marriage celebration to Bill Coberly.

'I haul cakes everywhere," she says, adding she has no qualms about riding to Harrisburg from the Mason-Dixon Highway home in Summit Township where she lives, although, a possible trophy will be resting on her lap.

She also throws herself, wholeheartedly, into cookie baking. One year at Christmas she and April whipped up 50 varieties of cookies. A favorite rolled cookie shaped like Christmas trees calls for a unique combination of molasses and cocoa. Coberly has hand-copied the recipe into a well-used notebook.

While the cookies are still hot, she adds glaze and colorful sugar sprinkles to each tree. The recipe found at the end of this article can easily be adapted to other holidays, merely by switching to a different-shaped cookie cutter.

Two years ago, just when Coberly was engaged in the thankless washing of hogs at the fair, the astonished woman recalls being embarrassed when, unexpectedly, she was summoned for an official photograph portraying her, the baking contest winner, with committee officials.

Patricia Coberly of Meyersdale exhibits the many products she uses in home cooking and baking. She is a contestant in the Greatest Cocoa Cake Contest at the State Farm Show. The recipe she adapted first won at the Somerset County Fair, Meyersdale, and sold for $180 at the bake sale.

"When you are at the fair you dress for your kids," she says. "I didn't expect to win."

Prior to the involvement of April and Norman in the Farm Show square dance competition, Coberly had limited experiences at the Farm Show. She had attended only one time previously. She agreed to help chaperone 4-H kids, but, monitoring the whereabouts of nearly a dozen youths who were her responsibility in the massive complex was a little daunting, she said.

Square dancing is such a popular Farm Show event with Somerset County kids that most years several buses and many adults are required to transport and supervise the members of teams scheduled for the competitions.

Coberly says April attends Penn State, and Norman, the Meyersdale Area High School.

As far as leadership jobs in the White Oak 4-H Club the last seven years, Coberly has assisted with horticulture, sewing, and cooking instruction.

A naturally industrious person, Coberly's profession at the Flushing Shirt Company in Grantsville, Maryland the last 28 years has been putting cuffs on long-sleeved shirts. The factory hired her immediately out of high school.

On a 60x30-feet plot of land, Coberly can raise a heap of vegetables. Her garden is so large that visitors think it is a truck patch. Processing the harvest is done on an old electric stove in the basement.

Each year, she stores a few hundred pounds of potatoes, broccoli, cauliflower, parsnips, lima beans, kidney beans, green beans, peas, and more.

"I have my family spoiled. They don't like what comes bought in a can," admits Coberly.

There is a cherished old version of a white lima bean that Coberly preserves every year by drying and saving the seeds that enable her to sow them again the following spring.

She puts down plastic in the garden to reduce hoeing and weeding demands. Raising the produce and doing the actual processing are her primary areas, but the others do jobs that fall in-between.

"I have a supportive family," she says. "They help."

'They all shell beans and peas — they can watch TV while they do it — I'm nice," she says, laughing. 'They understand it is their job."

'My mother taught me canning," Coberly says, with loving respect. 'I never regreted all the weeds we had to pull together. That's why we got so close. We talked about everything — politics and boys, when I was going through that stage even a little gossip."

'She was a good mother because she was a good listener," says Coberly, one of eight children.

When hunting season rolls around, Coberly goes to the woods with her husband and son. If a deer is bagged and butchered, she cans the meat, but adds Norman has taken over making the venison jerky and bologna.

There is something about tedious work like sewing little outfits for a Barbie doll, that Coberly finds very relaxing. "I like to do stuff like that," she says. 'I block everything out. Its nice to get away from everything else."

Serving her church is also important to her, and for that reason teaches catechism class at St. Michaels Catholic Church in West Salisbury.

FROSTED CHRISTMAS TREE COOKIES

3¼ cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons Hershey's cocoa
2 teaspoons ground ginger
3 teaspoons cinnamon
2 teaspoons ground cloves
1 cup softened butter
1 cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup molasses sugar icing

Sift dry ingredients together. In a large bowl beat softened butter, sugar, egg, and molasses. Stir in sifted dry ingredients and continue stirring until well blended. Wrap dough in plastic wrap and refrigerate several hours. Roll dough out on floured surface to ¼-inch thickness. Cut out Christmas tree shapes. Bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees, for 8 minutes. Paint with sugar icing.

SUGAR ICING

1 pound confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup water

Two Special Baking Contests Featured At Farm Show

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — A new baking contest has been added to the slate for the 2001 Pennsylvania Farm Show.

New this year is the Health Craft Pineapple Upside Down Cake. Back for the third year is that Pennsylvania Dutch favorite, the Golden Barrel Molasses Shoofly Pie Contest.

These contests will be on Sunday, Jan. 7 in the Family Living area on the second floor of the Northeast Building.

You need to bring you entry between 11 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. for the Pineapple Upside Down Cake. The cake will be judged on appearance, consistency, flavor, moistness, texture, and aroma. The actual presentation judging begins at 1 p.m. Prizes are $500 to the winner, $100 for the runner-up, and $50 for the third place.

Back for third year is the Golden Barrel Shoofly Pie contest. A prize of $500 will be awarded with second and third the same awards as the cake. Pies need to arrive between noon and 2 p.m. and presentation judging will be at 3 p.m.

Judging criteria is the same for both contests. In both contests, the winners will be paid directly by the sponsors. Recipes must accompany the entry.

The contests are open to youth as well as adults.

4-H Achievement Banquet Honors Members, Leaders

Northampton County 4-H senior award winners with Representatives Craig Dally and Rich Grucela.

NAZARETH (Northampton Co.) — A crowd of 225 friends and families of Northampton County 4-H attended the Annual 4-H Achievement Banquet.

4-H youth and leaders were honored for their accomplishments and dedicated service throughout the year.

Special awards were presented to the following 4-H'ers:

The 4-H Center Board Memorial Scholarship was presented to Dana Schrantz and Rachael Slotcavage.

4-H Poster Contest Winners were Brett and Ryan Hoadley and Rebekah Brown.

Officer of the year awards were presented to presidents, Keith Hontz and Shelly Kneebone; secretaries, Nicole Kondziela, Annie Stewart, and Sarah Buskirk; treasurers, Kelsey Beal and Erin Hontz; and news reporter, Sean Kneebone.

4-H adult volunteer leaders were honored for their hard work and dedication to 4-H. Mildred Arndt was honored for 45 years of service as a 4-H leader; Rosaleen Fehnel and Lee Snyder for 25 years as a 4-H leader; Julie Ann Hurlock for 10 years as 4-H leaders; Janice Buskirk, Linda Hower, Betsy Newcomb, Sue Voorhees, Sherwood Geiger, Ned Hower, and Sharon Peck for five years as 4-H leaders; and 19 leaders were honored for being first-year leaders.

A special plaque was awarded to Wayne Hachten, DVM, as recipient of this year's 2000 "Friend of 4-H" Award for his generous help with several animal science clubs. Representatives Rich Gruecela and Craig Dally made special presentations to award winning 4-H members in their districts.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Pennsylvania 4-H Shooting Sports Committee To Conduct Instructor Certification Course

The Pennsylvania 4-H Shooting Sports Committee will conduct a training program and instructor certification course for adults interested in working with youths April 6-8, at Camp Susque in Lycoming County.

The workshop will be funded in part by grants from the "The NRA Fountain," Federal Cartridge Corporation, and the National Wild Turkey Federation.

Programming will involve specialized training and certification for instructors in the NRA/4-H rifle, pistol, and shotgun shooting sports programs. Archery participants will receive National Archery Association Level 1 certification. Program participants will be certified to organize 4-H project clubs and conduct instruction in these program areas.

One hundred nineteen 4-H volunteer leaders from 42 counties participated in the Pennsylvania 4-H Shooting Sports workshop in April 2000 in Butler County.

This year's program will feature presentations by NRA Disability Services. Director Dave Baskin will assist leaders who work with disabled individuals/groups in shooting sports projects.

Several related projects and activities will also be introduced during this year's training, including "Woodworking for Wildlife," "Wildlife Through The Seasons," "Endangered Species," and the Penn State 4-H Habitat Evaluation contest.

The 4-H Shooting Sports program has grown rapidly in Pennsylvania, with more than 3,000 youth's ages 8 to 18 completing projects in this program area in 2000.

4-H members receive training in marksmanship, firearm safety, and handling. They also have the opportunity to compete in county, regional, statewide, and national contests. Air pistol, air rifle, archery, shotgun, and .22 rifle contests are conducted for teens at 4-H State Achievement Days at Penn State University in July.

In July 2000, two teams representing Penn State 4-H competed with 17 other states in National 4-H Competition at San Antonio, Texas. The archery and shotgun teams represented Pennsylvania well, bringing home the national championship and a number of team and individual trophies.

Do You Suffer From Fibromyalgia?

When I was introduced to New Image I was 50 pounds over weight and suffered from fibromyalgia I was so depressed and in pain the majority of the time I was taking steroids and four other medications, one of which made me so 'groggy' I could hardly get out of bed and another gave me ulcers I began taking New Image secretly because I thought my family would make fun of me After a month, I discovered I had lost eight pounds and seven inches Wow! Then it dawned on me, I was feeling better, the depression and pain were gone In two months I was off all medications "I feel SUPERIFIC!" Now, two years later I have lost 43 pounds and 30 inches Thank you New Image for giving me a new life again Judy Swift - Mt Washington, KY

Skimmer and Mary Jo Wilson are surrounded by 4-H members of the 4-H swingers square dance club, which will compete at the Pennsylvania Farm Show. This year, 56 Bedford County square dancers, including four generations of the Wilson Family, will compete Monday at 7 p.m.

Four Generations Of Wilsons Dance At Farm Show

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

BEDFORD (Bedford Co.) — It all began when Cathy Wilson Harr of York County had a dream.

Every year, Cathy goes to the Farm Show to watch her grandparents, Frances "Skimmer" and Mary Wilson dance with the 4-H and adult groups. The Wilsons have been Farm Show dancing since the late 1970s.

Now both 77, Skimmer and Mary still find the dancing stimulating and look forward to the annual trip to Harrisburg each January.

The year 2000 was no exception; Cathy went to the Farm Show to watch her grandparents and, that night, dreamed that they, her parents, she and her husband, and her daughter and her boyfriend all competed in the Farm Show dancing.

"She called me the next day." said her mother, Chris Wilson of Bedford. "She said she wanted me to help make her dream come true. I have been busy every since organizing.

At times, it has seemed more like a nightmare than a dream.

With Cathy living several hours away, it has been difficult to get everyone together to practice.

Chris and her husband, Mike, had done some occasional dancing a number of years ago, but felt as though they were learning from scratch. Cathy learned as a teen-ager by taking lessons from her grandparents. Her daughter, Mindy and boyfriend, Andy, had never square danced. The only "pros" were Skimmer and Mary.

Then, there was the question of costumes. "The men varied too much in size to ever find print or plaid shirts to fit all of them," Chris explains. "We settled on white shirts for the guys with vests to match the dresses the ladies will be wearing. As for the material, we didn't have a lot of choice. We needed 30 yards and we took what we could get."

Barring any unforeseen circumstances, the Wilsons expect to be ready for the Jan. 8 competition. The costumes, at this writing, are in the expert seamstress hands of Shirley Bowers of Schellsburg.

Skimmer and Mary Wilson began dancing in the late 1940s when hoedowns were popular. It was in the late 1960s that western-style square dancing was introduced in Bedford and Skimmer and Mary were some of the organizers of that first group.

In 1971, the Wilsons became 4-H leaders and began to teach their willing pupils, aged 8 to 18, how to do-si-do and allemande left.

The "4-H Swingers Square Dance Club" was organized in 1974. Since the club's formation, the Swingers have traveled as far away from Bedford County as Nashville, Tenn. They have performed at special events and for nursing homes. The most exciting annual event has been the Farm Show. Only once did Ma Nature get into the act causing a cancellation.

"We have taken a bus load of kids every year," said Skimmer. "And, not once have we had a problem with them. We learned early on that if we left early in the morning, the kids were too tired to dance by evening. Now, we leave at noon and get back around midnight."

We are now teaching second generations and some of the grown kids are coming back with their children. Dan Bromley has set the record dancing the most years. This will be his 11th Farm Show.

"There's an attitude among the dancers," said Mary. "A good attitude. They never complain about dancing with older people, they really don't complain about anything. They come to have a good time."

It's probably the "dancing attitude" that has also kept Skimmer and Mary in good shape.

Skimmer had a heart attack in 1988, and doctors were amazed at his fast recovery. They attributed it to his good physical condition brought about by dancing.

When the dance club began, there was usually a shortage of boys. Girls' interest in sports has brought about a reversal in the gender gap.

This year, 56 Bedford County square dancers, including the Wilson family, will be taking the center stage for the annual competition.

"It doesn't matter what we win," Chris said with a laugh, "We have made Cathy's dream come true!"

New York State Dairy Princess Pageant, ADADC Annual Meeting To Be Held Feb. 20-21

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. (ADADC) announces the annual New York State Dairy Princess Pageant will be conducted Tuesday, Feb. 20, and its annual meeting on Wednesday, Feb. 21, at the Holiday Inn, 7th North Street, in Liverpool, NY.

Festivities begin on Tuesday with a milk punch reception at 5 p.m. and a banquet at 6 p.m. County dairy princesses from throughout the state will compete to be the 2001-2002 New York State Dairy Princess (currently Marianne Moody, from Delaware County).

An ADADC 2000 program presentation will highlight the "got milk?" advertising campaign and the promotional contributions of the consumer promotions, nutrition education, and communications workgroups. On Wednesday, the annual meeting will begin at 8 a.m. The agenda includes financial, advertising, and program updates.

The pageant culminates two days of judging for the contestants. The judges will be looking for the young women who most effectively promotes milk and dairy products; based on a personal interview, impromptu, and prepared adult speeches, and informal interaction with others.

In addition to the three state representatives who will receive awards of $1,200, $700, and $600 respectively, awards will also be presented to three girls in each of the following categories: adult speeches, written communications, and product knowledge.

Also, three girls will receive a public relations award, designed to recognize special-events efforts at the local county level. "Miss Congeniality" will be selected from the contestants and recognized as the dairy princess who demonstrates the most friendliness and cooperative spirit of competition.

Two college students will receive the ADADC Memorial Scholarship and Leo Briggs Memorial Scholarship. Both $500 scholarships are based on grade-point average, extracurricular activities, future plans, and a 400-word essay discussing the applicant's commitment to a career in the dairy industry.

The Robert S. Turner Promoter of the Year Award will be presented to the county that has done an outstanding job promoting milk and dairy products. Selection is based on the number and types of promotional activities conducted by the 1999-2000 county dairy princesses and their courts.

A Golden Cow Award will be presented to an adult county dairy promotion committee member, as recognition for outstanding service and dedication to local dairy promotion in New York State.

Banquet tickets are $20 per person and must be reserved by Friday, Feb. 9. Make checks payable to ADADC and mail to Deborah Mathers, American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc., 219 South West Street, Suite 100, Syracuse, N Y 13202-1205.

The Holiday Inn is located directly across from exit 37 of the New York State Thruway. From Route 81 North or South, take exit 25-Seventh North Street. Go to the end of the ramp and take a right. The hotel will be straight ahead on the "T" (one mile).

Animals on Display - over 5,000 head of sheep, swine horses, cattle, goats, and rabbits are expected for competition. Always in the limelight, our livestock shows and sales attract exhibitors and visitors from all corners of the commonwealth.

Butter Sculpture - The Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program will sponsor another life-size butter sculpture. This will be located in the East Lobby.

Commercial Exhibitors - You will see this year's newest innovation in farm equipment, services, and products, and learn more about them from representatives of over 325 companies with exhibits around the complex.

Cooking Demonstrations are an ongoing feature in the Food Pantry throughout the week.

Educational Exhibits - Government agencies, universities, and agricultural organizations always offer Farm Show visitors valuable information on their services and activities. Visitors can talk with representatives of these groups and get first-hand information, on a multitude of subjects.

Family Living and Agricultural Learning Center – One acre of family living, horticultural, environmental and 4-H and FFA exhibits are located in the Family Living and Agricultural Center. These interesting presentations are featured on stage on the second floor of the Northeast Building.

Food Court - Eleven Pennsylvania commodity associations offer their specialties for sale in the orange East Building. Featuring the tastes of Pennsylvania's finest agricultural products, the famous Farm Show Food Court is one place you'll want to visit again and again.

Food Pantry - The Food Pantry in the West Lobby features hundreds of items produced and processed in Pennsylvania. Cooking demonstrations are presented several times each day, as culinary students incorporate many of the products on display into their favorite recipes.

4-H Exhibits - Food and nutrition, clothing and textiles, crafts, child care, animal science and entomology, photography, woodworking, gardening and wildlife are some of the project categories that 4-H club members can submit for judging in the Family Living department.

Horticulture Center - You are sure to find inspiration for your own landscaping projects when you see what our FFA members have done with their landscape exhibits located throughout the second floor of the Northeast Building, Family Living and Agricultural Learning Center.

Hours - Farm Show hours are now 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day except Thursday, when the show closes at 4 p.m. The blue Main Building with commercial exhibits opens one hour later and closes one hour earlier than the rest of the Farm Show Complex.

Milking Parlor - Hundreds of cows are milked twice a day in a modern milking parlor in the red North Building. Unique among dairy shows, this facility is approved by state milk sanitarians for the production and sale of fluid milk. The milk is inspected, cooled, and pumped onto bulk tanks for sale through normal market channels, with proceeds going back to the Farm Show exhibitors.

Pennsylvania Food Market - The Food Market features a variety of Pennsylvania companies promoting their own snack foods, candy, spices, processed meats, condiments and beverages through sales and sampling. The Food market has moved to a new location in the Southwest Corner of the Main Exhibition area. This popular exhibit was previously located in the Maclay Street Lobby.

Rodeo - Youth champions from around the state will compete in two separate rodeos on Saturday. Sanctioned by the Pennsylvania High School Rodeo Association, classes are posted for team roping, saddle and bareback riding, bull riding, steer wrestling, calf roping, breakaway roping, goat tying, pole bending and barrel racing.

School Activities - Vo-ag students from Pennsylvania high schools compete for a slice of the Farm Show prize money with a variety of demonstrations and exhibits. Eighteen educational window exhibits can be found on the lower concourse of the Large Arena, while interesting landscape exhibits and horticultural exhibits can be found in the Family Living and Agricultural Learning Center. Both 4-H and FFA student demonstrations during the week on the stages of the Family Living and Agricultural Learning Center.

Shaver's Creek Environmental Center - You can see birds of prey, turtles, snakes, spiders, toads, honeybees, skulls and skins in this educational display geared toward children. This interactive exhibit is open all week in the Family Living and Agricultural Learning Center.

Supreme Champions - Selections of the prestigious 2001 Pennsylvania Farm Show Supreme Champions will be made for draft horses, swine, dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep wool breeds and meat breeds after the last breed is judged in each department.

Penn State Reaches Out To Farm Show Visitors

The show takes place Jan. 6-11 in Harrisburg and draws thousands of people from across Pennsylvania and beyond.

The following will be featured at the College of Agricultural Sciences' exhibit area in the Main Exhibition Hall at this year's show:

• Ask the Experts. Visitors to this area can find answers to their questions about home horticulture, food safety, crop production, and soil management. Faculty and staff specialists, as well as Master Gardeners, will be on hand to offer advice and information. Visitors also can find out how to access the college's Website and download information and publications at home to address their needs.

• Forest Resources. From oak tree regeneration to squirrel invasion problems, visitors to this area can find help with their problems. Faculty and staff from the School of Forest Resources will be on hand to answer questions and distribute publications about wildlife, creating healthy ponds and forestry.

• Integrated Pest Management (IPM). Farm Show visitors can go "buggy" at this highly interactive and informative exhibit. Faculty and staff will offer advice on insect problems while sharing information about the Pennsylvania IPM program. The exhibit will feature the talking "Bugmobile," which is a great hit with young and old alike. "We purchased an old VW beetle, repainted it as a ladybug, and have developed displays to go with it," said education specialist Lyn Garling. "Our goal is to educate people about 'good' versus 'bad' insects, the benefits of using IPM to address pest problems, and how to choose and use pesticides correctly."

• West Nile encephalitis, Lyme disease, and Rural Health. Farm Show visitors can talk with specialists about public health issues related to the insect-borne diseases West Nile encephalitis and Lyme disease, as well as issues such as access to health care, Medicare managed care, migrant and farm worker health, and cancer prevention.

• Penn State Cooperative Extension and Outreach. The college offers a wide variety of programs to help Pennsylvanians improve agricultural production practices and the quality of life for youth, families, and communities. Extension personnel will staff a display in the college's primary exhibit area, as well as other areas throughout the complex, offering information and educational materials to Farm Show visitors.

The Ag Advocates, a student organization that represents the college and the many aspects of agriculture at public events, also will be prominent at the college exhibit. Students from the organization will answer general questions about undergraduate programs and agricultural education and refer parents and prospective students to admission information and resources. Graduate program information also will be available.

In addition, College of Agricultural Sciences' faculty and staff will team up with representatives from Pennsylvania's agriculture and health departments and the AgrAbility program to offer farm safety information, educational materials, and hands-on activities at a separate exhibit area in the Main Exhibition Hall. Visitors also can participate in a Farm Safety Quiz Bowl contest, organized in conjunction with FFA and 4-H, which will be held in the Family Living and Agricultural Learning Center on the second floor of the Northeast Building. Throughout the Farm Show Complex, more than 200 faculty, staff, volunteers, and students affiliated with the college will help to judge events, staff exhibit areas, and provide auxiliary services such as radio news feeds at the show.

The Pennsylvania Farm Show opens each day at 8 a.m. Main floor hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday through Wednesday, and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday. Parking is $5 and admission is free.

Calling All Pennsylvania Cow's Milk Cheesemakers

PHILADELPHIA — Are you a cheesemaker in Pennsylvania? Do you produce cow's milk cheese?

If so, the state's dairy promotion organizations would like to feature your products in a life-size cheese display at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in January 2001.

A new feature this year, the cheese exhibit will feature cow's milk cheeses produced in Pennsylvania. The cheeses will be on display in the center of the Food Court, where the annual Butter Sculpture has been featured in past years.

Sponsored by the American Dairy Association/Dairy Council Middle Atlantic, the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, and the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Mid East, this year's display will feature the theme, "Pennsylvania Artisanal Cheeses."

"We decided we wanted to create awareness of this up and coming trend in domestic cheeses," said Alexa Stoner, industry relations specialist for ADA/DC Middle Atlantic. "We think this exhibit will show consumers that within Pennsylvania, there is a great variety of unique and flavorful domestic cheeses right in our own backyard."

Ag Republicans To Meet

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Honorable Michael Waugh, first term state senator from Glen Rock, is the keynote speaker at the 22nd annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Ag Republicans.

The meeting will be at 3:30 p.m., Jan. 8, in Room B of the Farm Show Complex, in conjunction with the Pennsylvania Farm Show.

Waugh served two terms in the House of Representatives in the Pennsylvania General Assembly. He serves on the Senate Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee. In York County, he lives on a 100-acre farm, where he raises grain and draft horses. Waugh has a strong small business background.

Official business including a committee reports are scheduled as part of the meeting. All ag republicans who attend the Pennsylvania Farm Show are encouraged to attend this meeting.

Pennsylvania Ag Republicans is an organization affiliated with the Pennsylvania Republican State Committee to encourage Republicans involved in agriculture to be active in the political process of the state. To become a member of the Pennsylvania Ag Republicans or for additional information, contact Beverly Gruber, chair, at (610) 767-5026.

Pennsylvania Holstein Association At Farm Show

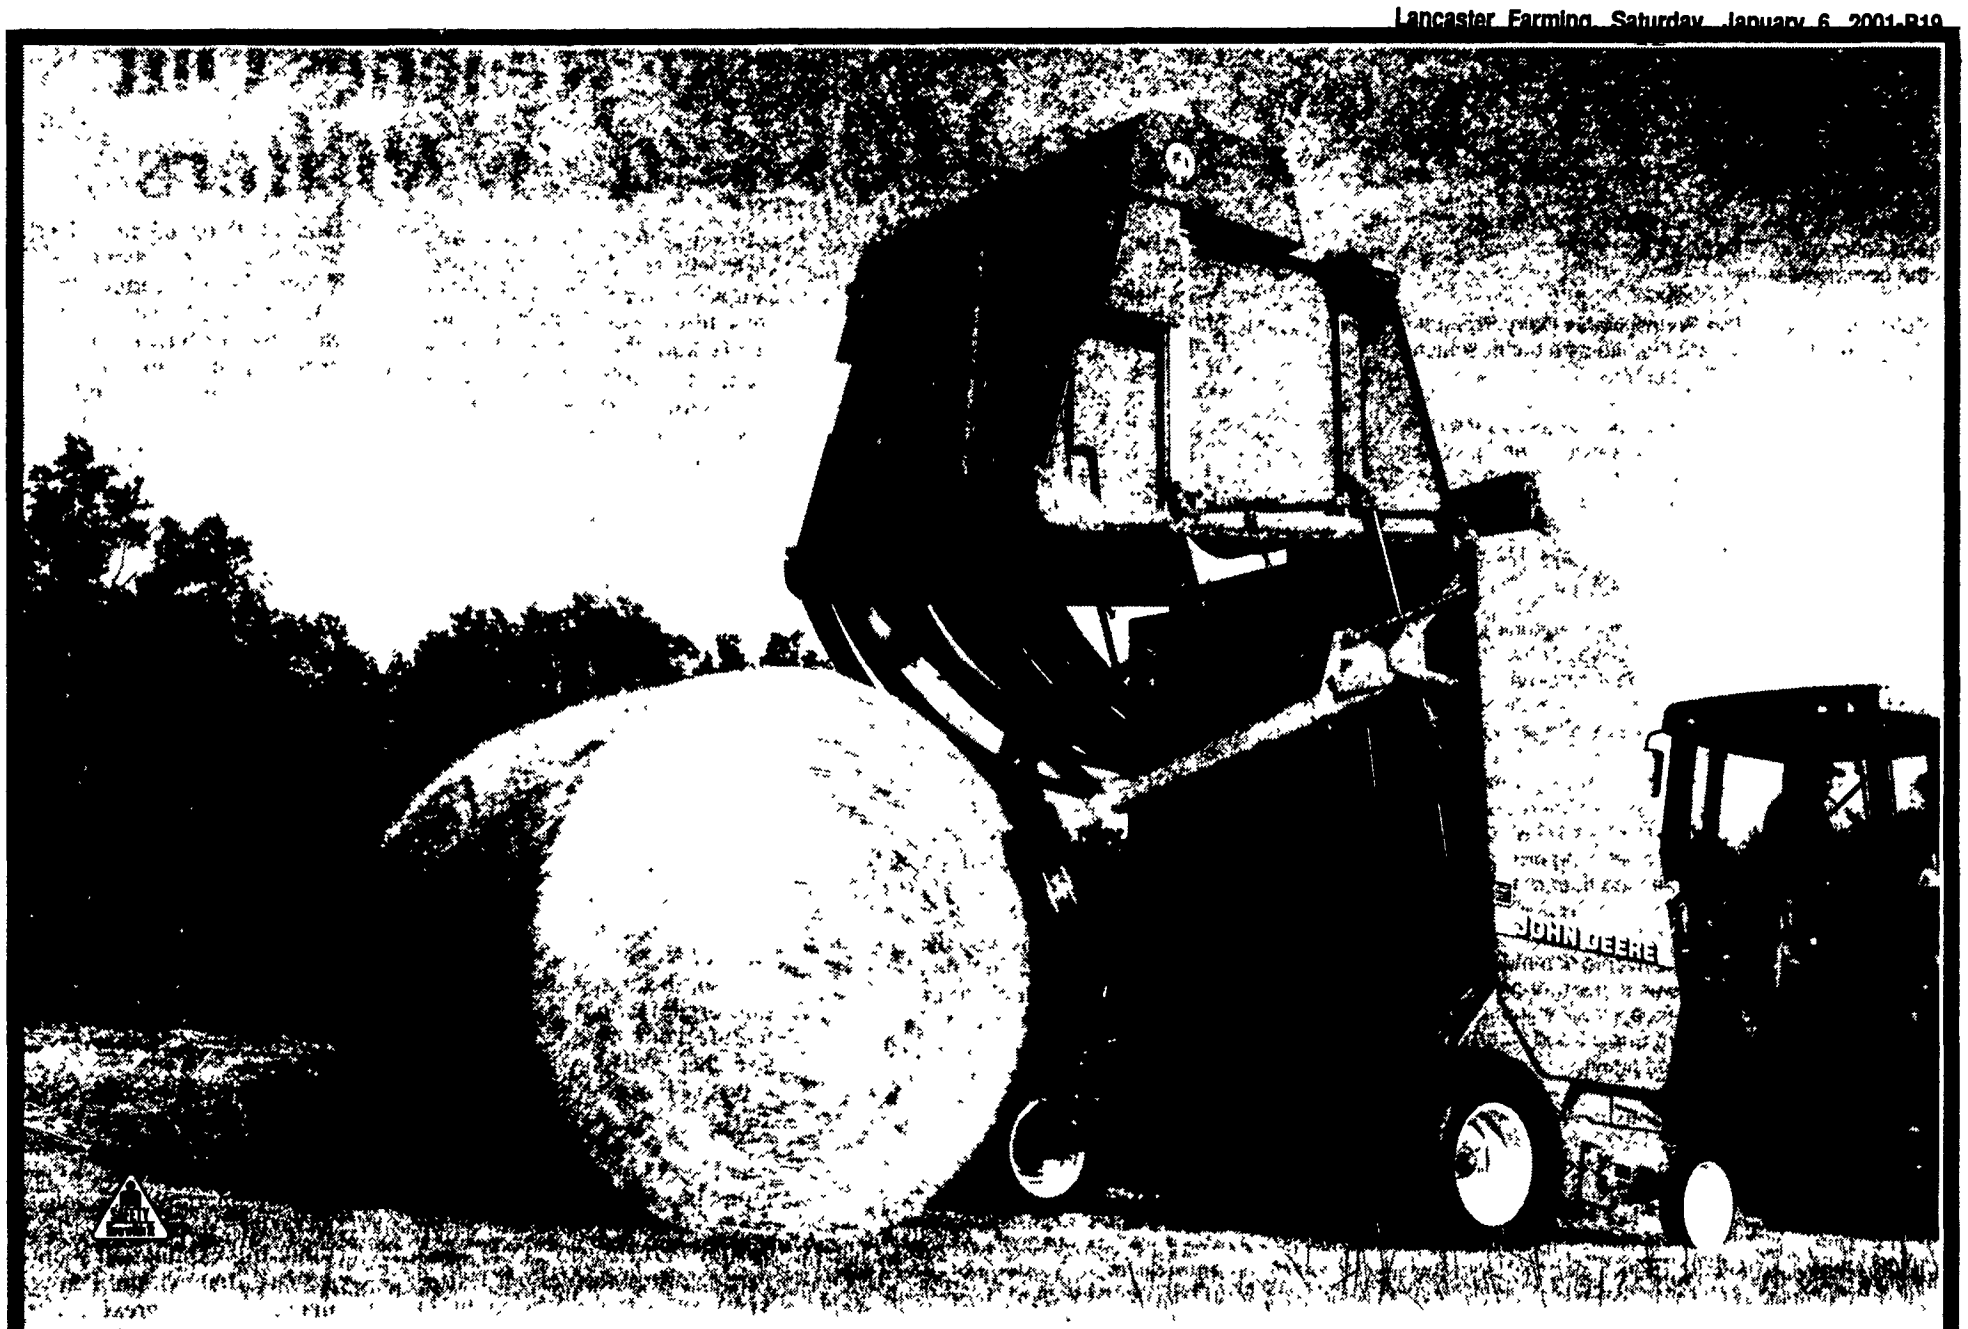
STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The Pennsylvania Holstein Association will have booths at both the 2001 Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg and the Keystone Farm Show in York. The Pennsylvania Farm Show runs from Jan. 6-11 and the Keystone Show runs from Jan. 9-11.

We invite our members and friends to stop by and visit with us to find out what's new and happening with the Association.

People who are interested in joining the Pennsylvania Holstein Association will want to consider the visiting us at either Farm Show in January as a time to join the Association. Pennsylvania Holstein will be running a membership special for new members who join from Jan. 1-15, 2001, where any new member can join for half the cost, the base fee will be $17.50 and per cow fee will be $.33 per cow.

Producers can send in an application by Jan. 15, and receive the new member discounts if they cannot attend either event.

For more information about the Pennsylvania Holstein Association or to receive a membership application, contact the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, 839 Benner Pike, State College, PA 16801. Phone: (814) 234-0364; fax: (814) 234-1698; e-mail: pha@vicon.net; Web address: www.paholstein.com



GET THE EDGE ON BETTER BALES

New John Deere 7 Series Round Balers

Now, you can significantly improve the quality of your hay with the new 7 Series Balers from John Deere. Eight new models make solid bales from 32 to 72 inches in diameter. New MegaWide™ pickup sweeps in the heaviest windrow, while famous John Deere Diamond-tread belts pack tight, dense bales. Plus, new CoverEdge™ net-wrap gives your hay the ultimate in nutritional value and storage protection.

Unlike conventional monofilament net-wrap which leaves four to five inches on each side unprotected, CoverEdge net-wrap extends over the sidewall to hold hay from edge-to-edge. It allows air to circulate inside the bale, yet effectively repels rain and moisture, keeping your hay more palatable, and more nutritious.

Don't compromise the feed value of your hay with an ordinary baler. Stop by and ask your John Deere dealer about the new 7 Series Balers and exclusive CoverEdge net wrap today!

Who Owns That Masked Machine?

Shannon Villa
Pa. Credit
Union League

Have you ever used an ATM in a convenience store or remote location that did not identify which financial institution owned the machine? Be wary of these machines.

When you get your ATM card, your financial institution makes an agreement with you to not surcharge you for using their ATMs. But some banks are not living up to their end of the deal and are charging their own account holders. How are they doing this? With unmarked ATMS.

According to a recent report in bankrate.com (www.bankrate.com), Bank of America has been named in a suit that alleges that they charged account holders for using the bank's own unbranded automated teller machines, in violation of its customer agreement.

The plaintiff in the suit, a Bank of America customer, was willing to pay a surcharge for the convenience of using a particular (unmarked) ATM. But, one day, he became suspicious when the machine gave him a receipt bearing the Bank of America logo. He felt sure that the financial institution did not own the machine; after all, it was charging him those fees. So, he called the customer service number on the receipt and was connected to a Bank of America representative who confirmed that the ATM did, indeed, belong to the bank.

The bank refunded the plaintiff's money for the fees charged, but when he returned to use that ATM, he was again assessed a surcharge. What did Bank of America have to say about this practice? Spokeswoman Holly Seagle said, "I can tell you that Bank of America customers can avoid fees by using Bank of America-branded ATMs."

Bank of America's ATMs are not alone. All around the United States there are ATMs that are not owned by banks or credit unions, but by independent ATM networks that charge fees to all users. They then split the income with the business owner in return for the space provided for the machine. But some banks do not put their names on ATMs they own, trying to pass them off to customers as some of the non-bank-owned machines.

According to David Sorkin, assistant professor of law at the John Marshall Law School in Chicago, Bank of America is not the only financial institution that does this. Bank One has also been a leader in the practice. "They pretend it's somebody else's ATM and treat it as another ATM and it surcharges everybody," says Sorkin.

ATM $urcharges (www.atm-surcharges.com), a Web site authored by Sorkin, offers these suggestions to avoid all ATM surcharges:

- Use ATMs that you know are owned by your credit union or bank.
- Look for ATMs that don't surcharge. Avoid ATMs in convenience stores, restaurants and hotels, as they are more likely to impose a surcharge.
- Plan ahead and withdraw more cash at one time.
- Consider alternative methods for obtaining cash.
- Add a cash withdrawal to your purchase at stores that accept ATM cards.
- Write a check/share draft and cash it at the grocery store, if yours offers this service. If there is a charge, it most likely will be lower than an ATM surcharge.
- Use travelers checks, personal checks/share drafts or credit cards when traveling instead of withdrawing from an ATM.

Instead of surcharging consumers, credit unions in Pennsylvania have taken a different route. There is an easy way for you to completely bypass paying ATM surcharges. More than 300 credit unions have come together to form CU$, a network of no-surcharging ATMs. Working together, this alliance means that roughly 1.7 million members of those credit unions can go to almost 600 ATM locations and not pay one cent for accessing their own money.

If you are unsure of your credit union's participation in the network, look for the CU$ logo on the ATM. If you do not see it, ask your credit union to begin participation in the network. It's not a total fix in avoiding the estimated $2.5 billion of surcharge fees paid to financial institutions, but it is a start.

And, remember, the next time you walk up to an unmarked ATM, take a deep breath, then turn and walk away. It is a short walk to another machine that just might be part of the no-surcharging ATM alliance of which your credit union participates.

Pruning Evergreens Around Foundations

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Planting evergreens around a house's foundation is a landscaping no-brainer, because they stay green and require little maintenance. But a Penn State horticulture experts says foundation evergreens should be pruned to keep them looking good and scaled to the size of the house.

"So many homeowners plant large yews, junipers or arborvitae, and after a few years, the plants are blocking window views," says Emelie Swackhamer, Penn State Cooperative Extension agent in Lehigh County. "The best time to prune evergreens is from December to March in the winter dormant season."

Swackhamer recommends not pruning heavily in the spring, because cuts made during the growing season will result in very dense growth on top. "The dense upper growth can shade the lower foliage so much it will die," she says.

Swackhamer says many evergreen plants can grow quite large. Homeowners that do not want to prune their plants every year should consider removing the evergreens entirely and planting shrubs that grow to a manageable size. She also says an evergreen should be pruned while it still has manageable size and shape. "Removing large amounts of growth on an oversize plant will weaken the plant and give it a 'chopped-back' appearance."

Pruning Methods

Swackhamer recommends using "heading back" pruning for evergreens. Each longer stem should be cut back to a point well inside the plant. Each cut should be made back to an emerging branch, to prevent stubs. "Branch stubs can be infected by fungi that cause plant diseases," she says.

"Proper pruning allows more air and light to penetrate the plant," Swackhamer says. "The cuts made to an emerging branch will allow side branches to develop lower in the plant, which gives the plant denser growth but does not increase size."

Heading back pruning encourages green growth throughout the plant, while keeping the natural shape of the evergreen.

Shearing

Shearing pruning, or cutting all growth back to a uniform level, should be used only if a homeowner wants the plant grown into an unnatural shape. "Turning a plant into a box or round shape removes the most attractive green growth," Swackhamer says. "The next year, you will get very dense new growth on the outside, with very little green left inside." Swackhamer says homeowners can reverse the effects of shearing by thinning out interior branches while retaining the formal shape of the plant.

4-H HAPPENINGS

Youth Attend National 4-H Congress

More than 1,300 4-H members from 47 states and one U.S. territory participated.

The National 4-H Congress has a long history of providing a quality educational and multicultural experience that addresses the needs and issues of youth ages 14-19, while helping to develop capable, competent, and caring citizens.

Every 4-H member participated in the "Art of the Season" community service project conducted by the Children's Healthcare System. Children go to workshops to make holiday crafts, with all proceeds going to the Children's Healthcare System. The 4-H members manned the workshops and helped children create their crafts.

All participants were also asked to bring new children's books to Congress. More than 1,600 books were collected and donated to the Children's Healthcare Systems. These books will be distributed to children and parents to encourage reading in children. Last year this group handed out more than 2,700 children's books.

Workshops focused on cultural diversity and leadership. Five keynote speakers each provided a powerful message that focused on the positive attributes of youth to society. The speakers encouraged all 4-H members to make a difference in their community and throughout the world.

National 4-H Congress brings the best 4-H members from across the nation together to share ideas and improve their leadership skills. Forty-seven Pennsylvania 4-H members participated this year. Sarah Graybill of Mount Joy and Mary Zeng of Paradise attended in representation of the Lancaster County 4-H Program.

Just Kidding Around Pygmy Goat 4-H Club

On Jan. 18, the Just Kidding Around Pygmy Goat 4-H Club will meet at the Sharon Landis home in Lititz.

The club will again reorganize so it can run its year from January to December.

For more information on joining 4-H, contact Katina Showman, 4-H agent at the Lancaster County 4-H Office, 1383 Arcadia Road, Room 1, Lancaster, PA 17601, (717) 394-6851.

FFA Discover the Power

Area Leadership Training Conference

Recently, the Lebanon-Schuylkill FFA joined to conduct a leadership training conference at Elco High School.

The Lebanon County Officers started off the evening with ice breaker games that helped members get to know one another better.

The club was honored to have the Pennsylvania State FFA Officers attend the conference. State officers also helped with the icebreakers and provided greetings from the Pennsylvania FFA Association.

After the icebreakers, Javier Moreno, a student from Puerto Rico, spoke about agriculture in Puerto Rico. He inspired members to take part in the FFA, to promote FFA to the best of their abilities, and to be an active member. The Elco cafeteria staff provided the evening meal.

The Greenhand quiz contest took place after the meal. The quiz contest is a spelling bee-style contest where first-year FFA members are asked questions about the FFA. Cedar Crest members in the contest were Kyle Seyfert, Samantha Shepler, and Joel Heinaman. Prizes were given out throughout the evening.

Club members eventually split into four groups and participated in sessions with FFA county officers and the state FFA officers. Sessions included information on public speaking, official dress, teamwork, and positive attitudes. Members went home with a new understanding of the FFA.

Winterthur To Preview New Children's Garden Enchanted Woods At Philadelphia Flower Show

WINTERTHUR, Del. — Get a sneak peek at Enchanted Woods, a garden that encourages imagination, play and adventure, with a visit to Winterthur's display at the Philadelphia Flower Show, March 4-11.

A new, three-acre children's garden at Winterthur Museum, Garden and Library, Enchanted Woods invites visitors, both children and adults, to explore and play in a magical world while learning about nature and the environment. Dedication for the garden will take place on Father's Day, June 17.

Enchanted Woods includes several distinct areas for children to climb in, over, and around. The Flower Show display will feature a large Bird's Nest, inspired by one in the garden that is eight-feet in diameter.

SUPER BOOM™

New Look, Same Great Performance

New Holland LS-series Super Boom™ skid steers may have a sharp new look, but they still deliver the same innovative design features and field-proven performance advantages that you've come to expect from New Holland.

Ready when you are.

From construction and demolition to farming and landscaping, there's a New Holland Super Boom skid steer designed for you. And you can trust that, no matter which Super Boom model you choose, it will be up and running, ready to work whenever you are.

Every Super Boom skid steer is designed and engineered to provide you with powerful, versatile, reliable performance:

- Superior visibility: no rear frame towers in your way.
- Unbeatable stability: longer wheelbase and lower center of gravity make Super Boom a productive, comfortable, safe machine.
- Faster speeds: the fastest ground speeds in the industry for quicker cycle times. Dual-range transmissions with top travel speeds over 12 mph are standard on the LS180 and LS190
- Unequaled dump height and reach: vertical boom lift path makes it the best.
- Pound for pound, better lift capacity: the longer wheelbase and low center of gravity mean that Super Boom gives you more lift capacity per pound of total machine weight.

We know how much you rely on your equipment. That's why we've designed and built Super Boom skid steers to be tough, versatile workhorses ... machines that thrive on hard work and demanding conditions. After all, if you're not working, if you're not making a profit. That's why every Super Boom skid steer has been designed for unbeatable durability and reliability.

NEW HOLLAND

GENESIS™

New Holland TM tractors put outstanding versatility, maneuverability and comfort to work everyday.

There's a new standard of performance in 92-to-135 PTO hp tractors. Welcome to the era of New Holland TM tractors. Feature for feature, you won't find a more versatile, more agile, more comfortable tractor in the "mid-range." No matter what the job–tillage, planting, harvesting or farm maintenance–you'll work more productively in an all-new TM tractor.

Choose from five cab-only models. Take your pick of three transmissions, including a torque-sensing 18x6 powershift. Equip your TM with one of four front axles, including our popular SuperSteer™ FWD axle (with a 65° turn angle, it's the sharpest-turning axle available) or new, self-leveling Terraglide™ FWD axle suspension.

And consider the new, shock-absorbing Comfort Ride™ cab suspension–it makes the TM the smoothest-riding tractor you'll ever spend a day in.

In fact, everywhere you turn in a TM tractor, you'll find the tools to get more work done–from the fuel-efficient 7.5 liter New Holland engine to the new mid-mount remotes. You can even choose a custom-designed TM loader that's easy to hook-up and efficient to operate.

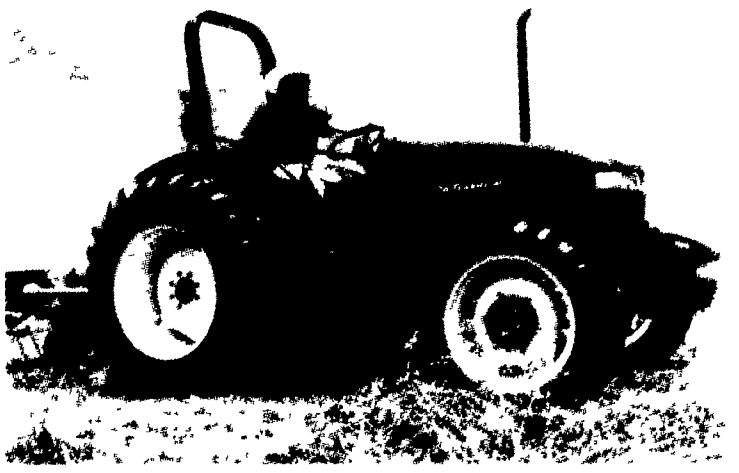
NEW! New Holland TND/TNS Tractors 42 to 62 PTO hp



Customer driven design

TND/TNS tractors have the features customers say they need. These tractors outperform and outmaneuver all others in the three-cylinder class. Plus they're loaded with comfort and convenience usually found on much bigger tractors.

Exclusive Traction Management System (TNS tractors only) automatically engages FWD when and only when you need it.

Four wheel differential lock is electro-hydraulically engaged on TNS tractors for maximum power to ground performance.

Comfortable cab is suspended and pressurized, shielding the operator from vibration, noise and dirt. Heater and A/C, two doors, tilt/telescoping steering, front and rear washers and wipers, and a best-in-class lighting package are standard. Excellent visibility and an overall height as low as 85.1" lets you go places competitive cab tractors can't.

NEW TS TRACTORS

Hard Working and Dependable

The attractive styling of New Holland TS tractors is the first thing to catch your eye. But don't let that throw you. TS tractors really know how to work, too.

Proven Engines - Powerful and efficient four-cylinder Genesis™ engines meet all the latest emission standards, and are specifically designed for the demands of farming. These large four cylinder, 304 cubic inch inch engines produce up to 32% PTO torque rise to power you through job after tough job. Plus, they run at low-rated speeds for increased durability.

Dependable Drive Components - Proven drivelines, clutches and axles transfer power to the ground efficiently. And the 25 mph top speed* on FWD tractors with 12x12, 24x24 or 16x16 transmissions reduces time between fields and jobs.

Efficient Hydraulics - TS tractors offer the best choice of hydraulics in their horsepower class. You can choose between one of two proven systems: an 18.2 gpm open center system supplied by tandem gear pumps, or a 21 gpm, closed center, load-sensing system (17.4 and 20 gpm on the TS110 because of the lower rated engine speed).

Comfort Cabs - The modern styling and finish of TS cabs provides a pleasant working environment. Exceptional visibility, a well-thought-out control layout, standard tilt-telescoping steering and your choice of two air-ride seats help to keep you operating at peak efficiency. New Holland TS tractors: more than good-looking. They know how to work.

Jim and Vivian Bonson went to great lengths to accurately replicate the historical Chad house. Jim believes that great architecture speaks highly of the artisans that helped produce it before the age of machines.

Bonson Home Tribute To Historical Workmanship

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

REEDSVILLE (Mifflin Co.) — Architecture, antiques, and artistic workmanship results in built-in beauty and historical significance at the Bonson home.

Jim Bonson, Reedsville, greatly admires the craftsmanship of old. He turns his artist's eye towards an architectural structure or household furnishing and sees the proportion, construction, and creator's individuality in items made before mechanization and round nails and meant for everyday use.

"Just look at that," Jim said, running his finger along the S-shaped beveled edge of a shelf divider on the inside of an antique cupboard. "They didn't need to do that. It's great to see the ingenuity of the people. They did what they needed to do with what wood they had and still created something that was graceful, strong, and useful."

Jim, now retired, began collecting antiques at age 19. He and his wife, Vivian, live in an "old" but newly built four-story stone house on Coffee Run Road.

"The whole Chester County area is a very rich area," Jim begins, meaning rich historically and in old estates. "Our house is a nearly exact replica of the John Chad house (sometimes spelled Chadd) built in 1725 in Chester County near Philadelphia."

Some might think the house too tall, but each stone la[i]d by hand, each carefully placed antique, and even the architectural design has its story to tell.

John Chad and his wife operated a ferry on the Brandywine River. The house survived the Revolutionary War and the battle of Brandywine. Washington's headquarters was not too far from there. Lafayette was housed in another property nearby. The Brinton house, built in 1704, and the home of the Wyeth family of painters near Chadds Ford are nearby. The Chad house sits not too far from the H. F. Du Pont property at Winterthur.

"Vivian's aunt and uncle worked for H. F. Du Pont, and we used to visit there. I saw a photo of the Chad house in a book on Pennsylvania architecture at the Mifflin County library. That's where we got the idea to began coordinating the building plans."

The stones for the house came from homes in Allensville and Ryde, Mifflin County, and Walnut, Juniata County. The front steps came from the old Barrville schoolhouse a few miles away. The doors, window frames, and chair rails came from a house near Allensville.

"All of the stones were moved up the scaffolding by hand. It's not a project you start today and expect to be sipping tea tomorrow," Jim said with a laugh while explaining the 10-year project. "It takes a lot of patience and hard work. We laid out the property so that your eye will pick up something that complements everything around it. We hid all electricity underground. The brown building hides our power source. We have a phone on every floor, but they're hidden, and electric heat with no registers."

"They might have had several fires going," Jim explains while pointing to a swinging "crane" used to position a cooking pot over a particular fire, two long narrow hanging irons with several hooks for cooking at varying heights above the fires, and an early ironwork kick toaster.

"Look at the intricate work on it. They wouldn't have had to do that. This type of fireplace killed more American housewives. Their long skirts caught fire while trying to reach the bake oven in the back. Later, they started to build the bake oven out and to the left or right of the fireplace jamb."

A narrow winding staircase leads to the second floor living room or "great hall" and kitchen. The staircase circles again to reach the bedroom and again to

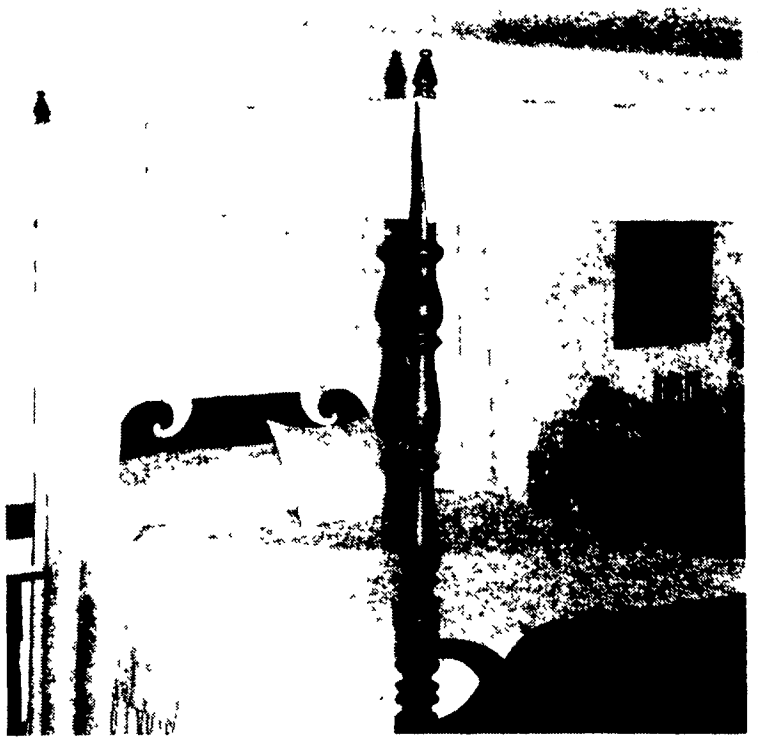
"The edges are softened by all that. That adds to the appeal of furniture. I once had antiques refinished, but you lose the character of the piece. The original surface or patina is recognized a whole lot more now. The original finish adds to the value."



The style of this canopy bed shows influence from the Sheraton era. Jim Bonson says it's harder to date antiques that were made in rural areas because styles changed more slowly.

Jim said that he and his wife sold many antiques in order to move from the larger New England saltbox house they built to this historic home.

"Vivian has a good eye for what antiques would fit where in a home. I give her credit for that.

"We didn't build this house to impress anyone. We would have liked to have bought an old stone house, but it was never able to come about. We built the New England saltbox house before this house but we wanted something that had Pennsylvania written all over it. It complements the antiques.

20th Century Japanese Kimonos Colorful, Collectible

Whether you wear them or frame them, Japanese kimonos and textiles from the early 20th century are being collected as wearable art. Even in the 15th and 16th centuries, they were considered works of art and special display racks of ebony, ivory, and polished bamboo were made to display them. Today, these examples are costly whenever they make a rare market appearance.

The Japanese kimono, as we know it, was first made in the early 13th century. Prior to then the "kosode" as the kimono was called, was heavy, undecorated, and worn under heavy formal court robes. The Buddhist influence until around 1573-1615 kept decorations restrained. During 17th and 18th centuries, colorful designs emerged turning the kimono and other Japanese textiles into an exciting new art form.

There are three main types of kimonos. The "kosode" meaning "small sleeves," the "furisode" meaning "long-sleeves," and the "yukata," an unembroidered print robe made for home and bath.

The designs in the textiles used several techniques that included dyeing, embroidering, brocading, appliqueing, raised gold-thread repousse work and hand painting.

Clues: It is the Kosode and its' tailoring that make it a canvas for figurative and geometrical designs. Its linear form was used to display a complete design. No two designs were alike. The finest Kosode embroidery is considered to be that done for the Japanese theater (Noh). Examples are seen in the 18th and 19th century woodcut Kabuki theater prints. With their dramatic use of color and heavy embroidery in gold and silver, they were theatrical to say the least. Few were signed. Some were created by several people or one lone artist.

While geometric designs often showed a Chinese influence, such as the swastika and thunder-line and the trellis motifs, for the most part, the end result was strictly Japanese.

Americans were introduced to them in quantity first at the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition in 1876 and by travelers until World War II. The next influx of Japanese textiles, after World War II included elaborate 20th century obis (wide bands of cloth wrapped around the waist).

"What people are looking for now are 20th century kimonos showing Art Deco and Art Moderne motifs," says Chicago art dealer Douglas Dawson.

As he points out, "the early 20th century saw the emergence of a newly-prosperous middle class in Japan, eager to embrace modern dress." The result was a kimono in the bold, often bizarre patterns reflective of the decorative forms favored by Europe's reigning Art Deco and Art Moderne stylists.

"Some were humorous while others are masterpieces of graphic design," Dawson says. He always manages to have some top notch examples on display in his West Huron Street gallery.

Expect to pay from $1,500 to $3,800 for Art Deco and Art Moderne designs. Nineteenth century theater kimonos can cost $8,000 or more. Some 19th century elaborately embroidered kimonos can cost from $18,000 to $38,000.

Antiques Question And Answer Column

I purchased a "Robert the Robot" for my son around 1959 that was made by Ideal Toy Corp. I this a desirable collectible? What is it worth?

K.C. — Birmingham, Miss.

Robots are "hot" collectibles right now with museum exhibits, etc. Yours could sell in a collectibles show or shop for $2,000 or more.

I have a turn-of-the-century banquet linen, tablecloth with 12 napkins and the last supper depicted. Is there any value to the set?

J.W.-Staten Island, N.Y.

From your description, your cloth is damask. The new appreciation for old linens has created a shortage and high prices. A dealer would ask from $1,500-$2,500.

I recently acquired what I believe is an old candy mold, made entirely of oak. It weights 10-pounds and has three black character faces carved into it. A metal plate on it reads "Thos. Mills & Bos., Inc. Confectioners & Bakers Tools, Philadelphia. Any information appreciated.

A.W. — Hawthorne, Fla.

From your description you appear to have a 19th century maple sugar mold. The African-American heads add to the value which could be more than $400.

I recently came across a Masonic shaving mug used by my father in the 1950s. Is it valuable?

L.S.A.—Omaha, Neb.

I have a small airplane that looks like a toy, however, it is made from cast iron, two castings fastened together, welded, ground to shape then painted red. Do you know anything about it?

J.P.F. — Naples, Fla.

You didn't mention any maker's marks. However, it is similar to those made by Hubley, an American toy maker in the late 1920s, 1930s. Price guides list similar examples, unmarked at $200-$350.

I have two "ladies' slipper chairs." The back is heavily carved and pierced of black forest mahogany. I believe them to date Victorian, c.1850 or slightly after. Can you evaluate them?

K.Z. — Staten Island, N.Y.

How much could I expect to sell a Steinway, square grand piano for? On the inside metal plate, it is stamped pat.29, 1859, New York. It has been restrung and refinished.

W.P. — Miami Beach, Fla.

Your piano could sell it at auction for more than $7,000.

I have a hand wringer made by Waupon Automatic Wringer Co., Waupon, WI. It has a chain drive and still works. Does it have any value?

G.S. — Chicago, Ill.

Welcome

I cordially invite you to take part in the 2001 Pennsylvania Farm Show, Jan 6-11

The Farm Show is the nation's leading indoor agricultural showcase. It proudly recognizes the dedication of Pennsylvania's 60,000 farm families, and offers visitors the chance to learn more about the ever-changing face of agriculture.

The Farm Show exhibits offer something for everyone. Whether you are interested in livestock, arts and crafts modern farm machinery—or if you just want to see the latest in agricultural technology—the Pennsylvania Farm Show has it all.

Put simply, Pennsylvania Agriculture feeds the world. To further ensure Pennsylvania's continued global agricultural leadership, Governor Tom Ridge and I announced the largest-ever state investment in agriculture—nearly $90 million—that will allow the state's farm families and agribusiness to compete and thrive in the New Economy of the 21st Century. This commitment to the future of Pennsylvania agriculture includes $66 million to expand and refurbish the Farm Show Complex, and nearly $24 million for a new Livestock Evaluation Facility and an upgraded Veterinary training facility.

Sam Hayes
Secretary of Agriculture

Parking is available on the 60-acre site for $5 per vehicle. Overflow parking is offered at the Harrisburg Area Community College (HACC) with shuttle bus service to the Main Exhibit Building. A small fee is charged for this service. Handicapped parking and access areas have been expanded and can now be found along the South Entrance, the North Entrance and in front of the Large Arena.

Security during Farm Show Week is provided by the Pennsylvania State Police and Farm Show Security.

Lost children and parents should report to the State Police Command Center along the north wall of the Main Building. Lost and Found items are kept in the Farm Show Security Office, located in the corridor between the Main and North Buildings.

The famous commodity food booths are located in the East Building. Snack bars are located around the facility. And, a cafeteria is located on the second floor of the Main Building offering complete meals and ala carte items.

The Emergency Medical Service with doctors, nurses and ambulance attendants is located on the Lower Concourse of the Large Arena.

Restrooms are located throughout the Farm Show Complex and most of them have diaper changing tables. Nursing mothers can find a quiet spot in the EMS room by the Large Arena.

Coat checks are located in the South Lobby and Large Arena. The fee is 50 cents per item.

Public pay telephones are available throughout the Farm Show Complex.

The Director's Office and Press Room are located on the second floor over the Main Lobby. The Radio Room is off the Lower Concourse of the Large Arena.

We're Big On the Power But Not On the Price

You can afford to move up to the productivity and profitability of a Steiger 4WD tractor

For over 25 years, Hoober has been selling and servicing Steiger four-wheel drive tractors. Over that time, Steiger tractors have stood for power and leadership, and the new STX Steiger tractors deliver a combination of industry leading features to maximize your productivity and profitability.

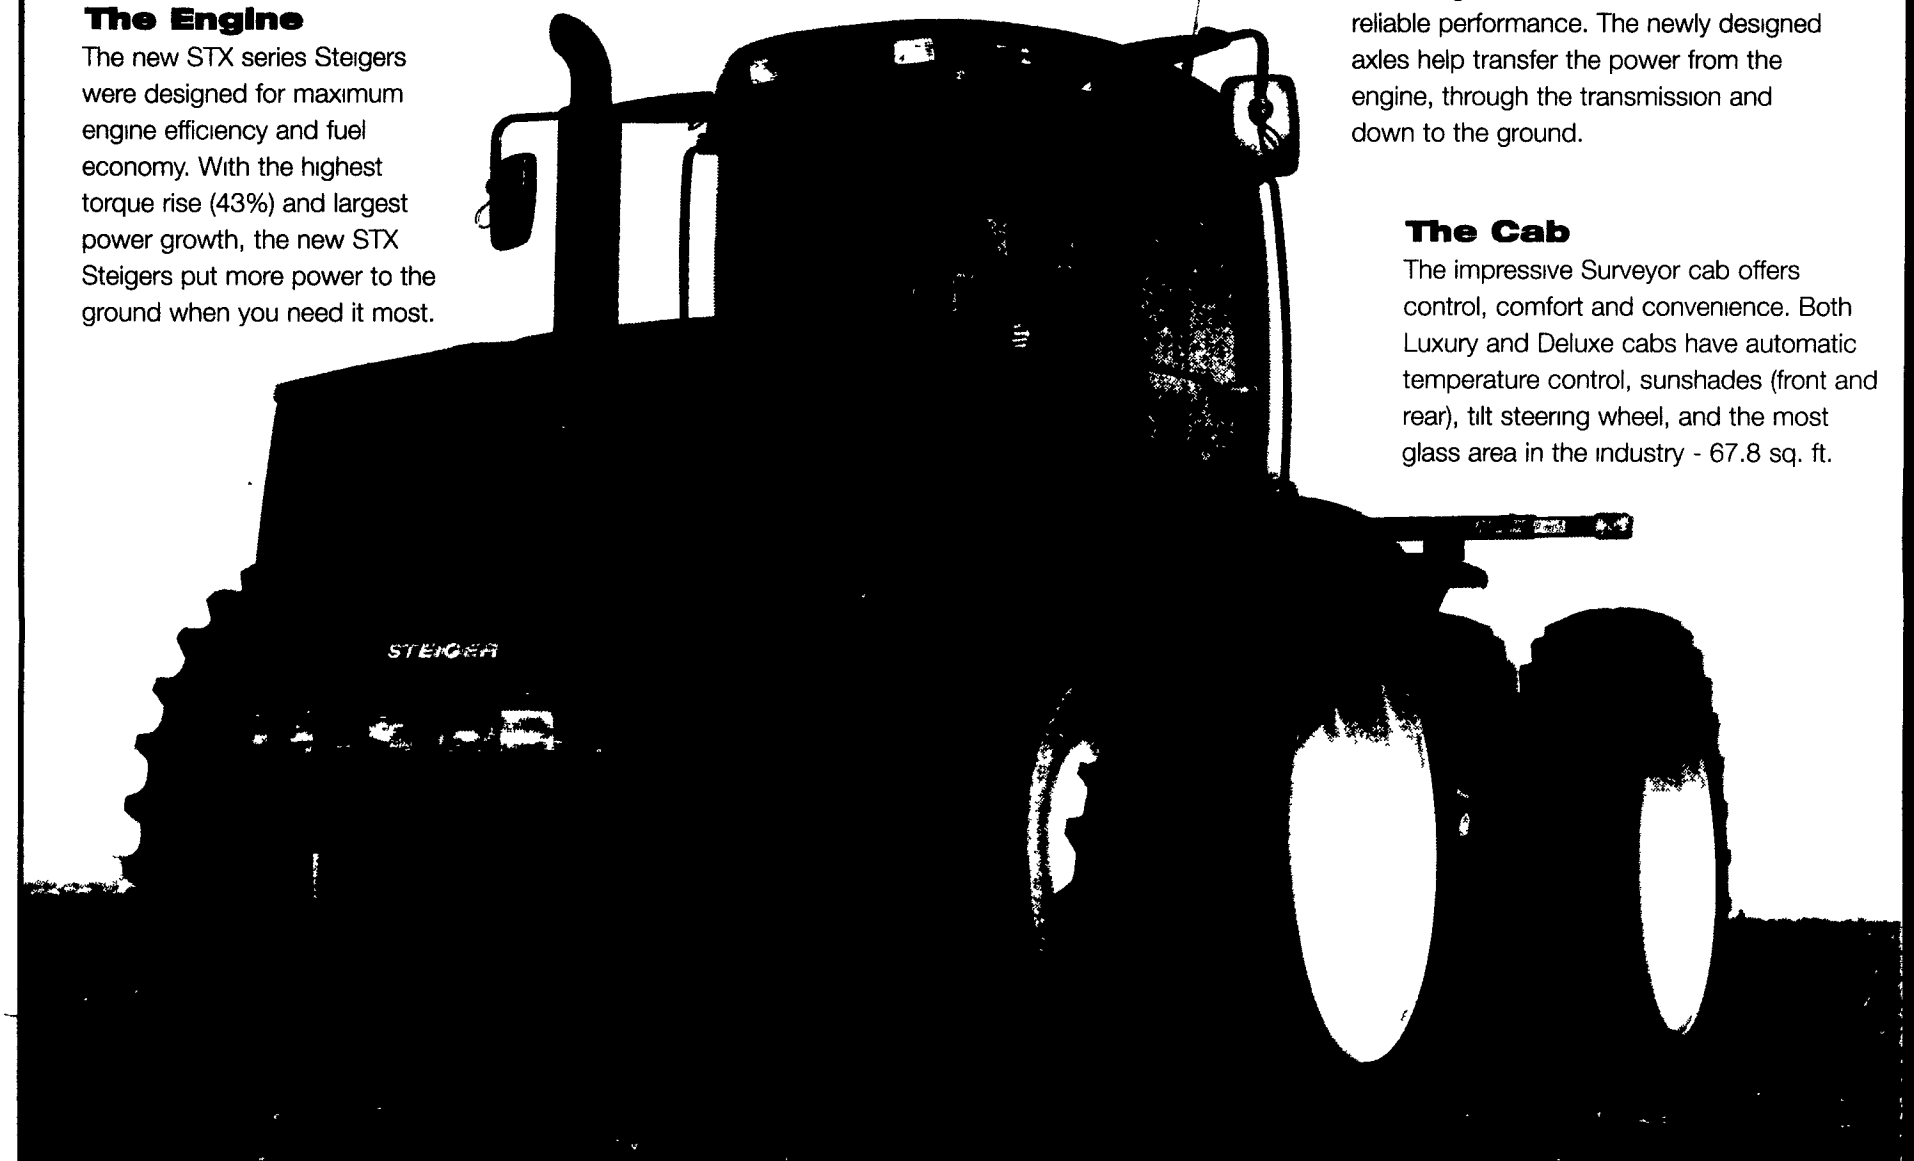
The Frame
The new STX Steigers are built bigger and stronger for superior durability, perfectly matched to the higher horsepower and demanding duties of larger-acre operations.

The Engine
The new STX series Steigers were designed for maximum engine efficiency and fuel economy. With the highest torque rise (43%) and largest power growth, the new STX Steigers put more power to the ground when you need it most.

The Transmission
The new STX Steigers feature the industry's first 16 speed full powershift in a 4WD. The powershift features nine gears between 3 and 8 miles per hour, shuttle-shift forward-reverse, and transport speeds up to 23 mph on the road.

The Axles
The new STX Steigers feature a rugged axle designed for more seasons of reliable performance. The newly designed axles help transfer the power from the engine, through the transmission and down to the ground.

The Cab
The impressive Surveyor cab offers control, comfort and convenience. Both Luxury and Deluxe cabs have automatic temperature control, sunshades (front and rear), tilt steering wheel, and the most glass area in the industry - 67.8 sq. ft.



MODELS AVAILABLE FROM 275 TO 440 PTO HORSEPOWER

GET PRECISE APPLICATION CONTROL

New Holland side-delivery spreaders provide the most material control. Whether you're light top dressing, laying down a heavy layer, or anything in between, the Model 3110 puts the right amount of material right where you need it.

- Handles a wide variety of material – slurry, gutter material, cow manure, even poultry litter.
- V-tank design delivers material to the auger fast.
- Heavy-duty round-core auger produces less drag.
- Double-acting hydraulic cylinder moves auger up and down to keep material flowing.
- Hydraulic gate and specially designed expeller give precise application control.
- Backed by a 10-year warranty against tank rust-through.

BCS

THE BEST SYSTEM ON EARTH

The Tiller That Has It All

Your garden can be the most productive ever using our machines. No other machine can break ground, cultivate, and power compost like a BCS. BCS offers you the three things you look for in a tiller:

Durability

With our all gear drive transmission and automotive style clutch, BCS machines are built to stand up to years of punishing use. In fact, we are so confident of BCS's reliability, all our machines are backed with a No-Time-Limit Warranty* on all gearbox components.

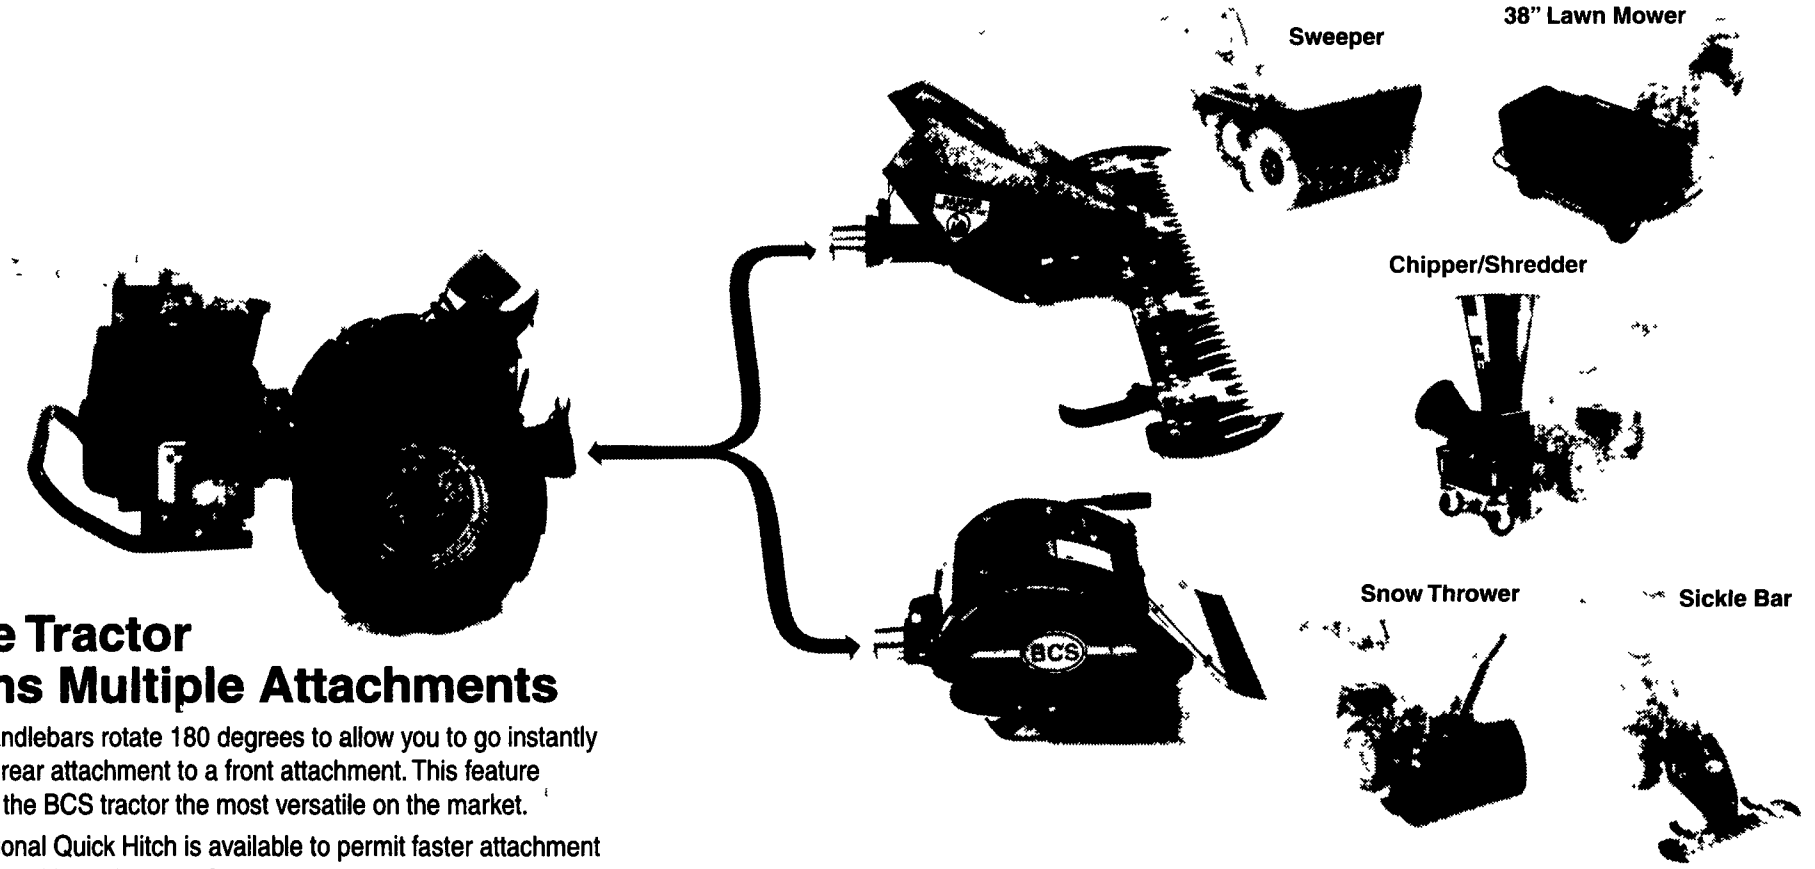
Performance

When comparing the gardening features on a BCS to any of the competition, it's clear that the benefits BCS offers you puts us a step ahead of everyone else. BCS will simply give you the best looking, most productive garden you can have.

Service After the Sale

If anything ever does happen to our machines, BCS has an extensive dealer network of "Gardening Experts" who can take care of your needs.

BCS takes great pride in the equipment we offer and we strongly urge you to compare us to any other tiller on the market. You will then find out why BCS really is "The Best Tiller On Earth."



One Tractor Runs Multiple Attachments

An optional Quick Hitch is available to permit faster attachment changes without the use of any tools.

BUSINESS ❖ NEWS

Knight Introduces Vertical TMR Mixer

BRODHEAD, Wis. — Knight has added a vertical mixer to their proven line of reel and four-auger mixers.

Workshop On Milking System Evaluation Feb. 1

ITHACA, N.Y. — A workshop to review the most current milking systems performance standards and techniques for on-farm analysis of milking systems will be offered Feb. 1 from 1:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Entitled "Milking System Performance Evaluation — Cutting-Edge Techniques," the workshops will be held at the Radisson Penn Harris Hotel and Convention Center in Camp Hill. The workshop is designed for those who have previous training or experience in milking system performance standards and testing.

It will directly follow the conference "Milking Systems and Parlors: Planning and Managing for Quality Milk and Profitability," Jan. 30-Feb. 1. Participants may register for either or both events.

The postconference milking system performance evaluation workshop will teach intermediate-to-advanced principles and emphasize how to apply these standards in the real world. The workshop teachers include leaders in milking equipment analysis services and applied research: Andrew P. Johnson, DVM, Total Herd Management Services, Inc.; Paul Rapnicki, DVM, assistant clinical specialist, College of Veterinary Medicine, University of Minnesota; David A. Reid, DVM, Rocky Ridge Veterinary Service; Douglas J. Reinemann, associate professor, Department of Biological Systems Engineering, University of Wisconsin—Madison; and Steven Stewart, DVM, clinical specialist, Department for Clinical and Population Sciences, University of Minnesota.

Topics to be covered at the postconference workshop include review of National Mastitis Council (NMC) airflow guidelines, additional airflow analysis techniques beyond NMC procedures, equipment factors affecting speed and completeness of milking, proper use of artificial flow simulation, proper selection and use of testing equipment, experiences with vacuum level settings and take-off settings, measurement of systems using variable speed pumps, dynamic measurements within claws and teat cups, and tools, adapters, and techniques to ease and enhance analysis.

The fee for the postconference workshop is $95 if postmarked by Jan. 8, and $125 if received after Jan. 8 or for walk-ins. The fee includes one lunch and break refreshments. Checks should be made payable to NRAES in U.S. funds. All major credit cards are accepted.

Should I Heat With Propane Or Shelled Corn?

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — When the price of corn is low and the price of energy high, agricultural producers may wonder if it would be cheaper to burn shelled corn rather than propane. The answer, according to an expert in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, is "it depends."

"This winter, corn is abundant while the price of energy is going through the roof and further," said Dennis Buffington, professor of agricultural and biological engineering. "It's a good year to consider burning corn to dry grain or heat animal facilities."

Buffington developed a chart to help people decide whether to burn shelled corn or propane. To use the chart, you find the intersection point of the value of shelled corn (vertical axis) and the price of propane (horizontal axis). "The territory where the intersection point falls tells you whether it's cheaper to burn shelled corn or propane," Buffington said.

"In late 2000, corn had a value of about $2 per bushel and propane cost about $1.30 per gallon," he said. "In this case, the intersection falls in the 'burn corn' territory. On the basis of combustion values, it's cheaper in this case to burn corn than propane.

"Now, you need to do some homework to find out how much it will cost to make the transition. Additional expenses include burner modifications and handling and storage facilities for the corn.

"These expenses aren't trivial and must be considered before any plans are finalized."

Buffington suggests that producers consider having two different burners to switch between depending on whether prices fall in the "burn corn" or "burn propane" territory. "You may want to consider burning last year's corn, or corn of a lesser quality," he said.

Homeowners who have their own heating system — particularly wood stoves that burn pellets — also could burn shelled corn. "Burning corn smells really good, like baking corn muffins," he said.

"It's also easier to handle than wood. Check with the company that manufactured your wood stove to find out what accessories are available to make the transition to pellets and/or corn."

For consumers interested in knowing how much storage space would be needed to burn shelled corn, Buffington explained that the heating value of 63 bushels of shelled corn is equivalent to one cord of firewood.

When developing the chart, Buffington assumed the heating value of shelled corn at 381,000 BTU per bushel, the heating value of propane at 91,600 BTU per gallon, the combustion efficiency of corn at 75 percent, and the combustion efficiency of propane at 85 percent.

To obtain graphs based on other assumptions, contact Dennis Buffington by phone at (814) 865-2971 or by e-mail at deb2@psu.edu.

Farm Bureau Reaches Milestones: 5 Million Members, 40 Years Of Growth

PARK RIDGE, Ill. — Farm Bureau membership across the nation has topped the 5 million mark — 5,009,268 member families. The milestone was passed as state Farm Bureaus reported 57,024 additional families signed up for Farm Bureau membership in 2000 — the 40th consecutive year of membership growth.

According to American Farm Bureau Federation President Bob Stallman, the organization's growth was fueled by recognition of Farm Bureau's strong record as an advocate for policy positions developed by its members at the local, state and national levels, and on the strength of many outstanding programs and services designed to boost members' families, businesses and standards of living.

"Reaching the 5-million-member mark is a matter of pride for the organization, its leaders and everyone who believes in Farm Bureau's mission," Stallman said. "It has been another challenging economic year for many of America's farm families, but our membership strength will bolster Farm Bureau as we work with our members and for our members to surface new ideas and solutions in the coming year."

The membership gain of more than 57,000 member families was particularly notable given the fact that America's farmers and ranchers were faced by issues such as costly regulations, bad weather and economic turmoil. According to Stallman, the gain is a sign that farmers are more serious than ever about the need to come together to tackle tough issues that cannot be adequately addressed as individuals.

"Farm Bureau's greatest accomplishment is being able to provide a platform for America's farmers and ranchers as the voice of agriculture," Stallman said. "The growth of our membership roster can be traced directly to the overall effectiveness of our state and county Farm Bureaus and their commitment to grassroots Farm Bureau members. County Farm Bureaus continue to serve as the bedrock of our national success."

Stallman outlined a number of highlights from the recently concluded 2000 membership year — the 40th consecutive year in which Farm Bureau membership has grown nationwide.

The Tennessee Farm Bureau continues to claim the title of the nation's largest state Farm Bureau, with 513,978 member families. Tennessee's 2000 membership gain of 12,003 new member families was also tops in the nation.

Joining Tennessee in the 2000 "top 10" Farm Bureau membership states were North Carolina, 415,679; Kentucky, 409,804; Illinois, 355,337; Georgia, 322,544; Texas, 308,526; Indiana, 271,302; Arkansas, 220,205; Mississippi, 214,752; and Ohio, 207,386.

Georgia Farm Bureau, the nation's fifth largest, achieved the second largest 2000 membership gain — 10,022 member families. California Farm Bureau, the 19th largest in the nation with 94,613 members, posted the third highest gain — 8,976 new members. The Ohio Farm Bureau, which is the nation's 10th largest state Farm Bureau, posted the fourth highest membership gain with 6,258 new members.

Following the top four membership gain states, with increases of more than 2,000 members were: Oklahoma, 4,949; Indiana, 4,246; Arizona, 3,670; Arkansas, 3,310; Oregon, 3,136; Florida, 2,709; North Carolina, 2,692; Alabama, 2,664; Washington, 2,601; and Kentucky, 2,546.

Four other states also posted gains of more than 1,000 members: Mississippi, 1,751; Minnesota, 1,529; Idaho, 1,447; and Illinois, 1,329.

The Alabama Farm Bureau topped the list of largest percentage of membership quota (1999 membership plus one), with 160.4 percent. Following Alabama, with gains of more than 110 percent of quota, were: Arizona, 145 percent; Oregon, 114.4 percent; Alaska, 114.2 percent; Washington, 113.3 percent; and California, 110.4 percent.

The Farm Bureau region reporting the largest membership increase was the South, with a combined gain of 34,464 member families. The West led with highest percentage of quota — 107.1 percent.

Following the "top 10" states in total membership for 2000 were eight other states with more than 100,000 members, including Michigan, 158,599; Iowa, 154,733; Florida, 138,690; Virginia, 132,303; South Carolina, 130,516; Oklahoma, 127,954; Kansas, 123,128; and Louisiana, 114,221.

Bale Processor: Getting More Hay

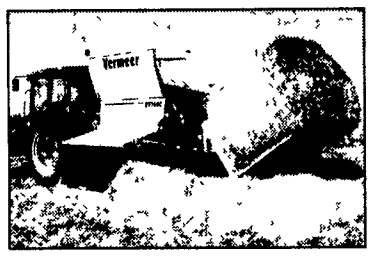
PELLA, Iowa — Trying to stretch last year's short, dry crop throughout a long, frigid winter? And, at the same time, give all your cows an equal chance at feeding time?

The new BP7000 Bale Processor, just recently introduced by Vermeer, may just be the answer.

It decreases choring time; increases palatability by blowing away mold, dust, and mildew; and reduces stress, hay losses, and potential manure-handling problems that typically occur when using ring-style feeding systems.

In addition, by adjusting the deflector shield, producers are able to spread straw up to 50 feet, creating a thick, uniform mat of bedding for calving pens in the spring.

The BP7000 is simple to operate, easy to service. Hydraulic feed rollers rotate and loosen the bale for uniform feeding. A PTO-powered drum — with tempered spring-steel flails — processes the hay and straw into adjustable windrows on the open range.



BP7000 Bale Processor decreases choring time; increases palatability by blowing away mold, dust, and mildew; and reduces stress, hay losses, and potential manure-handling problems that typically occur when using ring-style feeding systems.

Or it can feed hay along fenceline bunks simply by adjusting the hay deflector shield. An optional electric winch raises and lowers the deflector with the push of a button, making it very convenient when transporting the unit through gates.

An adjustable feed grate controls rate of feed and length of cut. Optional hydraulic flow control creates more consistent feeding by slowing the hydraulic flow to the rollers.

A unique, twine-slicing knife slides along the entire length of the flail drum to cut away twine buildup. This eliminates a tedious and awkward task — of entering or reaching inside the tub — to cut away twine buildup using a pocket knife. Rubber inserts, mounted on the rollers, also help keep the tub sides clean and prevent buildup.

The self-loading BP7000 handles round bales up to six-feet in diameter. A fork-style loader hydraulically lifts and loads the bales. It can also carry an extra bale during bale processing. A CV joint ensures superior maneuverability in tight feedlots. High side walls minimize spillage.

'Ice Cream Mystique' Surrounds Penn State Ice Cream Short Course

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — All kinds of people want to go into business for themselves. The Penn State Ice Cream Short Course often attracts entrepreneurs for its special "ice cream mystique."

Now entering its 109th year, the course continues as the nation's oldest, best-known and largest educational program dedicated to the science and technology of ice cream.

This year's seminar, directed by Bob Roberts, associate professor of food science in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences, will run Jan. 8-18 at The Nittany Lion Inn on Penn State's University Park campus.

"It's really been an education for me to see just how much people enjoy the ice cream business," he said. "I've always enjoyed it from the science and technology side, but I'm amazed by how much people like to work with ice cream. They say everyone smiles when they are around ice cream, and that's what seems to attract people to this business. They're also able to indulge their creative side with new flavors and textures."

The program instructs professionals in all aspects of commercial ice cream manufacture, including ingredients and flavors, freezing/hardening, and storage/distribution. This year's course also features lessons on common defects in ice cream, evaluation of market samples, and a tour of the University Creamery operations.

The course will explore systems for making better quality frozen desserts, including microbiology and quality testing, nutrition and additives, and hazard analysis and critical control points (HACCP) techniques. Roberts said the course, while highly technical, has something for everyone.

"What a student takes away from the course depends on what they start with," he explained. "The 'mom-and-pop' operator who wants to open a shop will learn a lot about the industry — how products are formulated and their functional properties. People in production may glean a better understanding of why their efforts result in a good or poor finished product. People in research and development will get new ideas on how ingredients interact."

Small-scale operators and fledgling entrepreneurs also can learn about the retail side of the industry by attending the "Successful Ice Cream Retailing" seminar being offered Jan. 19-22 at The Nittany Lion Inn. Conducted by Ed Marks, a private consultant with more than 50 years of experience in the ice cream industry, the seminar is intended for those who want to own an ice cream parlor rather than an ice cream factory.

"If you want to learn about the technical side of ice cream manufacture, then the short course can't be beat," Roberts said. "But if you want to know the business of running an ice cream shop, the Successful Ice Cream Retailing seminar will provide you with that information."

The seminar will address employee training, menu creation, price setting and promotions. and more. For more information on the short course or the seminar, call (814) 865-8301, or visit the Website at http://conferences.cas.psu.edu.

Bigger, Better Butter Sculpture Unveiled

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The 11th annual butter sculpture will be unveiled at the 2001 Pennsylvania Farm Show Thursday, Jan. 4 at 9:30 a.m. during a press conference in Harrisburg.

The 2001 Pennsylvania Farm Show butter sculpture has been a secret during its creation and organizers are excited to share its identity with the media.

Sculpted in 750 pounds of butter, this year's butter sculpture will double the size of previous sculptures. The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture donated a new case that measures 20-feet long. The case has large panels of windows for complete viewing of this magnificent work of art. Six-year veteran Ed Shank again carved the sculpture with butter donated by Land O'Lakes, Inc., Carlisle.

Join Pennsylvania's dairy farmers to unveil the 11th annual butter sculpture Thursday, Jan. 4, at 9:30 a.m. Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Melinda Wolfe will join Sam Hayes Jr., Pennsylvania secretary of agriculture, in unveiling this golden tribute to Pennsylvania's agriculture sector.

The butter sculpture will be on display at the Pennsylvania Farm Show Jan. 6-11. It is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program, the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council Mid East, and the American Dairy Association-/Dairy Council Middle Atlantic.

If you are unable to attend the unveiling and want information about the butter sculpture or dairy activities at the Farm Show, contact Debra Summerall at (717) 787-6903.

Researchers Unlock The Mystery Of Fat Metabolism

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. — Obesity is a growing health problem in the U.S., where 55 percent of the population is overweight and 33 percent is obese.

Recently, two studies were published that marked a turning point in research investigating the biological mechanisms affecting weight loss.

In a paper published in the Dec. 1 issue of Nature Genetics, researchers from the Baylor College of Medicine announced that mice lacking perilipin, a protein found in fat cells, had less body fat and, unlike normal mice, could eat a high fat diet and not become obese.

On Dec. 8, a paper in the Journal of Biological Chemistry by a nutritional sciences professor at Rutgers' Cook College described how perilipin acts to retain fat in humans and other animals.

"Two different lines of research, one looking at an animal system and the other looking at a cell system, led to the same conclusion, that perilipins hinder fat metabolism," said Dr. Dawn Brasaemle, the Rutgers researcher.

Perilipin was discovered in 1990 by Dr. Constantine Londos, a National Institutes of Health (NIH) scientist. He hired Brasaemle, an expert on lipid metabolism, to investigate the protein at the NIH laboratory. "The discovery of perilipin was really a seminal discovery because the largest supply of energy that anybody has is stored as fat in lipid droplets in fat cells, and perilipins are the major proteins on the surfaces of these structures," said Brasaemle.

Brasaemle, who is now a researcher at Cook College, has continued perilipin research that she started at NIH. "We inserted perilipin into cells that normally don't have it," Brasaemle explained. "We found that this caused the cells to store much more fat. Once we found out that the cells had a lot more fat, we asked why. The answer was that the protein made the fat stay in the cells longer.

"Dr. Chan's group made their discovery by taking perilipin out of fat cells to investigate how that made them different from normal fat cells," Brasaemle said. "They found that fat is broken down faster. So the completely different strategy led to the same idea, which is that the function of the protein is to protect fat from breakdown. If the cells have it, they don't break down fat quickly, and they store it."

Perilipin is a promising target for drug development. "Drugs developed to target perilipin will directly affect fat cells," Brasaemle said. "Some of the weight control drugs that are being researched affect messages to the brain to stop eating. These haven't worked that well because there are also behavioral and metabolic factors involved. But a perilipin target drug could directly alter the storage and metabolism of fat."

Now that scientists understand the function of perilipin, researchers can begin to investigate whether or not the protein can be used as a target for obesity-fighting drugs.

"The options are to either figure out how to make animals produce less of it or to figure out how to alter the protein's function so that cells will selectively burn up more of the fat," Brasaemle said.

MID-ATLANTIC NO-TILL CONFERENCES
Mark Goodson
Extension Agent
Agriculture
York County

Carlos Crovetto and Don Reicosky will be featured speakers at the 2001 Mid-Atlantic No-Till Conference, at two Pennsylvania locations: March 7 at Bloomsburg's Hotel Magee and March 8 at Carlisle's Penn-Del Conference Center.

Two hundred are expected to attend at each location. Exhibitors may rent tables at either or both locations.

Farmer/author/conservationist Carlos Crovetto is a vocal international proponent of no-till agricultural practices. A farmer since the 1950s, Crovetto is a founder and first president of Chile's Soil Conservation Society.

His conference topic, "No-Till, The Stubble, and The Soil Nutrition" will explain how carbon: nitrogen ratios of stubble residue affect the accumulation and release of plant nutrients in soil. His work is summarized in the book, "Stubble Over the Soil."

Don Reicosky, USDA soil scientist, will take on the topic of how tillage and no-till affects carbon storage and losses in soil. Carbon storage in soil has environmental and social importance as increasing soil organic matter may help lower increasing greenhouse gases in the air. This talk will compliment and build on Crovetto's topic.

During afternoon breakout sessions, Bill Curran and Sjoerd Duiker of Penn State's Department of Agronomy will join Crovetto and Reicosky. Curran, professor of weed science, will discuss tough weed control problems in 100 percent no-till systems. Duiker, professor of soil management, will discuss cover crops' importance and management in no-till cropping.

For more information, contact John Rowehl (717) 240-6500 in Carlisle or Mary Wagner (570) 784-1310 ext. 114 in Bloomsburg.

The Future of Hi-Tensile Vineyard Wire

Introducing Zalcote™, a zinc and aluminum coating, flow which provides corrosion protection

- Zalcote wire is the most advanced wire on the market
- Zalcote wire is a superior wire to both class 3 galvanized wire and aluminum clad wire
- Zalcote wire will last at least twice as long as class 3 galvanized wire, even 3 to 4 times as long in many environments

From Susquehanna Valley Dairy we want to thank all of our customers for making 2000 another good year for us. We also wish all of you a very prosperous 2001, prosperous meaning, good health, adequate finances, happy families, and cows giving lots of milk.

FOR SALE

1) 45 cows, all registered, this dairyman sold his herd 3 yrs. ago, then started again with his heifers, now the herd is mostly first and second calf
2) 45 cows, all registered, not on D.H.I.A but ships about 24,000 lb. per cow.
3) 72 cow, all A.I. herd, one half registered, young herd 68 lb. daily average now
4) 10 registered heifers from one overstocked herd, due in the next 60 days
5) 30 heifers from one farm, due in the next 60 days
6) Pick 50 Registered JERSEYS from one herd of 100 cows Shipping 45 lbs per day with lots of cows due in Feb, March, April
7) Top pedigreed bull with Dam, Granddam, great Granddam, best records all over 40,000 milk and EX & VG on type.

SEVERAL INTERESTING FACTS

1) A young dairyman in Strasburg bought a herd in Conn. 3 yrs. ago, he only bought one replacement since.
2) Dairyman in Kinzers who bought a herd in New York, I stopped in to see him this summer, counted the cows, checked the milk slips in the milk house, scratched my head, went back and counted the cows again, he was averaging over 85 lb. per day 2X.
3) Moved a herd from Vermont to Quarryville in July. This year in Vermont the herd was averaging 60 lb., 2 months later in the heat of summer, they were averaging 78 lb.
4) Or how about buying a 14 yr. old dry cow with a herd. Bringing her home, she calves out, milks over 100 lb. and breeds right back.

153 ACRE DAUPHIN COUNTY FARM

This farm is ideally located in the Lykens Valley, near Millersburg. The buildings are set several hundred yards off the road, creating that perfect Currier and Ives setting with the mountain as a back drop The buildings feature a very well maintained brick center hall farmhouse with 4 large bedrooms and a large country kitchen The outbuildings consist of a 38x40 bank barn, 25x42 heated shop and a 60x120 Morton pole building for equipment storage. The majority of 100 tillable acres is gently rolling productive farmland with approximately 12 acres of pasture and 41 acres of woodland This farm would be ideal for vegetable production with its fertile crop land and abundant water supply for irrigation or it would make a perfect country estate with its beautiful setting and buildings. Price $800,000

OVER 25 YEARS EXPERIENCE IN SALE OF FARMS AND DEVELOPMENT LAND

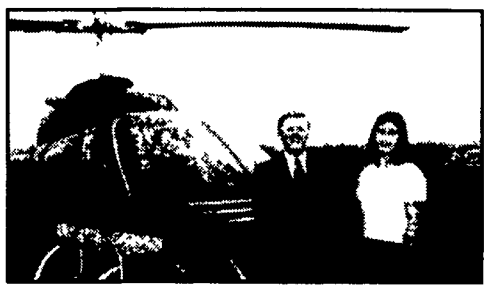
NEW PENNSYLVANIA REALTY has been selling farms and country properties since 1974 and all of our agents have 22 to 28 years of experience. We service Eastern Pennsylvania and are licensed in PA & N.J. We sell all types of farms including dairy farms, beef farms, horse farms, Christmas tree farms, and country estates as well as land for development.

SALE OF DEVELOPMENT FARMS

We have helped farmers to maximize their farm's potential by selling them not just for agricultural purposes but also for development when the situation is warranted. Some of our sellers have been able to buy as many as 5 farms with the proceeds of the sale of just one.

AGRICULTURAL EXPERIENCE

We at New Pennsylvania not only have many years of Real Estate experience, but everyone at New Pennsylvania has agricultural experience and we all own farms. We feel this experience is a must in evaluating farm properties as well as relating to sellers and buyers. We also keep informed as to the best methods of financing.



PROFESSIONALISM* EXPERIENCE * PERFORMANCE

We work hard to get the job done. We provide buyers with full information on a property to enable them to make informed decisions. We prepare detailed brochures and have professional photographs taken including aerials. This comprehensive approach and our national advertising campaign has enabled us to sell farms to all types of buyers from Agri-Business to Stock Brokers from New York City

222 Keystone Recipients To 'Discover The Power' At This Year's Mid-Winter Convention

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — While national FFA moves toward its 75th anniversary, state FFA is busy preparing for its annual Mid-Winter Convention, scheduled at the Farm Show Complex Monday, Jan. 8.

Two hundred and twenty-two Pennsylvania FFA members will receive the cherished Keystone FFA Degree at the Pennsylvania Mid-Winter Convention, set for the Large Arena of the Farm Show Complex at 4:30 p.m.

Hundreds of family, friends, and agri-industry supporters will be on hand at the festivities to congratulate the winners of the state's highest degree.

The state FFA honors less than 10 percent of its members with the Keystone Degree. There are certain requirements each FFA member must meet to receive it. Only seniors and graduates are eligible. They must have shown leadership ability, must have earned from their own efforts in farming or from supervised agricultural experience (SAE) programs, and deposited in a bank or otherwise productively invested at least $1,000 or worked at least 300 hours in excess of scheduled class time.

Out of the 222 recipients of this year's Keystone Degree, four state stars out of the regional stars will be chosen in their respective area. Selection of state stars is based upon their SAE program. Programs must show comprehensive planning, continuation, growth, and increase in scope with records to prove such accomplishments.

The four stars include production agriculture; ag sales, service, and mechanics; horticulture; and specialized agriculture, including forestry, natural resources, and nontraditional agriculture.

Lancaster Farming showcases the work of chapters throughout the year. Members put in long hours and work hard to ensure the success of their individual organizations. By sharing their special talents, they reap the benefits that FFA membership has to offer. We congratulate members on the fine work they do throughout the year and wish them success in their chosen careers.

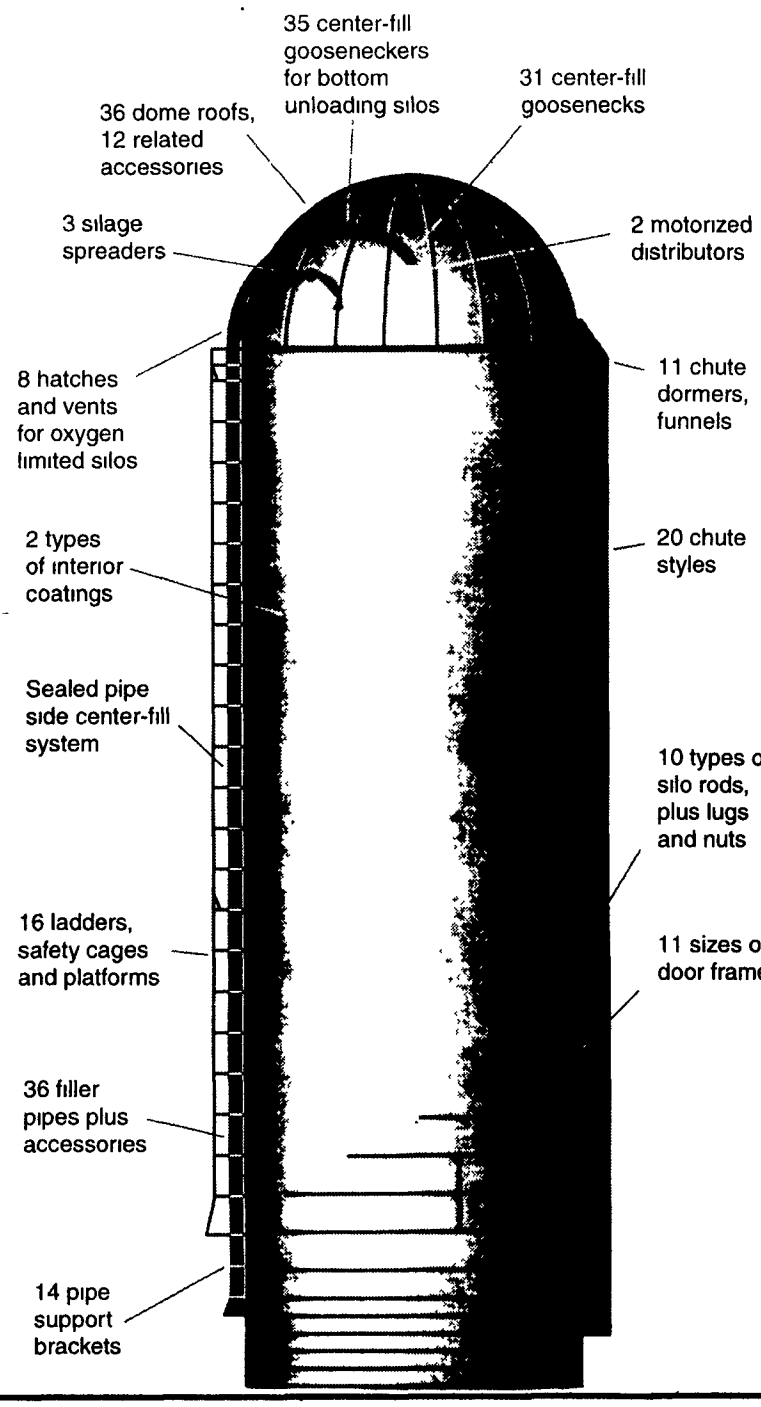
No other name gives you so many value-packed silo products for filling and construction.



35 center-fill gooseneckers for bottom unloading silos
31 center-fill goosenecks
36 dome roofs, 12 related accessories
3 silage spreaders
2 motorized distributors
8 hatches and vents for oxygen limited silos
11 chute dormers, funnels
2 types of interior coatings
20 chute styles
Sealed pipe side center-fill system
10 types of silo rods, plus lugs and nuts
16 ladders, safety cages and platforms
11 sizes of door frames
36 filler pipes plus accessories
14 pipe support brackets

The steel products on your silos have to be tougher than nails if they're going to last That's why more dairymen trust Lancaster silo equipment for lasting value from top to bottom

Thirty years ago we invented the silage spreader as the best way to fill silos But maybe you don't know just how many products we make If your concrete or steel upright storage system needs parts and equipment, Lancaster makes it

We use good ideas from practical farmers like you to constantly make our products work better and last longer You see, with us the job is more than just bending metal It's using the best materials and dedicated craftsmanship to give you more value for every equipment dollar

For silo equipment, do yourself a favor. Insist on Lancaster for every item For the Lancaster dealer nearest you, call today 1-800-635-8708.

AgrAbility For Pennsylvanians To Appear At Keystone Farm Show

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — AgrAbility for Pennsylvanians will provide information for producers and their families at the 2001 Keystone Farm Show, Jan. 9-11, at the York County Fairgrounds in York.

Look for them at the DeLaval exhibit (Graham Dairy Supply), Sones Grain Systems, and Sollenberger Silos Corporation.

"AgrAbility for Pennsylvanians may be able to help if physical or medical problems are making it difficult for you to get your farm work done," said George Dills, AgrAbility coordinator and project assistant in Penn State's College of Agricultural Sciences. "We're part of a national information and technology network for farmers, farm workers, and family members who continue to farm despite on-going physical or medical difficulties."

According to Dills, AgrAbility can help you to:

- Use tools and equipment
- Get around your farm and house more easily
- Handle animals
- Cook, can, and freeze
- Learn about assistive technology
- Modify equipment controls.

"Contact us — we will listen and respond to your concerns," Dills said.

Since 1929, Mt. Joy has served the local Dairy Industry. Now grown to over 300 members, the Co-Op continues that commitment to marketing our member's milk in 10 counties.

• Local Markets • Local Board of Directors/Member Controlled

• Mt. Joy's own trucking • High dollar over-order premiums

You Can Produce MORE MILK By Supplying More Water

Ritchie WaterMaster

WaterMaster has gained approval through extended use in feedlots and dairies across North America. It features heavy-wall roto-cast polyethylene one-piece body construction. Ritchie utilizes UV inhibitors . so it won't pit, crack or deteriorate like concrete. A solid wall of urethane foam insulation keeps water ice-free longer. WaterMaster options include constant flow or electric heat package with a 250 watt immersion heater and a supply line heater.

Meet Grade A dairy requirements

Solid, structural built-in mounting holes for bolting unit securely to a cement pad.

Open water encourages drinking ... Fast and easy to clean

Agriculture Secretary Announces 2001 Farm Show Schedule

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania Agriculture Secretary Sam Hayes recently announced that the 85th Pennsylvania Farm Show will run from Saturday, Jan. 6, to Thursday, Jan. 11, here at the state Farm Show Complex.

New to this year's Farm Show will be an enlarged butter sculpture, a new cheese sculpture, a large machinery display, a "Website Agriculture" display at the Department of Agriculture's exhibit, and a "high tunnel" display, featuring agricultural research for commercial vegetable and small fruit growers, sponsored by the state agriculture department.

The dairy, poultry, and livestock competitions will offer record premiums this year — more than $300,000. Many popular events also will return, including the Sheep-to-Shawl Contest, the Family Living and Agricultural Learning Center, the Pennsylvania High School Rodeo Championship, the crowning of the supreme champion in the livestock and dairy shows, and the sale of champions.

"Gov. Ridge and I would like to invite every Pennsylvanian to the 2001 Pennsylvania Farm Show to see the very best that Pennsylvania agriculture has to offer."

The Pennsylvania Farm Show will open on Saturday, Jan. 6 and is free to the public. The hours will be 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday through Wednesday, and 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday.

For the complete Farm Show Schedule, contact the Department of Agriculture's Press Office at (717) 787-5085 or visit the Department of Agriculture through the PAPowerPort at www.state.pa.us or directly at www.pda.state.pa.us.

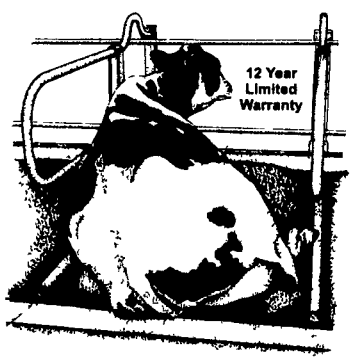
Waterbeds for Cows



The ALANTA Waterbed for cows is a revolutionary product, comfortable, safe and hygienic. It clearly improves your cows' well-being and therefore promotes higher milk production It is the ultimate stall floor covering for the modern, animal-friendly dairy farm.

WELL MADE
The ALANTA Waterbed is made of two rubber layers with a water-filled compartment in between. GD-Enerka gives a 12-year guarantee.

ALANTA®

COMFORTABLE
The waterbed molds itself to the cow's shape. It's cool in summer and pleasantly warm in winter.

SAFE
Thanks to the non-slip rubber upper surface, the cow is gripped firmly and cannot slip off. In this way the ALANTA waterbed keeps damage to hooves to a minimum.

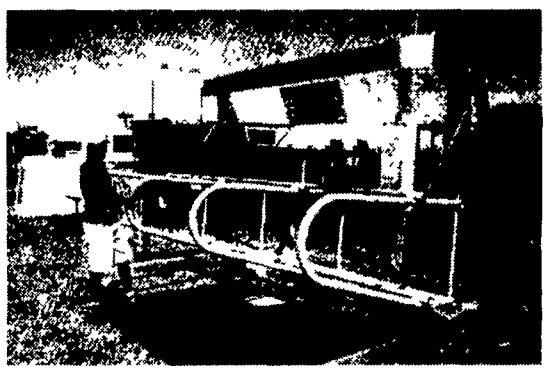
NEW CLUSTER FREE STALLS



- Suspended from the barn rafters by free swinging chains to avoid cow entanglement
- Free swinging feature eliminates injury to cows and also any damage to the stalls
- Decreases the occurrence of cow bruises enhancing milk production capabilities
- Powder coated with 20 year rust thru guarantee
- Fully adjustable neck rail
- Fully adjustable brisket rail
- Available up to a 4 bed cluster
- Patented

Cluster Free Stalls are easily installed in new or remodeled barns The free stalls "hanging" from barn rafters provide many advantages to help keep cows safe and healthy. By using suspended free stalls, cows are less likely to obtain bruises. Thus all their energy can be concentrated towards increased milk production. The design of the stall allows it to swing up, down or back out of the way of the cow. Because they swing freely, the stalls can withstand the force of animal contact. And because they are coated, they require little maintenance.

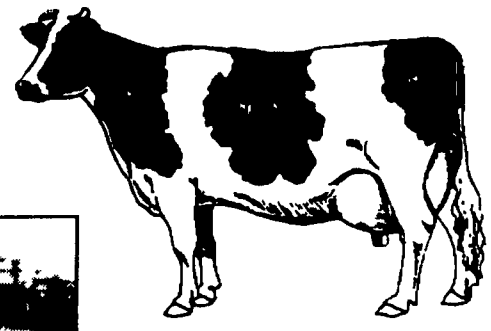
ULTI-MAT™



The Ultimate in Cow Comfort

All Rubber Mattress Installation

FACTS and FEATURES about Cow Comfort and the Ulti-Mat™ I.

- An all-rubber mattress that is rebuildable (no sewing to come apart, no material to tear).
- Choice of mattress covers.
- 3" nominal thickness
- Water & acid resistant polyurethane binder
- The most comfort for cows of any type of installation.
- Uses PA reclaimed tire rubber.
- Designed by farmers
- Mattress inert does not promote fungus or bacterial growth

1. Comfortable cows produce more milk.
2. Ulti-Mat all rubber cow mattresses provide excellent, confident footing.
3. Cows stand in line to get on Ulti-Mat mattresses.
4. Mattresses stay level.
5. Comfort doesn't change after 3 years in barn.
6. Rubber doesn't displace under cover.
7. All rubber Ulti-Mat mattress recovers to its original shape every time cows change foot position.
8. No ripple effect of top cover.
9. Ulti-Mat mattresses do not become thinner and harder over time.
10. Ulti-Mat mattresses use only a specific cut of rubber that always keeps its memory..
11. Ulti-Mat mattresses are totally protected by a patent-pending installation method, and the mattress cover.
12. Warranty on Ulti-Mat mattresses is the same as whatever the cover is warranted for.
13. Up to 5 year warranty with vinyl cover - patent pending on mattress installation method.

SPECIAL NOTICE: Because of the success of the Ulti-Mat™ Zartman Farms is now introducing a complete line of new mattresses. Please stop by our booth at the Keystone Farm Show in the Horticulture Building to see all of our products.

ULTIMAT™ I	ULTIMAT™ II	ULTIMAT™ III	NEW FOAM MATTRESS	WE ALSO PRODUCE
Our 3" thick all-rubber mattress. Working and performing perfectly. Absolutely the best cow comfort in the industry.	Built the same as our Ulti-Mat I but 2" thick. Still great cow comfort and more economical.	Also a 2" thick mattress, made with a different type of recycled rubber even more economical.	Our new foam cow mattress. Unbelievable softness installed with mattress cover or with a 5/8" thick walkway mat for a cover.	a 2" thick rubber mat for cows that does not need a top cover.

We are now manufacturing:

COW WALKWAY MATS

for Feed Bunks • Holding Areas • Milking Parlors • Cow Walkways

Where cow walkway mats are installed on only 1/2 of the walkway, cows travel only on the one side where mats are on top of concrete.

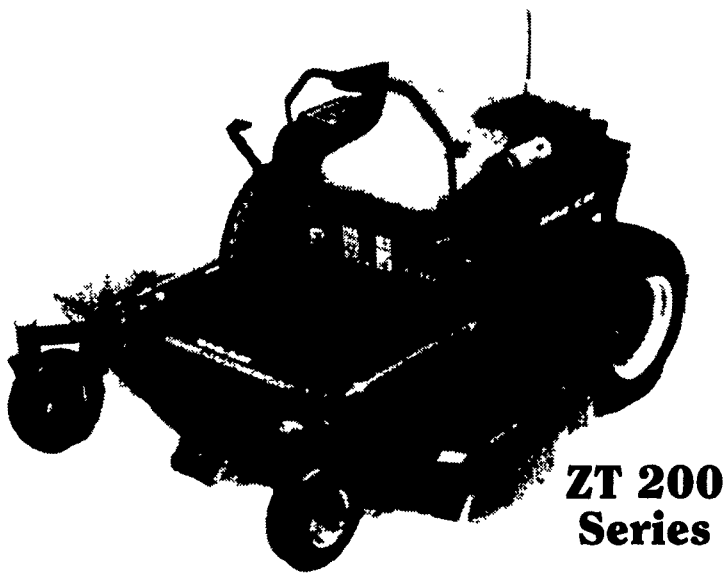
MOWS MORE

Up to 29 Acres Per Day

Because Bob-Cat ZT 200 series mowers offer true zero-turn capability, they don't let anything get in the way of productivity. With a Bob-Cat ZT 219, ZT 223, or ZT 225, you'll spend more time mowing and less time trying to figure out how to get around trees, shrubs and other landscape features.

But that's not all. The cutting decks feature six anti-scalp rollers for a quality of cut not found in other zero-turn rotaries. And, the ZT 200s have something extra, something the competition will never have: Bob-Cat dependability.



ZT 200 Series

- Decks 48", 52" or 61"
- 19 HP or 23 HP Kawasaki or 25 HP Kohler engine with dual hydrostatic drive
- Suspension seat
- 3 year No-Crack Deck Warranty
- 2 Year No-Fail Spindle Warranty
- Easy Maintenance

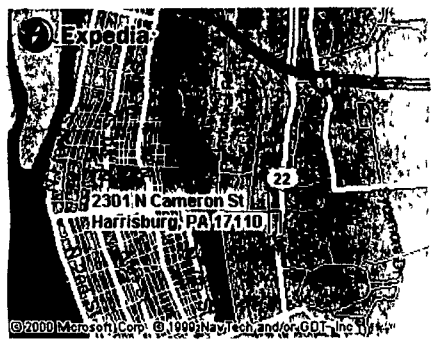
Directions

The Farm Show Complex is located along Cameron and Maclay Streets in Harrisburg, just off Exit 23 of Interstate 81. Message boards and Keystone signs will direct Farm Show visitors onto alternate routes to alleviate traffic congestion on I-81. Other arteries include Route 39, Route 22/322, Route 230 and Elmerton Avenue.



Traveling West on the Pennsylvania Turnpike: Take exit 19. Travel north on PA-283, which merges with I-83. Follow I-83 North and merge with I-81 South. Take Exit 23 for Cameron Street. Turn right at the first traffic light and left into the North Lot of the Farm Show Complex.

Traveling East on the Pennsylvania Turnpike: Take Exit 17. Travel north on Route 15 to 581 West. Travel west on 581 and merge onto I-81 North. Follow I-81 North across the Susquehanna River, then take Exit 23 for Cameron Street. Turn right at the first traffic light and left into the North Lot of the Farm Show Complex.

From the Harrisburg International Airport: Head north on 441 to 283 North. Travel north on PA-283, which merges with I-83. Follow I-83 North and merge with I-81 south. Take Exit 23 for Cameron Street. Turn right at the first traffic light and left into the North Lot of the Farm Show Complex.

From the Upper Dauphin Area: Take Route 147 South or Route 225 South to Route 322 (River Relief Route). Route 322 becomes Cameron Street after crossing over I-81. Turn right at the first traffic light, then left into the North Lot of the Farm Show Complex.

From Lancaster: Take 283 North toward Harrisburg to I-83 North. Then merge onto I-81 South. Take Exit 23 for Cameron Street. Turn right at the first traffic light, then left into the North Lot of the Farm Show Complex.

From York: Take I-83 North across the Susquehanna River. Follow I-83 North and merge with I-81 South. Take Exit 23 for Cameron Street. Turn right at the first traffic light, then left into the North Lot of the Farm Show Complex.
